Novato Youth Criticizes Isla Vista Police

I-J Special Report

ISLA VISTA — Police action during the four days of violence at the University of California at Santa Barbara is turning even nonviolent students against the police, a student from Novato told the Independent-Journal yesterday.

Fred Gebhart, 19, freshman and a news reporter and announcer for the student-run campus radio station, in a phone interview also criticized the university administration for slapping a ban on the station's reporting of news during the violence.

He said the police have "become almost enemies. . .by harrassing people and trumping up charges."

Gebhart, of 2072 Feliz Road, was arrested shortly after 1 a.m. yesterday for a curfew violation after he had been in the downtown area on assignment for the radio station.

He said he was informed by sheriff's deputies that his radio station press pass was no longer being honored by police.

The passes had been honored throughout the four days of violence, he said, and authorities had given no advance warning that they were no longer valid.

He cited this as an example of the "general police harrassment" to which the students have been subjected.

He accused police of "trumping up charges, especially felonies," and said that almost all of those arrested are being held in jail the legal maximum of 48 hours before they are released or taken before a judge.

He said a student in the same cell in which he was held was being charged with assault with a deadly weapon, but the police had no weapon or any other evidence.

"The police just seem not to like the students," he said.

The majority of students are not turning pro-violence, he said, but they are turning against the police.

Gebhart was released and charges against him dropped after the university chancellor called the sheriff's office, he said.

He also complained that the news function of the radio station had been gagged during the violence.

The station, KCSB, was ordered off the air about 3:30 a.m. Saturday by a representative of the chancellor's office at the request of the sheriff, he said.

A statement issued today by the university said the news ban resulted "from protests of the sheriff that on-the-spot reporting was hampering the activities of the police in attempting to locate snipers and was prejudicing the safety of police officers.

"In ordering the station off the air, neither the sheriff nor the university administration was questioning the motives of the station or its reporters, realizing that KCSB was trying to give its listeners as full coverage as possible," the statement said.

Gebhart said the station had been broadcasting appeals by the school's student body president for everyone to "keep cool."

The appeals also urged students to go out and try to calm things down during the violence.

It was in answer to one of the appeals that Kevin Moran, a student from Saratoga, went downtown early Saturday and helped put out a fire in the Bank of America. Moran was

Reagan Sees Lesson In Bank Death

'Silent Majority' Urged To Offset Campus Revolts

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan said today it's time for the silent majority on campus to take a stand against revolutionaries if the death of Kevin Moran at Isla Vista "is not to be totally in vain."

The Republican governor, speaking somberly to his weekly news conference, blamed the death of the 22-year-old University of California honor student on everyone who had a hand in fostering violence on UC campuses the past five years.

"It isn't very important where the bullet came from," Reagan said. "The bullet was brought about and the bullet was sent on its way several years ago when a certain element in this society decided they could take the law in their own hands . . . "

He added that "every person who has aided and abetted them is equally guilty and responsible for this as well as other deaths" on campus.

Reagan said the "silent majority" of students, faculty members and administrators should stop attending rallies called by revolutionaries and should no longer give sympathy to their causes.

Moran, a student at UC Santa Barbara, was shot and killed last Saturday as he tried to put out a fire bomb pitched into the Isla Vista branch of the Bank of America during rioting in the UC-Santa Barbara area.

Reagan said he telephoned Moran's father Monday to express his sympathy.

The governor emphasized, however, that a full investigation is being pushed to determine who fired the shot and how. Officers say it may have been a rifle bullet fired by a sheriff's deputy accidentally which ricocheted into Moran.

And he added, "I'm not suggesting that they (students) become vigilantes any more than I'm suggesting that the public become vigilantes."

Celler Will Head Probe Of Douglas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee voted today to investigate the charges brought by members seeking to impeach Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said a special five-man subcommittee will look into the charges. He said he hopes the inquiry will be concluded within 60 days after it starts.

Celler will head the special investigating subcommittee. Other members are Reps. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, Jack Brooks, D-Tex., Byron G. Rogers, D-Colo., and Edward Hutchinson, R-Mich.

Celler said no date had been set for starting the investigation and the list of witnesses has not yet been drawn up.

However, McCulloch said all of the 110 Congress members who sponsored the impeachment resolution should come forward and state why such action should be taken.

McCulloch said officers of the foundation and corporations that have been mentioned in the impeachment resolution as having paid sums of money to Douglas should come forward with their records, books and other documents.

Douglas until last year was paid head of the Albert Parvin Foundation, founded by California businessman Albert Parvin with proceeds from the sale of a Las Vegas hotel-casino.

Gangster Meyer Lansky reportedly helped arrange the sale, but Douglas has denied knowing of any Lansky connection with the deal.

Douglas has come under criticism both for his court opinions and for his outside writings.

Plans For Municipal Golf Course Shelved

After struggling through more than a year of life, the proposal for a San Rafael municipal golf course died last night at the city council meeting. (Other San Rafael City Council stories, page 16.)

After about a minute's discussion of the proposal, Councilman Fred E. Jensen officially moved, "Let's forget it."

The council agreed and that was that.

The discussion began when City Mgr. James H. McCown told the council he had not received an engineering report on proposed costs of the course, and asked that discussion of the course be continued to a later meeting.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini said that the "continuous delays and lack of enthusiasm" for the project suggested that maybe the proposal wasn't such a good idea after all.

"Economics are such that it's just not a good thing to do," he said.

Jensen made his motion and that was the 18th hole for the golf course.

The council had voted in February of last year to put the proposal on the November 1969, ballot. It changed its mind in October, took the proposal off the ballot and authorized preliminary studies to proceed.

Petition Charges Misdealings By Rohnert Park Leaders

A petition charging two councilmen and the city manager with business misdealings was submitted last night to the Rohnert Park City Council.

Dennis McQuaid of Rohnert Park presented the petition with 21 signatures charging that Mayor James W. Rogers had violated conflict of interest laws involving the city's cable television franchise and Councilman Jack Buchanan and City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan with a shady business deal.

McQuaid asked the other three councilmen to have the matters investigated by the Sonoma County Grand Jury or the state attorney general's office.

The petition charged that Rogers had hidden motives in urging the cable television franchise be granted to Storer Cable Television. After the franchise was granted, the firm rented office space and bought property from Rogers and employed his wife in its office.

During the election campaign, Rogers, who won reelection, insisted it all was a matter of coincidence and rejected charges of conflict of interest.

CANDIDATES' SIGNS

Roadway Politicking Hit

Many — perhaps most — of the political signs sprouting beside Marin roadways are in violation of either state law or county ordinance, or both.

Toughest regulations are in the state law.

L. Barr, chief of the highway outdoor advertising program of the California Division of Highways, last week notified candidates throughout the state by letter of the law's provisions.

CITED BY BARR

The one affecting most signs in Marin is this, as cited by Barr:

"Before placing any signs or sign structures in unincorporated areas within view of county or state highways, and in incorporated areas within 660 feet of the right of way of a federal-aid primary or an interstate highway, a permit must be first obtained from the Division of Highways."

HIGHWAY 101 STATUS

Highway 101 is a federal-aid primary highway.

State law, Barr noted, also contains these provisions:

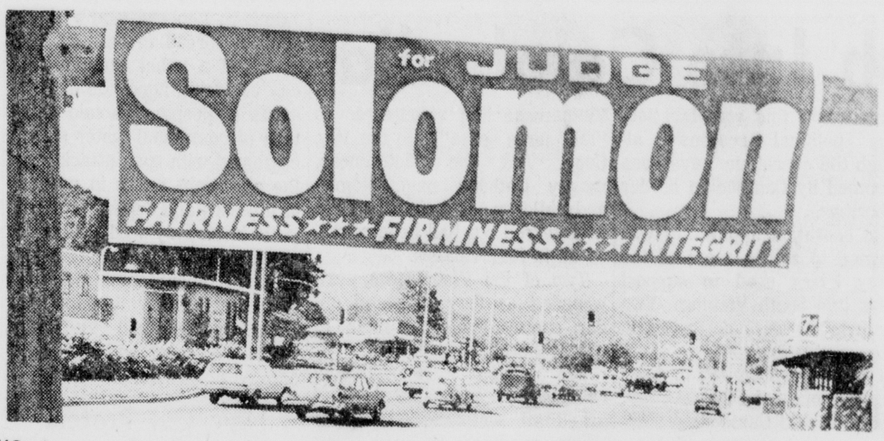

"Signs and other similar displays are prohibited within the rights of way on any public road or highway.

"Signs or sign structures may not be placed adjacent to a landscaped freeway."

Signs adjacent to federal-aid primary highways — for which Division of Highways permits must first be obtained — are restricted to property zoned for industrial or commercial uses and within 1,000 feet of an industrial or business activity.

Barr called attention that

I-J PREPARING ANSWERS TO ITU CIRCULARS

Within the past few days Marin County residents have received circulars from the striking S.F. Typographical Union No. 21.

The I-J and I, personally, have received hundreds of phone calls from citizens who have indicated their displeasure with the mailing piece which bears the signature of the president of the union. These readers have asked us to respond — and this we shall definitely do.

However, since a number of statements in the union bulletin contain complete falsehoods and half-truths, we are preparing a series of Truth Bulletins which will appear on page 1, daily, starting tomorrow. Please watch for them. Thank you.

Collegians Facing Fire Bomb Charge

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Two young college students were booked early today for investigation of planting a homemade time bomb in troubled Isla Vista off the University of California Santa Barbara campus.

The bomb scare and subsequent arrests followed generally mild behavior in the wake of a statement by officials that it may have been a policeman's bullet that killed a student who put out a fire set by activists at a beleaguered Bank of America building Saturday morning.

The patrolman, not identified, was relieved of duty. Police Chief Alfred Trembly said the bullet apparently ricocheted off a building, killing Kevin P. Moran, 22, an honor student in economics and rowing team member.

Today was Moran's funeral—just six weeks before his scheduled graduation.

The crude bomb consisted merely of a jar of gasoline attached by wires to flashlight batteries and an alarm clock. It was found inside a trash bin behind a record shop in the town's small business district.

Arrested and booked for investigation of planting the bomb were Norman L. Harvey and Johnston B. Walker, both 20, identified as students at UC

About 1,000 of Penn State's 25,500 students attended a meeting Monday night to protest arrests in an antiwar sit-in last week. Small fires were extinguished in several dormitories and classroom buildings, at least one started by a gasoline bomb.

Sausalito Protests Save Toliver Job

By PAT ANGLE

After five and a half hours of prompting from an audience of 250 persons — using flattery, cajolery, criticism and an occasional mild threat — a weary Sausalito School District board voted 3-2 last night to restore James T. Toliver to an administrative post next year. (Another Sausalito schools story, page 9.)

It was a major victory for the many supporters of the black administrator, vice principal at Martin Luther King School, but they were tired too. And the cheers which greeted the board's decision were happy, but subdued.

The board's action, reversing an earlier decision that Toliver be relegated to a teaching post, came at a brief regular meeting following a long special meeting called to give members of the community a chance to comment on recent board decisions involving personnel cuts and use of facilities and anything else that was on their minds. They did—at great length—on a wide variety of topics—and the board listened quietly.

The board also agreed to restudy facilities use next year and consider a proposal presented by King Principal Sidney F. Walton Jr. that second through eighth grades be housed at King School. Walton presented figures showing the school could handle the students.

By its action, the board agreed to forget its earlier decision to close Bayside School and move its students to Central and said it would consider all alternatives.

New S. Vietnam Push Into Cambodia

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

South Vietnamese rangers and scores of tanks and armored personnel carriers were fighting inside Cambodia today, their third operation against enemy troops in that neighboring nation.

Informed sources said the 2,000 or so South Vietnamese ran into strong opposition Monday, the first day of the operation. They said 144 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops were killed in the first 24 hours. Field reports said 20 South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 75 wounded.

The South Vietnamese crossed the frontier near the town of Tuyen Binh, 55 miles west of Saigon and 25 miles south of Highway 1, the main crossing point for two other such operations last week.

The South Vietnamese military command announced the new operation, but as in the first two, insisted the fighting was inside South Vietnam. High sources said this was for "obvious political reasons" although the operations have been welcomed by Cambodian border authorities.

The operation apparently was designed to smash more of the enemy bases used to support forays into South Vietnam. Two enemy bases were destroyed in last week's operations.

At Saang, a Cambodian town 18 miles south of Phnom Penh, a dispatch said Cambodian riflemen marched a group of Vietnamese civilians carrying a white flag into enemy automatic weapons fire.

The Cambodians said the Vietnamese had volunteered to "talk some sense" into the Viet Cong. But the Vietnamese, mostly Catholic men, women and children, said they had not volunteered but had been rounded up in four villages.

Two of the Vietnamese were wounded as they scattered under enemy fire, and later 10 were reported missing.

The Saigon Post said the Cambodian government had asked all Vietnamese living in border provinces to leave Cambodia to avoid being mistaken for the Viet Cong. More than 600 Vietnamese in Cambodia have been killed recently.

23,000 Goodyear Workers Strike

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. has been struck by 23,000 rubber workers, and layoffs resulting from wildcat strikes by truck drivers increased across the nation.

The United Rubber Workers Union struck 15 Goodyear plants Monday night after contract negotiations in Cincinnati were broken off.

The rubber workers postponed strike deadlines against the three other giant tire companies and continued negotiations with Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., Uniroyal and B. F. Goodrich.

Issues in the Goodyear strike were not disclosed and there was no word on developments in any of the negotiations.

In other labor disputes, 430 mechanics struck Ozark Air Lines, shutting down the Midwestern carrier; teacher strikes continued in Los Angeles and Minneapolis, and New York newspaper negotiations resumed in an air of pessimism.

Hopes of settling the trucking strikes dwindled when federal mediators were unable to bring the two sides together in Chicago, considered the key point in the scattered walkouts.

The mounting number of layoffs due to the trucker strikes touched nonstriking truckers and various parts-short industries from coast to coast.

In Los Angeles about half the city's 25,000 teachers continued to strike for increased pay and smaller classes. The Minneapolis strike called for similar demands, continued while the school board planned an attempt to reopen the schools.

Of the New York newspaper dispute between the city's four major daily papers and 10 unions representing 13,000 workers, mediator Theodore W. Kheel said: "The situation is very critical and becomes more critical each day as pressures continue to mount in the composing room of the New York Times."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Gas Chamber Sought

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The state will seek the death penalty for Ronald Fouquet, a 32-year-old mechanic found guilty of the first-degree murder of his 5-year-old stepson who died on the floor while Fouquet drank beer and watched television.

Fouquet was convicted Monday after a jury deliberated a total of 12 hours. Immediately following the verdict the penalty phase of the defendant's trial was set to begin Wednesday.

Fouquet's common-law wife testified at the trial that he jumped on the boy's stomach with his bare feet and told her to leave her son, Jeffery, alone as he gasped for breath and then quietly died.

The same jury will decide Fouquet's sentence — either life imprisonment or death in the gas chamber.

Bug War Warning

GENEVA (AP) — The United States today urged the other 24 nations at the disarmament talks to speed up negotiations for a treaty banning biological weapons.

Warning of the danger they constitute, U.S. Ambassador James F. Leonard said a single bomber spreading only 50 kilograms of a lethal agent over a city could kill hundreds of thousands of people. He said sabotage of communal water supply combined with open attack from the air might result in millions of illnesses and deaths.

"It is already well within the capability of a number of states to bring about these potential casualties, and this capability could be acquired by many more," Leonard added without naming any country.

New Cal Protest

BERKELEY (UPI) — About 200 radicals marched through the University of California campus Monday with shouts of "U.S. out of Southeast Asia" and "Rotcee (ROTC) must go!"

However, there was no reoccurrence of the disturbances which resulted in scores of arrests and $18,000 in property damage last week.

SALT Strategy

VIENNA (UPI) — The Soviet Union is marking time in presenting its plan for nuclear weapons curbs to the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT), diplomatic sources said today.

The Russians apparently are holding back in an effort to glean U.S. ideas before offering their proposals for limiting the nuclear arms race.

The Soviets have let it be known informally they have an overall or package plan for the conference, understood to center on a freeze on offensive and defensive missiles. But no details have emerged.

The United States in turn was understood to have given a first outline of its suggestions for strategic arms limitations which it said it is prepared to tackle on a "most comprehensive" scale.

Dictator Lagging

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Official figures put the government candidate back in the lead Monday night in Colombia's presidential race, and angry supporters of ex-dictator Gustavo Rojas Pinilla took to the streets in Bogota and other major cities to protest.

The civil registrar's office reported that with 95 per cent of the vote counted, Misael Pastrana Borrero had 1,493,630 votes to 1,471,140 for Rojas Pinilla.

Trailing far behind with some 700,000 votes between them were two breakaways from the National Front, moderate leftist Belisario Betancur and rightist Evaristo Sourdis.

Philippines Air Crash

MANILA (AP) — A Philippine airliner on a domestic flight is reported to have crashed and burned north of Manila today, killing all 33 persons aboard.

Philippines Air Lines said it received the report from government engineers who said they witnessed the crash shortly before noon near Cabanatuan, about 90 miles north of Manila.

A spokesman said a PAL twin-engine jet-prop flying from Cawayan to Manila was missing and had last been heard from by radio near Cabanatuan.

Maseru, a tiny African country, exported a record 29,787.51 carats of diamonds worth $1,600,933, in 1969, the government announced.

Nixon To Pull Out 150,000 More GIs

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon, crediting better-than-expected progress in turning the war over to the Vietnamese, has announced plans to bring home another 150,000 U.S. soldiers in the next 12 months. If successful, the withdrawal would cut the total U.S. troop commitment in Vietnam to about half of what it was when Nixon took office.

"The decision I have announced tonight," Nixon told a nationwide radio and TV audience, "means that we finally have in sight the just peace we are seeking. We can now say with confidence that pacification is succeeding. We can say with confidence that the South Vietnamese can develop the capability for their own defense.

"We can say with confidence that all American combat forces can and will be withdrawn," he added.

Since Nixon started the cutbacks last June, 115,000 soldiers have been pulled out — bringing the current troop level to 434,000 compared to 549,000 when the Nixon administration took office. The latest cutback would bring the total down to 284,000 by May 1971.

Nixon said the timing of the pullout would depend on "our best judgment of the current military and diplomatic situation" and he warned, as he has twice before, that he would take "strong and effective measures" if the pullout is greeted by increased communist military activity.

The move gave the President a year-long period of flexibility to make withdrawals on the basis of the war in Vietnam, and the increasing military activity across the rest of Indochina. Nixon avoided a discussion of overall Indochina policy, however, except to take note of the situation and to admit that problems in Cambodia and Laos challenge the withdrawal plans with some clear risks.

A scattering of congressional reaction to Nixon's speech was generally favorable. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he was "surprised and pleased" at the pullout plans and added that Nixon is "continuing in the right direction —out."

Nixon said he was "pleased to report that progress in training and equipping South Vietnamese forces has substantially exceeded our original expectations last June." He also praised "very significant advances" in making the Vietnamese countryside free from Communist influence.

White House aides said another reason for stretching the pullout over a 12-month period was to give the government of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu a long range idea of American plans. Officials said the total 150,000 figure breaks down to 12,000 men per month —the same approximate rate that has been continuing since last December. There was no indication, however, whether the same rate would prevail in the new pullback.

NO COMMENT

Letter Attacks School Quality

Two letters, one from a resigning teacher and the other from a parent, which might have caused sparks, drew no comment by the Tamalpais High School District board last night.

In one letter, Margaret B. Neubauer, resigning as a social studies teacher at Redwood High School after eight years, cited a change in atmosphere and attitude in the district.

She explained that she was resigning because her future husband's job required moving, but commented that the "atmosphere" is less positive.

"The public seems often to reflect an attitude which parallels the idea of 'guilty until proven innocent,' rather than the reverse," she wrote.

The question is how can the community, through the board, show interest and concern without communicating suspicion and distrust, Mrs. Neubauer asked.

"I believe there has been a change in the atmosphere in this district that, if a trend, would represent serious damage to the quality of education here."

A letter from Gordon Pusser, father of two athletes, questioning the costs of the athletic program, presented to the board at its last meeting, April 6, wasn't discussed either.

Pusser cited excessive equipment costs, particularly in football, and said many people feel that since participation is voluntary, students could pay for their own equipment, except where need could be shown.

He also challenged providing free transportation to a track meet, where athletes didn't compete but just watched, instead of providing free transportation to students in the Bolinas-Stinson Beach area.

He also said that more money is spent on coaching than is shown in the district budget.

Tam Trustees Hear Status On Bussing

The Tamalpais High School District has eliminated four buses since it stopped free service to Bolinas-Stinson Beach and San Geronimo Valley in January.

Business Mgr. Frank A. Cassou reported to the district board last night that there were 13 charter buses running Jan. 7 and there are now nine.

The Muir Beach bus has been combined with the Bolinas-Stinson Beach bus, the Strawberry bus eliminated and the Blackfield Drive bus combined with the Belvedere run, he explained.

There were an average of 21 students from the Bolinas-Stinson Beach area riding the bus, as compared to about 35 before fares were instituted.

Cassou reported the bus cost to the district was $238 a day, less fares totaling $140, for a net daily cost of $98.40 for nine buses.

Cassou also gave trustees a revised forecast of the 1970-71 budget, first presented in January.

The forecast showed a budget of $9,430,882, as compared to $9,467,208 for the current year, a drop in enrollment of about 85 students in the district and a slight reduction in the teaching staff.

Cassou listed expenditures totaling $7,826,237, leaving $1,604,645 for reserves and items still undetermined such as cost-of-living pay raises, additional custodians, special maintenance projects or improvements in the instructional program.

Trustee David D. Ring said there was an estimate by the California Teachers Association that the tax reform measure proposed by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R, San Rafael, would cost the district about $400,000.

Exiles Report Guerrillas Busy In Cuba; Castro Ired

MIAMI (AP) — U.S.-based Cuban exiles say they have sent two groups of invaders to challenge Fidel Castro's regime and that their forces are equipped to carry on a long campaign.

Meanwhile, Castro, speaking at the funeral of five of his soldiers killed in battle by the invaders, vowed that the force will be exterminated.

The Cuban exile organization Alpha 66 retorted from its Miami headquarters that warfare launched by its guerrillas was only beginning.

Castro's funeral oration, broadcast by Havana Radio Monday night, was made in an eastern Cuba cemetery Sunday. It came on the ninth anniversary of the defeat of the exiles' Bay of Pigs invasion.

The prime minister said Cuba had planned to skip any ceremonies on the anniversary this year.

"Our people are totally devoted to the sugar harvest of 10 million tons, and we have avoided anything that could detract even a minute from that important task," Castro said.

Castro, who issued a communique Sunday announcing the guerrilla invasion, said he had recently learned about "plans for this type of landings to sabotage the harvest."

Castro has called for harvesting a record 10 million tons of sugar, the crop which earns his country the bulk of its foreign exchange. Radio reports have indicated Cuba is nearly a million tons behind schedule.

The prime minister claimed the landing parties were sent from the United States. Alpha 66 said the United States had no connection with the invasion.

Pleads Guilty To Felony Battery

Hilton Welborn, 31, of Santa Rosa, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of a felony battery on a police officer. A second count of driving 80 miles per hour on Highway 101 was dismissed.

Welborn had been arrested July 30, 1969. Judge E. Warren McGuire set sentencing for June 8.

San Diego Growing Despite GI Cutbacks

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—San Diego's population grew to 711,600 as of March 1, strengthening its position as the second largest city in the state, the city manager's office announced Monday.

The figure marked a gain of 11,500 persons since April 1, 1969, the second largest increase in the city's history for that period of time.

Golf Clubs Taken

Golf clubs and a bag valued at $400 were stolen from a camper owned by Delores Jean Gates and parked in front of her home at 20 Hepburn Heights April 10-12, San Rafael police reported yesterday. Mrs. Gates told police the clubs belonged to Clifford J. Peterson of 35 Arcangel Court, Fairfax.

Carswell Set To Run For U.S. Senate

MIAMI (AP) — Judge G. Harrold Carswell, rejected Supreme Court nominee, has decided to seek election to the U.S. Senate "to join President Nixon in his goals of restructuring our country and its government along constitutional, conservative lines."

The Senate rejected Carswell 51 to 45 on April 8.

Carswell, who said he had resigned as a judge of the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals, announced his candidacy at a Miami news conference called by Gov. Claude Kirk.

With Kirk and Carswell standing beside him, Lt. Gov. Ray Osborne declared he was withdrawing from the Senate race in the interest of party unity. Osborne, Florida's first lieutenant governor, had been actively campaigning for the Senate nomination for months.

In Washington, Cramer, a member of the House for 16 years, said:

"President Nixon personally urged me to run for the U.S. Senate. This has not changed.

"He also urged Judge Carswell to remain on the bench where strict constructionists of the Constitution are needed. I am heeding President Nixon's call and I hope Judge Carswell will do likewise."

Torrey Praised For Work; Receives $1,000 Pay Hike

Tamalpais High School District trustees, who recently selected a new superintendent, last night gave the man who has held the post on an acting basis praise and a $1,000 pay raise.

Trustees voted to boost the salary of Acting Supt. Robert D. Torrey from $25,000 to $26,000 a year effective July 1.

Chairman Bette Wallace said that Torrey has done an outstanding job "during this very difficult year" with skill, integrity and devotion, and others echoed her sentiments.

Therefore she proposed that his two-year contract be amended to provide a $1,000 raise in the second year, in recognition of his work, and other trustees agreed.

Torrey will continue as assistant superintendent, his permanent title, in the 1970-71 school year.

Mrs. Wallace reported that trustees have selected Wilber Dale Hawkins, assistant superintendent of the Norwalk-Mirada School District in Southern California to be superintendent, starting July 1 at $30,000 a year.

However, she reported, Hawkins hasn't yet signed the four-year contract.

The Tamalpais High School Board Also:

FEDERAL FUNDS—Authorized application for federal funds, nonmatching, $3,480 for library books and materials, and federal matching funds, $3,584 for classroom television sets at Sir Francis Drake High School, and $4,693 for automotive mechanics equipment at Tamalpais High School.

HIRED—Authorized hiring three teachers: Constance Would, English-journalism, at $10,945 a year; Beverly S. Snyder, mathematics and educationally handicapped, $9,065; and Maureen Rita Dolan, mathematics, $13,165; and a librarian, Margaret Allen Jones, at $8,355; all at Sir Francis Drake High School for 1970-71.

Schultz Replaced On County Panel

Niels Schultz Jr., Marin County planning commissioner for 14 years, was replaced today by John F. West of San Anselmo by unanimous vote of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Schultz, who lives in Greenbrae, is in the Second District, represented by Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr.

Arrigoni nominated West, a consultant in shipping and foreign trade transportation and a San Anselmo planning commissioner for almost six years.

Arrigoni said he had informed Schultz about the new appointment. At his suggestion, the supervisors voted a resolution of commendation to Schultz for his service on the county planning commission since March 6, 1956.

Michael Praszker, an at-large member of the county planning commission, resigned effective yesterday, when his term expired. Praszker, a soils engineer, explained that the pressure of his job and the need to travel extensively make it impossible for him to devote enough time to the county planning commission.

County supervisors decided to wait until next week to name a successor to Praszker.

Supervisors Discuss I-J Dispute; No Action

Anonymous telephone calls asking citizens to cancel their subscriptions to the Independent-Journal and then threatening them if they do not agree is "poor policy," Supervisor Louis H. Baar declared this morning at a meeting of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

He said he had received several calls from his constituents, particularly women, who complained about the phone campaign.

"I don't mind the suggestion to cancel subscriptions so much but when they threaten the people because they don't agree, I thing it's poor policy. . .

"As a county, I think we should write a letter to the union to stop the calls and harrassment."

Other supervisors rejected any official county action because it would be difficult to tie the telephone calls directly to San Francisco International Typographical Union 21, which struck the newspaper on Jan. 7.

Chairman John F. McInnis, however, introduced an April 1970 newsletter issued by the Golden Gate Progressive Club of the ITU, 1163 Cambridge Street, Novato, which connects the telephone campaign to the union. The newsletter also ties in the Marin clergymen's request to the supervisors on April 7, asking for a citizens fact finding committee to delve into the union's strike against the I-J.

The newsletter states that the subscription cancellation campaign "carried out by out people is a success." The newsletter also states that "Local 21 is now busy organizing committees of clergymen and businessmen to pressure the I-J to negotiate."

The clergymen's request to the supervisors was obviously not a spontaneous effort by the clergy but came from pressure by the union, declared McInnis. "I don't mind their doing it but, if they are going to represent the union, I'd rather have them say so."

The supervisors took no action today on the clergymen's request for such a committee.

They read a letter from Wishard A. Brown, publisher of the Independent-Journal, who wrote that such a committee would be inappropriate at a time when both parties are scheduled to negotiate at a meeting this Friday, with other meetings to follow.

Brown also noted that "the state and federal courts, as well as the National Labor Relations Board, have actions pending which could effect or accomplish the same objectives in the dispute."

Brown asked, if the board wished to appoint a fact-finding committee, "why not appoint one to investigate the vandalism and property damage to Marin County business establishments." He noted, however, that "perhaps this would better be a function of the Marin County Grand Jury."

Sleuths Finding School Fire Clues

What could be pertinent evidence in Sunday's arson fire which destroyed most of Stinson Beach School was found yesterday by inspectors from the Marin County sheriff's office who, with an arson specialist, sifted through the wreckage of the school yesterday, Inspector Arthur Disterheft reported today.

Although he declined to say what was found, Disterheft said the items have been sent to the state crime laboratory in Sacramento for analysis.

Lt. Guido Battaglia of the sheriff's office promised an intensive investigation will continue until his men find out who is responsible for the fire. The lieutenant said that at this time there is nothing to indicate children set the blaze.

windows were broken in the downtown area. A girl student was bruised by a chair thrown in the Atlantic City High School cafeteria, and a city policeman was kicked and beaten when he tried to make arrests.

The high school was closed pending an investigation of the cause of the trouble. It was said to have been started by a false stabbing rumor.

Racial tension was also blamed for firebombings at both the high school and the University of Kansas in Lawrence, Kan. Part of the student union at the university was destroyed, but there was only minor fire damage at the high school, where several windows were shot out. (See photo, page 2.)

Warrant Is Issued In Marijuana Case

A bench warrant with bail set at $1,000 was issued yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for Robert Michael Katen, 12, of San Francisco, when he failed to make a court appearance.

Katen is charged with possessing marijuana and a device for smoking it Nov. 27 in Sausalito.

Club TVs Stolen

The San Marin Club at 351 San Andreas Drive, Novato, was burglarized of two television sets valued at $400 sometime between 9:30 p.m. Sunday and yesterday morning, according to police.

Drake High Has A Bomb Scare

The buildings at Sir Francis Drake High School were evacuated today after Fairfax police received a telephone call saying a bomb had been planted at the school.

The call was received by the Fairfax police at 9:41 a.m. from a man described as "young with a fairly low voice." The caller told police "there's a bomb at Drake High," and hung up.

The buildings were ordered cleared shortly after 10:30 a.m. and students were readmitted a few minutes later, Allen said. San Anselmo police and faculty members conducted the search of buildings and grounds.

Bomb Scares Empty Two Sausalito Schools

Bomb scares emptied Central and Martin Luther King schools in Sausalito today.

Officials at Central received a call at about 9:45 p.m .that a bomb had been planted, but police found no device. About an hour later, King officials received a similar call and police were called again in a futile search. Classes resumed after the searches.

Nicasio Board Faces Pay, Land Problems

The Nicasio School District board will consider teacher salary schedules for next year and will continue discussion on purchase of Marin Municipal Water District property adjacent to the Nicasio School at its regular meeting today at 8 p.m. at the school.

Other items on the agenda include discussion on the 1970-71 budget and classified employee salary schedules.

Restaurant Site Plan Is Rejected

A site plan for a Burger Chef restaurant at the southwest corner of Camino Alto and East Blithedale Avenue was turned down last night by the Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee, according to Howard R. McGill, city zoning administrator.

McGill said the committee questioned whether such a restaurant should be allowed at that location, the secondary entrance to Mill Valley from the east and indicated it would be particularly concerned about the design of any building on the site.

Representatives for the restaurant have not applied to the city for a use permit, McGill said.

The Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee also:

SERVICE STATION — Rejected a plan from Atlantic Richfield for a new service station to replace an old station at 789 Redwood Highway and asked the oil company representatives to submit other plans for station buildings.

Callinan said that City Atty. Robert Maxwell was consulted before the partnership agreement was made and gave the opinion that it would not be proper. A memo on the partnership was submitted to all councilman, he said.

The council asked Maxwell to review the petition and make a recommendation at the May 4 council meeting.

"It's just a post election effort to keep the pot stirred," Callinan said, adding that such moves undermine public confidence in government.

Callinan said Maxwell will also be consulted about possible legal action against the signatories of the petition on behalf of the council and individuals involved.

The Santa Venetia Flood Control Advisory board will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow at MacPhail School to discuss Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District relocation work on Meadow Drive.

SIGNS

"the law directs the Division of Highways to remove signs that do not comply with the regulations."

Rey Collins, zoning enforcement officer of the Marin County Planning Department, said today she is sending reminders to all candidates of the county's own ordinance on political signs.

This, which applies only in the unincorporated area, limits display of political signs to "not more than 45 days before, or more than 10 days after, the conclusion of the political campaign to which it relates."

Last Saturday was 45 days before the June 2 primary election. Many signs for candidates in that election were up well ahead of that date.

How much the county will do about enforcing this ordinance was put in doubt, however, by remarks by County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney.

He called the 45-day limitation a bit vague, questioning whether the date of election is the conclusion of the campaign.

(The ordinance was prepared by the county counsel's office.)

Sign ordinances governing political signs within incorporated cities vary from city to city. Signs within cities which are within 660 feet of Highway 101, however, would come under the state law.

Belvedere Shuns Public Tree Rules

Belvedere residents don't want public control of trees on private property, a survey conducted by the city's planning commission shows.

George V. Banning, chairman of the commission, said that a slight majority of those replying to a post card poll said they opposed an ordinance to prevent trees from blocking views. The results were announced at last night's commission meeting.

The cards were mailed to all Belvedere residents, Banning said. About half replied.

"Apparently most of those responding felt such matters should be settled between neighbors," Banning said.

The commission forwarded the results to the city council, which had requested the survey, Banning said.

The Belvedere Planning Commission also:

ZONING—Recommended that the city council correct an omission from the city's zoning ordinance and include duplexes and two-family residences in the group of structures that can be built in an R-2 zone.

PLAN—Referred to subcommittee a proposal by Lawrence Livingston planning consultants that a master plan for Belvedere be formulated.

ADJOURNMENT —Adjourned to its next regular meeting May 18 at 8 p.m. in the community hall.

Guilty Verdict In Stabbing Case

A Marin Superior Court Jury deliberated yesterday for over nine hours before finding Ivory Weeks Jr., 32, of San Rafael guilty of stabbing a Marin City woman on Dec. 27.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner set sentencing for May 18.

Weeks, reportedly jealous, had stabbed Pauline Moore with a hunting knife outside her home after he had earlier threatened her. Weeks is on parole from an earlier conviction.

TOLIVER

istrative post Toliver will hold.

The votes opposed to his reinstatement came from Trustees James E. Muldoon and C. Gerald Clear. Clear broke a long silence on the Toliver issue by saying that while he had "great respect for Mr. Toliver's ability with children," he also had "great reservations as to how he uses that ability; I think he uses children," he said.

Toliver immediately called for an open personnel session at the board's next meeting to discuss what he termed "accusations." "Fine," Clear snapped.

Last night's community meeting began with a minor conflict, with the trustees first balking, then agreeing to follow an agenda prepared by citizens of the black community.

As far more than the maximum capacity (100) of the school district office attempted to get into the meeting, the board agreed to move to Bayside School, where trustees and citizens alike sat on children's small chairs, around low students' tables.

Items discussed and brought up by community members covered a broad range, from use of Title 1 funds to last week's two-day "sick-out" by 58 of the district's 121 regular employees.

On the former issue, the board agreed to set up staff and parent advisory committees to help administer the federal funds providing special educational assistance for disadvantaged children.

Supt. Phillip W. Schneider admitted the district, like most other districts in the state at the program's beginning, had neglected the guideline directive to establish such groups. Schneider did not answer a charge by a black teacher aide that a "phony" list of advisory group members had been sent to the state.

Walton asked that members of the Black Employees Association be included in planning for fund use and the board agreed that all segments of the community should be included in the two committees.

In the matter of the "sick-out", Walton charged that the superintendent "did not accept responsibility. He did not teach those children; he sent them home," the principal said, "He denied them their day of education."

In response to questions of why younger teachers, who "can relate to the children," must be discharged first in any budget cuts while older teachers "who cannot relate are kept," Schneider said the problem was one of tenure regulations. "I'll admit tenure is a real problem sometimes, but there is nothing we can do," he added.

Royce McLemore, leader of a Marin City parents group, brought up the board's decision to put first through sixth graders under Robert E. Lea, now Central principal, next year. Saying that things have improved so greatly at King School this year under the administration of Walton, Mrs. McLemore said young black children need a strong black administrator if they are to get a good education.

"For the first time this year, black children are starting to get an equal education — something that has not happened in all your five years of integration," she said. "It seems the younger grades are important; by the time they get to MLK, they have missed the boat." She questioned why Walton was not being given charge of the younger children, "when he has managed to accomplish so much this year."

The board gave no firm answer to her question, but talked vaguely of "sound education." Strong support of Walton's accomplishments came from a number of other parents and students in the audience.

Rev. Samuel L. Banks Jr., chairman of the Marin City Council, drew applause and cries of "Right on" when he proposed that Marin City may have to set up its own school if the board continued to ignore the wishes of the black community.

Weekends In Jail For Marijuana Count

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court yesterday placed Warren Paul Boyd, 21, of Novato, on probation for one year, fined him $200 and ordered him to spend five weekends in jail.

Boyd had admitted last month that he possessed marijuana on March 27, 1969.

Gebhart said yesterday that it apparently was not a police bullet that felled Moran. The bullet was smaller than those used by the police, he said.

He also said he didn't think there was a connection between the death of Moran and the ban on the campus radio which followed.

He said the sheriff evidently objected to the general news being broadcast and felt it contributed to the violence.

"We're pretty damned mad" about the ban, he said.

The station was allowed to begin broadcasting again about 6:30 a.m. Saturday, but the staff was told that only music could be broadcast Saturday night. News and other announcements were forbidden.

Gebhart said they were allowed to give news Sunday night, but no news of Isla Vista. Early Monday morning, he said, the ban was lifted completely.

With the ban lifted Gebhart had gone downtown to broadcast an on-the-spot report of the then quiet scene. It was while returning home from this broadcast that he was arrested, he said.

A university spokesman said yesterday that seven students had been injured by police birdshot. None was seriously injured, he said.

Gebhart said it was quiet yesterday in Isla Vista, but he would not predict an end to the violence.

Santa Barbara. Officers said they were taken into custody without resistance about five hours after the bomb scare.

Isolated cases were reported of rocks and bottles being thrown at police cars early today by groups of two or three youths who quickly faded into apartment buildings in the area.

Deputies reported no injuries overnight and no arrests besides those of Harvey and Walker. Officers reported residents in the 8,000-population campus community were for the most part obeying the 11 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew.

The only two known firebombs burned out harmlessly in the street, officers said. The oft-attacked Bank of America building—a modest-sized prefab replacement for the $250,000 structure burned by activists in four days of disturbances last February — remained untroubled under blazing floodlights through the night.

In his statement Monday, Chief Trembley said of Moran's death that "the pandemonium and confusion caused by the heavy exchange of gunfire make it impossible at this time to determine accurately whether the officer's weapon fired the fatal projectile."

"We are requesting the findings of the outside agency be presented to a coroner's inquest hearing that will be especially appointed for this purpose," the chief said. "The unusual procedure has been agreed to by the district attorney, the sheriff of the county and the chief of police to preclude any possible implication of whitewashing this tragic affair."

Driverless Auto Injures Workman

A 20-year old Denver, Colo., lineman working for Southwestern Cable Television was injured today when he was pinned between a driverless car and his truck on Mountain View Avenue, in San Rafael.

The lineman, Jack Hubbell of the Marin Hotel, 4136 Redwood Highway, was taken to Marin General Hospital where a spokesman said he was being examined for possible fractures of both legs.

The accident occurred at 10 a.m. when a driverless car rolled down a driveway at the George W. Walton home at 300 Mountain View Avenue, pinning Hubbell to the truck. San Rafael firemen were called to help free the injured man.

Marijuana Seller Sent To Hospital

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court yesterday ordered Carter Hall, 22, former Sausalito resident who is also known as Terry Thomas, to commit himself to Napa State Hospital.

Hall had earlier been found guilty of two sales of marijuana in 1967 and 1968.

He had been slated to go to trial in 1968 but disappeared and was returned to Marin this year on a bench warrant. It was reported that he had spent the past year in a southern California hospital.

After Judge McGuire found him guilty last month, two doctors reported that Hall is a "heavy drug user" and is psychotic.

The judge yesterday also placed him on probation for two years.

Drug Suspects Due In Court

Sheriff's deputies said they saw David DeWitt Black, 25, and Marilyn Edith Babakan, 37, of 45-E Redhill Circle, apparently sharing a pot cigarette as they sat in their small station-wagon by the roadside three miles north of Point Reyes Station.

Deputies said what appeared to be marijuana smoke was pouring from the open sunroof of the vehicle.

Petalumans Argue Over River Relief

The Petaluma City Council haggled last night on how much the city should do to aid river-threatened houses in the Linda del Mar subdivision and prepared to meet with homeowners Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

The residents on Rocca Drive and Jess Avenue, watching the Petaluma River rapidly erode their backyards and foundations, had asked the city to solve the problem or move the houses.

Councilmen Fred V. Mattei and Robert A. Brunner said they would meet with the troubled homeowners at city hall to find a solution, but questioned how much the city could legally do to aid them.

City Atty. Edouard E. Robert said he doubted that funds set aside from a lawsuit against the subdivider could be used to move the houses. "The funds must be used for a public purpose," he said, adding the city had no legal obligation to the homeowners.

Councilman Philip L. Joerger said the $64,215 had been set aside for the homeowners and said that legal opinions should be overlooked and tested in court if necessary to bring assistance. He also charged that interest from the money should have been returned to the special fund rather than going into the general fund.

Joerger said the best answer would be for the city to purchase other property and arrange for the lending institutions to pay the house moving charges. He said the city could use the property for a green belt or riverside park.

Councilman David W. Brainerd said that most of the homes have since been sold and that the original homeowners who prompted the lawsuit were no longer involved.

Mattei said the Thursday meeting would be conducted with an open attitude to see what could be done.

The Petaluma City Council Also:

CURBS—Awarded a contract for curb rounding on D Street at Petaluma Boulevard South, to the Don Dowd Co. of Sebastopol at a cost of $4,370. The project had been estimated to cost $4,442.

ARCHITECT—Selected the architectural firm of Lieb and Quaresma of Petaluma to design the new fire station on South McDowell Boulevard.

RADIO—Granted permission to J. Hayes Hunter to use the location of the city water tower on La Cresta Drive as an amateur radio relay station.

EXTENSION—Heard a report that the city and Petaluma city schools office are working on plans to extend McGregor Avenue through to Park Lane as had been requested by the McDowell School Parent-Teachers Association.

RIVER—Agreed to the request of Sea Scout leader Mervin S. Waters to have the city engineering department place markers in the Petaluma River to warn boats against dangerous low water areas. He said that situation is worse than last year before the river was dredged. The council agreed to ask Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, to schedule another dredging as soon as possible.

PARKING—Agreed to limit parking on D Street between Fourth and Fifth streets to two hours after hearing complaints from the United Methodist Church that commuters were taking all the parking spaces.

PLANNING — Scheduled a meeting with the planning commission next Monday at 7:30 p.m. to discuss enlargement of the commission.

Plywood Stolen

Twenty-six pieces of exterior plywood worth a total of $119 owned by Empire Construction Co. of San Francisco were stolen over the weekend from Bergman's Manufacturing Co., 632 Irwin Street, San Rafael police reported today.

No Tour Plans

Wilson C. Riles, candidate for state superintendent of public instruction, will not campaign in Marin County Thursday and Friday as reported yesterday in the Independent-Journal. He visited Marin last Thursday and Friday.

Souza To Seek A Vote Recount

Robert R. Souza, who lost his bid for reelection to the Fairfax City Council last week, said today he will ask for a recount.

Souza drew 978 votes to Albert E. Gately's 981.

He told the Independent-Journal today that he had mailed the letter calling for the recount.

Frances Lestanguet, Fairfax City Clerk, said she had nothing in writing from Souza.

She said she did not know if the request for the recount would be considered by the city council at their meeting tonight.

Jewelry Stolen

A ring, pendant, watch, peace symbol, rear view mirror and medal with a total value of $112 were stolen Saturday from a car owned by Christine J. Van Loo of 24 Greenwood Avenue and parked in a lot at 77 Vivian Way, San Rafael police reported yesterday. Damage to front and side windows broken in the burglary was estimated at $80, police said.

Werber Will Remain Free; $5,000 Bail

A Marin Superior Court judge yesterday allowed former Kingston Trio manager Frank N. Werber to remain free on bail while his marijuana conviction is appealed.

Judge E. Warren McGuire overruled arguments by Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales that Werber was not entitled to bail and should begin serving a six-month jail sentence immediately as well as pay the $2,000 fine imposed by the judge last week.

The judge said that since Werber had not been sentenced to state prison, he was legally entitled to post bail during appellate proceedings.

BIG BAIL PLEA

Bales, who said that he "continues to hear reports from narcotics agents all over the Bay Area" that Werber's Sausalito restaurant, the Trident, is a gathering place for dope pushers, then asked $50,000 bail.

Judge McGuire said he "had never heard of bail of that amount" for marijuana possession and cultivation convictions. He set bail at $5,000 and gave the 40-year-old entertainment tycoon five days to raise the sum.

Werber's attorney, Terence Hallinan, apparently plans to appeal the case to a higher court on the grounds that Werber should be allowed to use marijuana because he finds it necessary for his spiritual well-being.

Judge McGuire, after listening to an array of witnesses at a trial in February, ruled that the religious defense could not be used in this case. A jury then quickly found Werber guilty of possessing and cultivating pot.

HOME ARREST

Werber was arrested at his home on De Silva Island in Richardson Bay on Oct. 14, 1968, after federal agents were led there by two men who had brought six seabags of marijuana into the United States from Mexico.

Although Werber was acquitted in federal court of importing the seabags, he was then charged in Marin with possessing about four kilos of pot found throughout his house as well as 27 plants growing outside in a corn patch.

In recent years the amount of lumber used in the average new home has increased from 8,000 to 10,000 board feet.

Novato Sets Special School Budget Round

Novato Unified School District trustees last night briefly discussed the recent election defeat of its tax limit increase and priorities in cutting the budget for next fiscal year, then set a special meeting at 8 p.m. next Monday to discuss them.

Chairman Marett B. Boissevain pointed out that a switch of 150 votes would have passed the 85-cent tax limit increase.

"We've got to go for it again," said Paul C. Scheller, cochairman of the citizens committee for the tax increase.

"Let's try again, but try harder," said trustee Leonora Dougherty.

The board asked Scheller to ask the citizens committee to meet with the board next week.

Supt. James G. Bunker told the trustees that the district would have less money next fiscal year than this one because it dipped into its beginning reserves for $200,000 for this year.

"I am counting only the same amount of federal and state money for next year as we got this year," Bunker said.

Suggested cuts include transportation, subsidizing the food program, field trips, janitorial service and library services.

The board decided to discuss these next Monday to establish some sort of priority in cuts for fiscal 1970-71.

The Novato School District Board Also:

SUMMER SCHOOL—Approved a $75,000 budget for summer school, but voted down $6,000 for bus transportation from home to school during summer school.

BOUNDARIES—Changed the boundary for junior high schools, putting those children who live on Eighth Street to Simmons Lane from Novato Boulevard to San Marin Drive in Hill Junior High School instead of Sinaloa Junior High School and in San Marin High School instead of Novato High School.

APPLICATIONS—Approved a $17,865 application for matching federal funds for the elementary reading program and $6,976 for books and supplies. The latter program is federally financed.

AUDIT—Hired Sodeblom and Co. to make the audit for this fiscal year.

PERSONNEL—Accepted resignations from Beverly Barish from Rancho School and Barbara Hain from Novato High School effective June 12. Granted Naomi Kirschner a leave of absence from Rancho School for next year but denied Larry Schwartz a sabattical leave for next year.

TENURE—Granted tenure to 61 teachers by a 6-0 vote with trustee Ronald D. Schenck abstaining. He said he did not feel qualified to pass on the teachers without a more complete report on them.

GIFT—Accepted with thanks a gift of $200 from the Hamilton Air Force Base thrift shop for plantings around Hamilton School.

PAINTER—Received, but took no action on, a request from Frank Neiri of the painters' union that the district hire a union painter.

BB Guns Used To Crack Windows

Windows in two San Rafael homes were smashed by vandals using BB guns during the weekend, police reported yesterday.

A $100 sliding glass door was broken Friday at the home of William B. Savage, 4 Knight Drive and a $150 window was broken yesterday at the home of John Crisci, 64 Vallejo Way.

Jews' Plea Rebuffed

THE HAGUE (UPI)—A delegation of Dutch Jews presented a petition to the Soviet embassy Monday, appealing for justice for Jews in the Soviet Union. V. N. Sorokin, the embassy's second secretary, refused the petition and said there was no Jewish problem in his country.

Publisher Tells Of Of Merger Talks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Three years of negotiations preceded the operating agreement reached in 1965 between the Chronicle and Examiner, publisher Charles de Young Theriot has testified in the KRON-TV license renewal hearing.

Theriot, head of the Chronicle Publishing Co. of which KRON-TV is a subsidiary, testified Monday that he was first approached by Randolph A. Hearst, president of the Hearst Corp. and publisher of the Examiner, in 1962 to "explore or consider" a joint operating agreement.

The agreement involved the Examiner becoming an afternoon paper, absorbing the existing Hearst afternoon Call-Bulletin and leaving the morning field to the Chronicle except for a jointly produced Sunday edition.

Stereo Stolen

Stereophonic equipment valued at $231 was stolen Saturday from a car owned by Daniel M. Coleman and parked in front of his home at 257 Riviera Drive, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Lenin Fete Hears Vows For Peace

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev today pledged the Soviet Union will work to curb the arms race and settle other international issues by negotiation.

"We shall continue our active efforts to halt the ruinous arms race, secure disarmament and settle outstanding issues between states on a reasonable foundation, by negotiation," Brezhnev told a meeting opening the Lenin centenary celebration.

Realistic thinkers in the West "may be confident that in the Soviet Union they will have a partner ready to promote mutually beneficial cooperation," he added.

At the same time the party leader assured 6,000 dignitaries in the Kremlin Palace of Congresses that the Soviet Union will continue to strengthen its defenses and to equip its army with the "most up to date weapons."

Brezhnev drew heavy applause when he said that only a Communist system could keep up a steady flow of aid to North Vietnam and when he claimed that the "U.S. adventure in Vietnam is experiencing failure."

The delegates also gave him a ringing ovation when he accused Communist China's leaders of "breaking with Lenin's teachings" and said the men in Peking have "revealed themselves as renegades."

In this country, 2.5 million criminals move through the prison system each year at a cost of about one billion dollars to the government.

Tiburon Vote Recount Leaves Results Same

Tiburon City Council candidate Alvin R. Kuhn added one vote in yesterday's recount of last Tuesday's municipal election but fell a single ballot short of gaining a tie with M. Carlisle Becker for the third council seat.

The recount showed Becker with 664 votes and Kuhn with 663. Becker's total remained unchanged from last week's unofficial figures.

The loss means Kuhn must forfeit the $80 deposit he put up when he asked for the recount.

Albert R. Sennet, top vote getter, also gained a ballot; The recount showed him with 868 votes. Mayor Branwell D. Fanning's total remained at 836.

Kuhn said today that the 49 per cent voter turnout in the peninsula city, which he called the second lowest in its history, was a factor in his defeat.

"More than half the people in Tiburon didn't vote," he said. "The more people who turn out for an election, the more valid that election is."

Kuhn said he would remain active in community affairs although it was "too early to say" if he would run for the council in 1972.

Juvenile Court To Handle Pot Charges

The cases of two 19-year-olds accused of marijuana charges have been transferred to Marin Juvenile Court. Joel George Carpenter and Margaret Joyce Thayer, both of Novato, were arrested by a drug agent April 1 when he saw them sitting on a hillside near the Civic Center apparently sharing a pipe of pot.

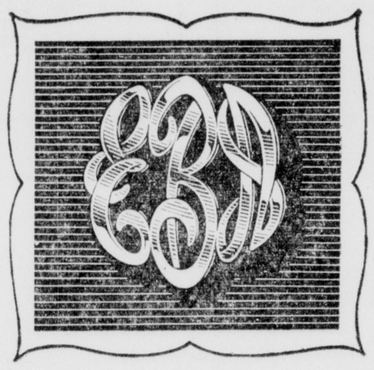

He is charged with possessing the marijuana and pipe and she with being in a place where narcotics were used.

Even 100 years ago Mr. McGuffey and Mr. Webster knew better. The English language is 85% phonetic.

Today is Tuesday, April 21, the 111th day of 1970 with 254 to follow.

The moon is full. The morning star is Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 753 B.C. Rome was founded by Romulus.

In 1954 U.S. Air Force planes began flying French troops from Paris to Indo-China to reinforce Dienbienphu.

In 1965 a U.N. disarmament commission reconvened for the first time since 1960 when there was a stalemate.

In 1967 the Greek army took control of the government.

A thought for the day: Irish dramatist Richard Brinsley Sheridan said, "Conscience has no more to do with gallantry than it does with politics."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

A Noble Move Enables The Declarer To Score Victory

When an opponent is headed in the wrong direction you don't normally take the trouble to set him right. The unusual thing about today's hand is that Tannah Hirsch, the new editor of the American Contract Bridge League Bulletin, stopped declarer from taking a losing finesse. Hirsch acted from the noblest of motives: it was the only way to defeat the contract.

NOT ORIGINAL

There wasn't much to the selection of the opening lead; Hirsch simply led the unbid suit. A "normal" club opening would allow declarer to win the first trick with the jack of clubs. South would then have eight sure tricks and all the time in the world to develop the spades.

When West opened the eight of hearts, declarer let it ride around to the king and then led the ten of spades for a finesse. It was obvious that declarer planned to take a losing finesse to the queen of spades. Bridge players spend years learning how to play low when defending against such a declarer, allowing the poor fellow to lose his finesse without interference.

IMPOSSIBLE POSITION

In this case, however, Hirsch saw that his partner would be in an impossible position if he won the first spade trick with the queen. East would be unable to return a heart without giving declarer a third trick in the suit. Moreover, even if East could safely knock out the ace of hearts he would be unable to regain the lead. The East hand would be dead, and declarer could comfortably give up a second spade trick to make his contract.

ACE OF SPADES

Hirsch therefore hopped up with the ace of spades at the second trick in order to lead his remaining heart. South eventually tried the spades again, hoping that West had started with the queen of spades as well as the ace.

East therefore got in with the queen of spades and cashed the rest of the hearts to defeat the contract.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:

♠—10 9 2
♥—K 10 4
♦—A K Q 6
♣—J 6 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one diamond.

You have 13 points in high cards with excellent high-card structure. Just in case of need, you also have two tens and a nine. And if it turns out that your partner must make the opening lead, you will be delighted if he leads a diamond.

Council To Study Planning Commission

The procedure for selecting new planning commission members will go before the Larkspur City Council when the council meets at 7:30 p.m. in city hall.

Other items on the agenda include the swearing in of a new councilman, appointment of a mayor and canvassing of last Tuesday's election.

Smog Curbs Eyed By Sonoma County

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday heard suggestions on what burning regulations should be put into effect by the Sonoma County Air Pollution Control District.

Supervisor Ignazio A. Vella of Sonoma opened discussion by saying the regulations must be at least as stringent as those imposed by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District if the state Legislature is to consider permitting the single district concept.

Two weeks ago the board established the single county district, turning its back on the regional board and possible alliances with other neighboring counties.

Santa Rosa Mayor Jack Ryerson, speaking for six of the eight county mayors, offered regulations which would ban all burning by June 30, 1972. He said the mayors disagreed with the supervisors' plan not to set any time limits on the prohibition of burning.

The mayors suggested that all new industries and businesses conform with the standards of the regional district as a minimum and said that existing businesses should be given a maximum of five years to conform.

Construction waste should not be burned on site, the mayors said, adding that builders should be required to show arrangements have been made for the disposal of waste materials before the issuance of building permits.

Ryerson said the mayors felt that incinerators approved by by the board should be self-contained and smoke free.

They said that backyard burning was not proposed for prohibition immediately, to give the city councils time to hold public hearings and to provide alternatives in refuse disposal for homeowners. He said the 1972 date would be sufficient time to end open air burning.

In the area of agricultural burning, the mayors suggested that only reasonable regulations be set forth in cooperation with agricultural organizations.

Vella said the problem with halting backyard burning was the need to provide an alternative. He said mandatory garbage collection should be considered along with the acquisition of new refuse disposal sites.

Richard R. Day of Rohnert Park questioned how the regulations would be enforced, saying he doubted the staff size being considered would be adequate.

County Administrator David L. Nichols said enforcement would be in the domain of the executive officer, who has not yet been selected.

The board said it would consider the suggested regulations and requested a report be prepared on proposed refuse disposal sites and estimated costs for the May 4 meeting.

The composition of an advisory board on air pollution problems will also be determined in two weeks.

Sonoma County Board Of Supervisors Also:

BIKE TRAILS — Heard requests from Jean Pratt and Mrs. Bradford Lundborg to establish an eight-mile bicycle trail starting on East Cotati Avenue, Cotati, and continuing on Old Redwood Highway to Penngrove. The supervisors said they would consider the request during budget discussions.

CLERKS — Received a request from Victor J. Van Bourg, attorney for Office and Professional Workers Union Local No. 3, to meet again next week to discuss a salary increase for law enforcement clerks. The clerks had requested that the proposed July increase be raised from 2.5 per cent to 10 per cent.

WATER — Authorized an agreement with the Marin Municipal Water District and North Marin County Water District to share costs on preliminary design work on the Sonoma-Marin aqueduct. Cost to Sonoma County will be $463,000 while the Marin districts will pay $537,000.

Hickel Defends Pollution Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel said today the $4 billion the Nixon administration plans to spend on its program to curb water pollution is a reasonable price.

"We do not exaggerate the problems and we are not asking for a commitment of resources beyond what is needed and can be used effectively," he said.

Objection to the money figure has risen from some members of Congress who feel it does not commit enough federal funds soon enough and long enough to do an adequate job.

GOP Assembly Rolls

The Independent-Journal erred yesterday in reporting that the Courte Madera Branch of the California Republican Assembly has 16 members and that its vice president is Alice Tennler. The group has 60 members and its vice president is Susan Tennler.

Council Session In Cotati To Seat Two

The Cotati City Council will meet in special session at 7:30 p.m. today to swear in newly elected Councilmen Frank J. Dolinsek and Herbert T. Winters.

The mayor and vice mayor will be chosen and returns of the successful $100,000 sewer bond election will be verified.

Causes Damage

A thief attempting to break into nine lockers Friday or Saturday at the Vallecito School, Nova Albion Way, caused $50 damage, San Rafael police reported today. One locker was pried open, police said, and its papers strewn around the room.

Pet-Spaying Clinic Held Unfeasible

A pet-spaying clinic on a mass production basis would be unfeasible because one veterinarian can spay only about six animals per day, two doctors told a group of dog and cat fanciers at the Civic Center yesterday.

Dr. C. W. Owens, president of the Marin County Veterinary Medical Association, and Dr. C. J. Peetz of Corte Madera met with pet fanciers to discuss the over-population of cats and dogs.

The two veterinarians said spaying is major surgery that costs between $30 and $75 per animal. They said the county's veterinarians would be glad to cooperate in any spaying program but warned that operations could not keep up with the pet explosion.

The meeting was called by Timothy M. Jackson of the county administrator's office as a result of a proposal for a pet-spaying clinic suggested last month by Margaret Y. Goodyear of Mill Valley.

Even though a mass clinic is impractical, the group decided that some type of clinic should be investigated. It appointed a four-member committee to investigate alternatives and costs and report back to the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

On the committee are Evelyn Kionig, president of the Marin County Cat Fanciers; Mrs. J. J. Graves, representing Mrs. Goodyear; Mel L. Morse, executive director of the Marin County Humane Society, and Dr. Peetz.

Mrs. Lee Crouch of Mill Valley and several others, including Mill Valley City Councilman Jean Barnard, insisted that a spaying clinic, even on a modest scale, would help solve some of the over-population problem. Mrs. Crouch said that private or county funds could help defray the cost of spaying for those who love their pets but cannot pay $30 to $75.

APOLLO CREW TO REPORT ON NEAR TRAGEDY

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Apollo 13's astronauts report to the nation tonight on their brush with death in a moonflight failure that cast doubt on the future of America's next manned space voyage.

James A. Lovell, John L. Swigert and Fred W. Haise scheduled a 4:30 p.m. (PST) nationally televised news conference to discuss what they saw and heard when an explosion ripped their spacecraft eight days ago and wrecked their planned moon landing. It will be repeated at 7:30 p.m. on channel 5.

The astronauts also will give their personal account of their four-day fight for survival on the 312,619 mile emergency return to earth.

Driver Is Treated For Accident Cuts

The California Highway patrol said a car driven by William E. Hildreth, 41, of 250 Emerstone Terrace, ran off the road. No other details were available.

Tempers Rise Over Lowering Of Flag

Although trustees refused to deal with the issue of whether the flag at King can be lowered to half-staff until the Vietnam war is over and made no decision on the matter, the question raised spirited comment.

Sidney K. Walton, King principal first hoisted the issue early in the meeting when he said he had ordered the flag lowered at the request of more than 200 students and staff members who presented him with a petition that such action be taken "until the killing has stopped in Vietnam."

"I think it was a reasonable, humanistic thing to do, respectful of the flag and the men who are dying in the war, many of whom are dying for rights they do not even possess in this country," said the principal, drawing applause.

Walton said he had attempted to call President Richard M. Nixon yesterday to ask permission for the flag lowering, since Asst. County Schools Supt. Stanley Friese, present at last night's meeting, had rendered the opinion the flag could only be flown at half-staff at the order of the President in time of national mourning.

When he failed to reach Nixon, Walton said he wrote the president a letter which ended "Unless I hear from you personally, I will assume you are in agreement with our position."

The board took no action on the principal's comments and the flag question was dropped, until it was raised unexpectedly by Friese about three hours later, out of a clear blue sky.

The assistant superintendent, apparently angered by hours of criticism of the board and Sup. Phillip W. Schneider by community members and employees, suddenly called for the board to take immediate action on the flag controversy.

Calling Walton's action an "apparent flaunting of the traditions of this country and this country's flag," Friese stated no elementary school principal has "the privilege to lower the flag."

"After what I have heard tonight, the way some of these employees talk, I'd suggest Mr. Walton muy a 25-foot extension to the school's flagpole and raise his flag to the highest and thank God he is in a place where such things can happen," Friese said heatedly.

Schneider immediately rose to Walton's defense and criticized Friese for his remarks. "I'm sorry you brought this up in this manner," he told the assistant county superintendent. "The board and I and Sid can deal with each other; we have our own ways of talking to each other."

"Sid and I get angry at each other, but I feel he has the right to say anything he wants," Schneider said. Commenting on Friese's implication that a lack of respect had been shown Schneider and the board, Walton commented that "I respect those people. I respect Phil Schneider; I may attack him, but he's a man and he can take it."

King Vice Principal James T. Toliver suggested Friese had spoken out to "disrupt this meeting," and urged the audience to not respond emotionally to his comments. "I think this should be dropped," Toliver stated. It was, at least for the time being.

Novato Revising City Litter Ban

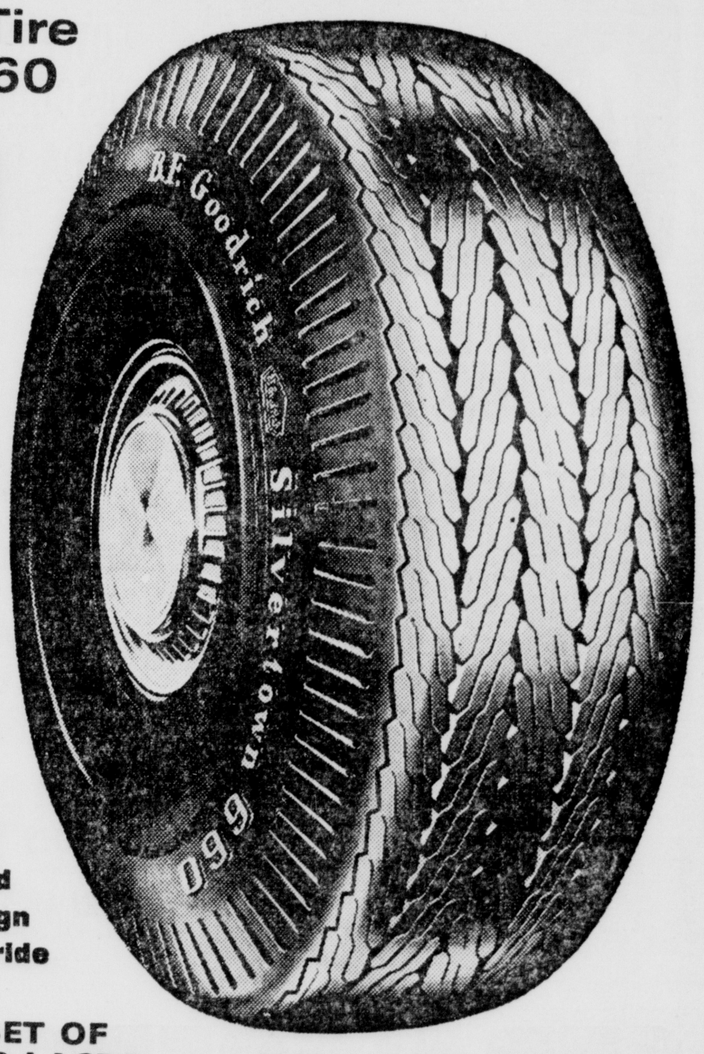

The first draft of an antilitter ordinance was approved last night by the Novato Beautification Committee, according to chairman Gail Wilhelm.

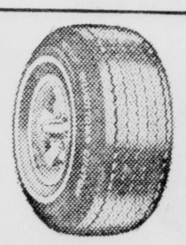

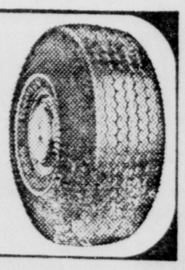

The Public Works Department had prepared the ordinance modeled on others. It differs from the present antilitter ordinance in Novato by requiring people to keep their own yards litter free.

The ordinance will now go to City Atty. Clark M. Palmer Jr. for his opinion before being submitted to the council, Mrs. Wilhelm said.

The committee was given an anonymous gift of 162 decorative cinder blocks and is trying to find out how it wants to use them, she said.

Barber also reported the department is planning a sports clinic, football, baseball and basketball, this summer at the Fairfax baseball park with coaches acting as instructors in fundamentals of each sport.

Zodiac Clues Believed Bogus

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Detectives say the infamous Zodiac killer probably was not responsible for the knife slaying discovered Sunday of Robert Salem, a 40-year-old lampmaker.

The killer wrote "Satan Save Zodiac" in blood on Salem's wall and used a sign similar to the one used by Zodiac. Police say the unidentified Zodiac is responsible for at least five slayings in the Bay Area in the past 1½ years.

Inspector Gus Coreris said Monday, "Probably the person we are after wanted us to think it was Zodiac But other than the word on the wall there is absolutely nothing linking Zodiac to the murder of Mr. Salem."

Womack Asks Bigger Drug Abuse Funding

J. Wayne Womack, candidate for supervisor from the Fifth District, has pledged increased support to the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau at a gathering at Black Point Inn.

Womack made his pledge Sunday to a group of people from Black Point and Green Point at a gathering sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Jess Fisher, owner of Black Point Inn.

"As a supervisor, I will use the careful money policies that have characterized my eight years on the Novato City Council; however, I will back every budget request and staff increase for the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau," he said.

He said that since the bureau was formed in 1967 it has not had a single staff increase. The bureau's budget has not increased in the same ratio as the drug violations, Womack said. He said he understood that the men were working a 55-to-60-hour week to keep up with the increase in drug use in the county.

Car Stereo Stolen

Stereophonic equipment valued at $105 was stolen between 9:30 and 10:15 p.m. Saturday from a car owned by Philip M. Vermeulen of 19 Canyon Oak Road and parked in St. Isabella's School parking lot, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

New Councilmen Will Be Installed

The swearing in of new councilmen and the appointment of a new mayor faces the Fairfax City Council when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Women's Club.

Also on the agenda is a request from Fire Chief Charles F. Thornton to attend the California Fire Chiefs' Conference and the resignation of William A. Oppelt, a street maintenance man.

Coffee Schedule For Shone Listed

Coffees for Raymond H. Shone of Nicasio, candidate for the Republican nomination for state Senate, will be held on Friday at three Novato homes; 11 a.m. at the home of Virginia Gallagher, 1:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. John Elloway and 2:30 p.m. at the home of Frank Galli.

Two CAP Units Participate In Rescue Testing

Marin Squadron 4 and Sonoma Squadron 42 of Petaluma were among the Civil Air Patrol units that participated Saturday and Sunday in the annual tests of search and rescue effectiveness.

Gnoss Field, Marin County's airport north of Novato, was used as a fueling facility for the exercises involving about 170 CAP personnel from throughout the state.

Twenty-nine aircraft flew 38 sorties with emphasis on a newly developed aircraft crash locater beam.

The Air Force placed three crash locator beacons in Marin and Sonoma Counties and they were located in the first day search effort, the CPAP reported.

Squadron 4, headed by Lt. Col. Francis E. Torr, director of Gnoss Field, is based at Hamilton Air Force Base.

PG&E and the environment: A balance of ecology and energy.

You and nearly 10 million other Californians whom PG&E serves demand a lot of gas and electricity to help make the quality of life here the finest in the world. At present rates of increasing use, twice as much energy will be needed ten years from now.

Our job is to serve your energy requirements adequately, reliably, at reasonable cost and with minimum intrusion on our beautiful California environment. Our commitment long has been to preserve—and when possible to enhance—the natural blessings of our state.

You and we have a common concern for clean air, pure water and preservation of the beauty of our state. PG&E works hard to balance this concern with the need to build facilities for abundant, economical and reliable gas and electric energy. Both environment and energy are essential to the high quality of life.

Conservation of life quality depends to a great extent upon natural gas and electricity. They help protect the environment. For instance, electricity operates domestic sewage and waste disposal plants, air pollution abatement systems and clean transportation facilities, and it illuminates your neighborhood streets to enhance safety. Gas and electric energy also reduce household drudgery and lighten man's burden on the job. They provide comforts, convenience and efficiency in the home, on the farm and in the factory or store.

In locating generating facilities, we give careful study to environmental and ecological considerations. We seek the viewpoints of customers, local community groups, conservationists and planning authorities. We consulted with all interested parties in selecting our Diablo Canyon Nuclear Plant site, for example, and our research engineers, scientists and consultants conducted studies involving ecology, oceanography, marine biology, hydrology, geology, soil chemistry, seismology, meteorology and archaeology.

Here, briefly, are some of the many things we're doing to protect land, water, air and your view.

The land:

We protect and preserve 176,000 acres of watershed land in the Sierra and the Cascades. Here PG&E lakes and reservoirs store the water power that generates one-quarter of your electricity, cleanly and without pollution.

The stored water also provides recreation, maintains stream-flow for the preservation of fish and wildlife, helps provide flood control and conserves water for municipal use and irrigation.

Our watersheds contain 150 lakes and 225 miles of streams—open for public enjoyment. Last year 1½ million campers, picnickers, sightseers and fishermen made use of PG&E's recreational facilities. Nearly half a million people enjoyed our 431 camp units and 198 picnic units.

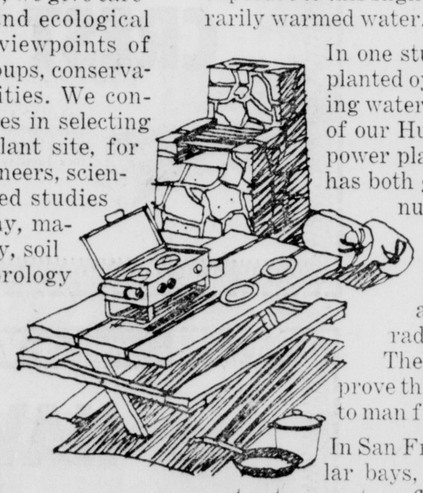

We plant fish, improve their habitat, and our weekly Stream Scout Bulletin keeps a million anglers informed on stream conditions.

The water:

Steam-electric power plants, the primary source of your electricity, must be located with access to large bodies of water for cooling. In circulating through the plant, 60° F water normally is raised in temperature to about 78° but the heat dissipates quickly when the water is returned to the bay or ocean from which it comes.

Some have questioned the the effect of warmer water on marine life. Our scientific studies in this field over 19 years have shown there is no harmful effect on aquatic life due to exposure to this slightly and temporarily warmed water.

In one study our scientists planted oysters in the cooling water discharge canal of our Humboldt Bay power plant, which has both gas-fired and nuclear generating units. At intervals some were removed and analyzed for radiological content. The scientific studies prove that no harm could come to man from eating those oysters.

In San Francisco, Morro and similar bays, there are natural daily water temperature fluctuations of more than 20°. The warming effect of the sun on Morro Bay adds 5.7 times as much heat to the water as our power plant there does. The wind, wave action and tidal currents quickly cool the warmed water from our plant by mixing and transfer of heat to the air.

The air:

Our energy helps to protect the purity of the air. The use of electricity produces no pollution at all. The generation of electricity produces very little.

Hydroelectric plants create no air or water pollution. In our steam-electric plants, we use clean-burning natural gas almost exclusively as fuel. On exceptionally cold days — less than 10% of the time — we use oil. And we are negotiating for low-sulphur oil for these limited requirements in order to improve air quality.

We're experimenting with compressed natural gas as a fuel for our truck fleet. This reduces automobile engine pollutants 90%. And we are keeping on top of developments in the electric vehicle field.

All evidence points unmistakably to nuclear generation as the answer to man's increasing energy needs. Nuclear plants are efficient. They are economical. They are safe. They are clean.

Charges that nuclear power plants release harmful amounts of radioactive materials are not true. Radiation is governed both internationally and nationally by the most rigid standards. They are established by highly responsible independent scientific bodies and governmental agencies. Commercial nuclear power plants in the United States operate well below those standards.

The view:

Last year we put 94% of all the new residential subdivision power lines underground and we'll do even better this year.

We are making headway in a continuous program to underground existing overhead distribution lines. We budgeted $25.5 million for 1968-70 to put lines underground.

Long distance transmission lines are necessary. They are routed wherever possible through areas where they will cause the least impact on the environment. Occasionally there are some objections, but we do our best to resolve these genuine public problems in the public interest.

We're seeking ways through research to bury even these lines, too.

We're designing more attractive power poles, painting towers to blend into the landscape and introducing a new type of wire that is hard to see. We're building mini-parks or "tot-lots" on some of our transmission rights of way.

We've brightened 95% of the lighted streets and roadways in our service area to make them safer and more attractive.

We make esthetics a primary concern in the construction of our offices, substations and service centers. Many have won civic awards. Wherever possible, we're modernizing, brightening, landscaping and blending our facilities into their neighborhood environment.

A longtime commitment:

PG&E's roots are deep in California—118 years—and we long have had unique incentive to protect the state's resources and natural beauty. Our early concern for conservation in the Sierra Nevada formed a basic environmental ethic in the policies which guide our company today.

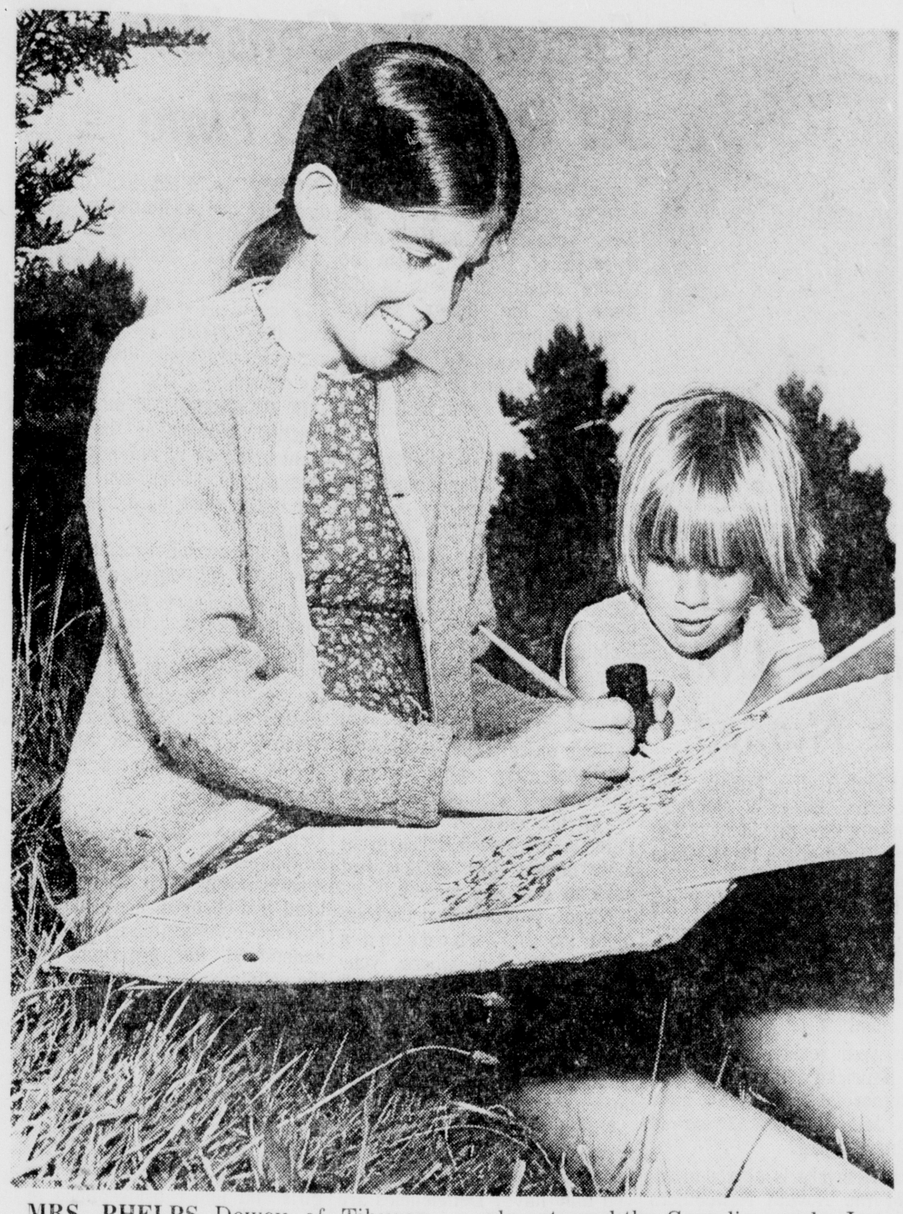

That's our record. We're proud of it and we'll keep working to improve it.

Both the benefits of an abundant supply of clean energy and the preservation of our environment are essential to the high quality of life.

Earth Creatures From Artist's Pen

MRS. PHELPS Dewey of Tiburon sketches Paradise Cay with her six-year-old daughter, Tamar, at her Tiburon hilltop home. The artist expresses her concern for birds and animals which may face extinction in pen and ink drawings. She picketed recently to urge saving the jungle cats and the Canadian seals. Jennifer Dewey is chairman for the children's art fair to be held with a bazaar at Granada School on Saturday in the school's community room. (Independent-Journal photo by Jim Kean.)

By PAT BALMES

"I stress birds and animals in conservation," says Tiburon artist Mrs. Phelps Dewey, who is chairman for the art fair at her daughter's school on Saturday. Granada School in Corte Madera will exhibit children's art from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. and hold a bazaar.

Her hair pulled back in the status pony, 28-year-old Jennifer Dewey likes to go barefoot in her shining redwood house that climbs on two-levels up a hillside high over Paradise Cay. The wood-panelled walls are hung with her detailed pen and ink drawings of animals she loved growing up on a New Mexico ranch. They show her affection for a pet raven, an owl with feathers ruffled in irritation, a handsome eagle with a hungry, hunter's eye, a newborn chick and soft, appealing hamsters, mice and small desert creatures.

"The ranch was a wonderful place to grow up with horses. A ranger once brought us a wounded eagle to nurse," she remembers. "As he got better, he became so wild I wondered if I could get the jesses off him to free him. But when he was ready to fly, he just pecked them off himself."

With her sister, Mrs. John Fell Stevenson of San Francisco (married to the late Adlai Stevenson's youngest son), Jennifer picketed a downtown store during Christmas holidays to protest the killing of jungle cats to make fur coats. "Do you know who has a coat made of ocelot-paw fur? Just the fur from all those paws! Shirley Temple Black, says the conservationist sadly.

On March 20 they joined the members of "Friends of the Earth" conservationist group to picket the Canadian Consulate in San Francisco to protest seal hunts in Canada. Two little girls from the neighborhood joined them: Kathy Anderson of Corte Madera and Lisa Dial of Paradise Cay.

Jennifer's family is active in conservation. Her father Nathaniel Owings, senior partner in the architectural firm of Skidmore, Owings and Merrill, serves on committees and makes speeches to save open space, plan cities and urban renewal, according to Jennifer. He is working on San Francisco redevelopment projects and the Pennsylvania Ave. project in Washington, D.C., and he designed the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs. Her stepmother, Margaret Owings was appointed by the Governor to the State Park Commission and is active at her Big Sur home in a conservation group called "Friends of the Sea Otter". She, too, is an artist and does stitchery influenced by New Mexico Indian design.

Jennifer and her husband backpack and canoe regularly along Paradise Cove, where "it's a rare day you can't go canoeing" according to the young mother.

Another type of drawing that Jennifer does is whimsical "made-up" scenes of harbors, wagon trains and hillside villages. "Someday I'd like to illustrate children's books," she says displaying a picture-book and color-book she did with a mother's love and professional skill "just for Tamar who is six".

Jennifer studied art at Rhode Island School of Design and Colorado School of Fine Arts. She had some "low-paying jobs", she laughs and some shows in Santa Fe and Albuquerque, N.M. "I've had success here at galleries," Jennifer says. Her work is currently hung at the Cannery in San Francisco and in Belvedere, Greenbrae and Larkspur.

ONE OF JENNIFER DEWEY'S pen and ink sketches is of a newborn chick, one of the creatures she observed closely while growing up on a New Mexico ranch. Chairman of the Granada School art fair, she currently has examples of her bird and animal sketches in various Marin galleries.

How Does Formerly Married Woman Rebuild Social Life?

By ARLEEN ABRAHAMS

Associated Press Writer

Imagine that you're a formerly married woman—recently widowed or divorced—trying to get back into the "single" world.

You're seeking not only an enjoyable one-time date, but a succession of enjoyable evenings, a relationship that offers the possibility of growth, perhaps ultimately resulting in remarriage. Which of these three prospective dates would you choose?

—The lively, man-about-town bachelor of 40.

—A recently divorced man with whom your best friend has been dying to fix you up.

—A man who has been divorced for two years, but who is three years your junior.

ACCORDING TO Dorothy Freda, author of "Love The Second Time Around," you'd be wise to bet on the younger man who has been divorced for awhile.

"Of course, to get back in the dating game, you shouldn't turn down any legitimate prospect," says the attractive, slim widow who refused to crawl into a shell when her husband died five years ago.

"The divorced man is most eager to remarry, except for a widower with children who in reality is primarily looking for a homemaker," comments Mrs. Freda, herself the mother of two children, a 22-year-old married daughter and a 17-year-old son. "Because the divorced man has lived with a woman, he knows the give and take of living with a woman; he knows that we wear cold cream or curlers to bed on occasion; that we look frightful when we're sick, and generally he doesn't idolize his ex-wife the way a widower might."

She does advise a woman who is dating a recently divorced man to be cautious. "He may propose the first date but I wouldn't advise marrying him at this time. He's just too mixed up and confused."

WHAT ABOUT dating a younger man? "I was stunned the first time a younger man asked me out," recalled the 40ish widow as she ran her fingers through her short, streaked haid. "But after interviewing hundreds of women and men and psychologists, I learned the younger man is an extremely desirable choice as a date and the future marriage partner — provided he's not looking for a mother figure."

A bachelor over 35 may make a great date, claims Mrs. Freda, "but he doesn't know too much about women and rarely is marriage material.

"And if a friend of mine says, 'I know just the perfect man for you,' I say, 'Please don't bother.' The problem with an introduction of this type is that it's too contrived, both parties feel obligated to the mutual friend and friends rarely know the real you."

No matter how eligible your first date, Mrs. Freda warns any formerly married woman not to rush to the altar. "Don't marry the first man you date even if he's The One. Know him at least a year and see him and his faults in all sorts of situations. Too often a woman straddled with bills and young children marries in desperation. It's easier to work out the financial problems than a bad marriage," continues Mrs. Freda, who returned to the business world despite a 14 year hiatus after her husband died. An administrative secretary for the department of streets and traffic for the city of Detroit, she urges any formerly married woman to get a job to ease the adjustment process.

SOONER OR later, a woman on the dating circuit is forced to face the bed scene. "Very few women will remarry without having any premarital experience," she comments, adding, "If I were dating a man for awhile and he said he loved me and didn't try to get me into bed, I'd be worried."

This doesn't mean that a woman should jump into bed with any and every man who asks. "Sex is like liquor; if it's used indiscriminately, it's a downhill trip," she comments. "Don't go to bed just because you're lonely, mixed-up or depressed. You'll only wind up

Mrs. Lindner To Head Charitable Foundation

Mrs. Edgar T. Lindner of Kentfield has been elected president of the Marin Charitable Foundation for the coming year.

The foundation allocates money to Marin agencies upon application for funds. Last year its proceeds were used for a teenage clinic for Marin Planned Parenthood, the Boys Club of Southern Marin for an arts and crafts studio, to Marin Aid to Retarded Children for its respite home, the Marin YMCA for the drop-out program, and the Marin YWCA for a girls program.

Maude Lindner has been active in Marin County and San Francisco volunteer work since coming to California from New York in 1941. Born Maude Rennie, she was raised in Westchester County, graduated from St. Margaret's School, and attended Connecticut College. After her marriage, she lived in San Francisco where she drove a canteen truck for the Red Cross Motor Corps, meeting evacues from Pearl Harbor as they arrived by Army Transport.

The Lindners moved to Ross in 1944, and Mrs. Lindner was an active member of the Sunny Hills Junior Auxiliary, initiating the Circus Gayway at the Grape Festival and serving as president of the Auxiliary in 1950 and 1951. She was elected to the board of directors of Sunny Hills and was chairman of the Grape Festival in 1957. In 1958 Mrs. Lindner planned and established the first Orientation Workshop for Sunny Hills volunteers which involved 1,000 workers over a three week period.

Mrs. Lindner is a charter member of the Founders' Auxiliary of Marin General Hospital and was among those formulating plans for the first Marin Debutante Ball. She served as liaison between the ball committee and the hospital auxiliary which sponsored the ball for two years. In 1962, when the Marin Charitable Foundation was established, she was elected to the board of directors and has served as ball chairman, first and second vice presidents. She is also a member of the Ross Valley Players, Northgate Group, Friends of Arequipa, and has been active in the Ross School and Redwood High School Parent-Teacher Association.

Should She Tell On Best Friend Who Is Running Away From Home?

DEAR HELEN:

My best friend is running away from home. She doesn't want her folks to know she is having a baby, and she won't marry the father, even if she could. He says he'll give her enough money to live on and she is going to get into a home for unwed mothers. After that, she'll get a job and just disappear. She doesn't get along with her family, so she figures they won't care. They aren't really that bad.

I will be the only person who knows where she is. If I tell, she says we'll never be friends again. But if I don't tell, and the police question me, then what? — GAIL

DEAR GAIL:

I think your friend is planning the cruelest kind of revenge on parents who perhaps don't deserve it. Tell her you'll help any way you can, but you won't leave them hanging. Read on, and perhaps you'll agree with me. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

When you have a beautiful daughter you're so proud of her it's a joy just to see her smile. Maybe we didn't let her know, or maybe we tried in all the wrong ways. Maybe we were afraid of her beauty. I wish I had the chance to try again.

Three days after her 16th birthday she disappeared. She is gone, taken away by strange ugly things like drugs and wildness we don't understand.

We don't know what awful things are happening to our girl. Will we ever see her alive again? Will she ever let us know where she is?

Will the children she always wanted so much be normal? Will the drugs she started taking a year ago affect her body and mind?

Our Joan has been missing since Jan. 13. She went to school that morning and never came home again. She left no note. Her so-called friends won't talk. Everywhere, we're met with a blank wall. Each night we pray that somehow she'll be returned to us. The sadness inside the hurt doesn't diminish as the days pass into months. The tears don't stop. The awful wonder of what we did wrong, and what terrible things are happening to her never leaves us. God is supposed to be merciful. Why doesn't He take me and let our Joan come home? — A HEART-BROKEN MOTHER

DEAR HELEN:

This is an answer to the long-haired guys who compare themselves with great men of history who had beards and such.

These great men didn't make it because of their long hair or their style of clothes. They would have been great no matter how they dressed, for they had it in them.

These men of the past lived in times of hardships. It was easier — and warmer — to have a beard, what with no instant hot water, no electric razor, etc. Their styles weren't from protests but from necessity. — A.G.M.

DEAR HELEN:

I am about 12. I want to know if you've got a boyfriend and you're a shy person, are you supposed to tell your Mom right away? I'm not saying I do, but I need information. — TWIGE

DEAR TWIGE:

Peanut Laws

NEW YOR K (UPI) — It's against the law to eat peanuts in church in Massachusetts. And in Houston, Tex., it's illegal to sell rye bread, goose liver or limburger cheese on Sunday.

It goes to show that an innocent snack may be illegal, according to American Grocers News. Some good manners are built into a law or two. In Hammond, Ind., for example, it's against the law to drop watermelon seeds on the street.

Families Can Plan Vacation Through A Computer Service

NEW YORK (AP) — For the family with two weeks of leisure in the offering, banks are now offering what may be the ultimate in effort-free activity—a computerized vacation planner.

Through a simple, new form families can match their preferences with their budget.

As it works, the bank mails the vacation planner to its credit card customers or those qualified for a credit card, who then circle their preferences on the multiple choice form. Categories include: length of vacation, money to spend, method of travel, distance, location, climate, atmosphere, accommodations, sports, social activities and others. Under location, for example, the customer circles either mountains, seashore, islands, lake areas or metropolitan areas.

THE COMPUTER then analyzes the form called "CompuTour," created by Motivational Systems, Inc. Then it selects several possible packages and the travel agency to consult. There is no charge for this professional planning service.

Hand in hand with CompuTour is an Operation Increase form, which the card holder can complete to learn if he can get additional credit for a vacation.

If he is entitled to more credit, the computer will list alternate ideal vacations and issue a travel check for the difference between what he was prepared to spend and what he can spend with the additional credit. This travel check can be taken to a travel agency and the bank will guarantee payment.

CompuTour is available to the more than 300 banks covering 90 per cent of the nation's banking areas which now use other Motivational Systems, Inc., materials for bank credit or credit card applications.

Court Allows Woman To Try For Male Job

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A federal judge has ruled that a 23-year-old woman on welfare seeking a position as a Contra Costa County animal control officer may take a test for the job despite a male-only regulation.

U. S. District Judge William T. Sweigert signed an order Friday permitting Kathleen Alexander of Pleasant Hill to take the test and set this Friday for a hearing on a preliminary injunction.

The woman filed suit saying she had been deprived of her constitutional rights to apply for the job and be considered for county employment without regard to her sex.

In her petition, Miss Alexander said she had worked with animals for the past two years, applied for the job April 3 and was notified April 7 the applicant must be male.

She also contended the "unjust discrimination" would force her to "remain on welfare roles" and require her "to remain in the status of a third-class citizen with respect to the employment market."

Midi Brides

Among the season's new bridal gowns is one with a new length, introduced by Pricilla of Boston. The designer refuses to tag it with the name midi but it seems to fit that description, being 12 inches from the floor. The new length is suggested for small informal weddings. The look for the traditional bride still is long.

Announcer Must 'Talk Canadian'

London Express Service

Ottawa, Canada, — British-born Maggie Morris, the only woman announcer on the government-owned Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's television network, says she has been sacked because of "listener complaints" that she had developed "a phoney English accent."

John Rae, CBC chief announcer, said that Miss Morris had developed "a strange sort of style."

The hangup over English accents on radio and television has reached the point where several British-born announcers and performers are attending elocution schools to learn how to "talk Canadian."

To "talk Canadian" you speak with a flat but un-nasal American-sounding accent.

Factors To Consider At Retirement Time

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Retirement should mean freedom—freedom of time, freedom of choice where to live, to do some of the things you've always wanted to do.

All too frequently, however, retirement is just the opposite, an involuntary withdrawal from society.

An editor of a publication aimed at the older among us charges that many of the nation's 20 million senior citizens (the 60-plus crowd) are in effect trapped in their environments "by virtue of low income, poor health, and the inability to adjust to radical changes in their ways of life."

"AS CONGESTION sets in and the social structure of the nation's cities turns in favor of the poor, the senior citizen finds himself virtually a prisoner of his environment," says Peter A. Dickinson. "The great mass of our older citizens just have to grin and bear it."

There's psychological environment too . . . choosing a retirement area where your capacities can flourish. Dickinson suggests that before older persons decide to change residences—if they decide to change—they should ask these questions:

Within this particular living arrangement, can you easily compensate for any deficiencies you may have? Deficiencies are anything in which you feel a temporary or permanent sense of "loss," as in physical illness, disability or a limitation you think you have, such as inability to make friends without help.

Is this a place that fully gives you the capacity to gratify or express personal tastes and preferences?

IF RETIREMENT means relocation, climate of the new home must be of major consideration, says Dickinson. There is no such thing as a "perfect" climate.

But his overall recommendation is for settling on a climate that "encourages outdoor life, is neither too hot nor too cold, has a relative humidity of around 55 per cent, variety in the amount of cloudiness, and enough variety in weather, with frequent but moderate weather changes, to be interesting and not monotonous.

Ask questions of the residents, subscribe to the local newspapers to watch weather reports (and learn also about local tax changes, construction, politics, civil strife, etc.). And understand the geography of the climate you contemplate. Do cooling winds really cool? Will the "health-giving altitude" put a strain on your heart?"

Guidelines For Rebuilding Life When Marriage Ends

feeling debased. And never continue to date a man who says, 'It's bed or else.'"

Surprisingly, she says, married men are hardly the cause for concern that women new to the dating scene fear. "Most married men will tell you right away that they're married."

HOWEVER, MEETING new men at clubs, at classes, the library, through computer dating, does demand a sense of caution.

"Never give a man your phone number right off the bat," she says. After talking to him for several hours you should be able to gauge him better. Even if you conclude he's okay, don't accept his suggestion to leave the place at which you met and go somewhere else. Make an excuse—say you're meeting friends—she advises.

"When and if you decide to give a man your phone number, ask him for his—both at home and at the office. Tell him you might need to break a date. This helps to establish his legitimacy," concludes Mrs. Freda.

Most important, she says, don't feel there are any hard and set rules to the dating scene. A widow may be told she should wait a year before resuming a social life. "This isn't important; I had my first date six months after my husband died but I did go out to social events after a month.

Don't worry about what the neighbors think. If they talk behind your back, don't worry. They won't be around to console you when you're home alone, miserable and lonely."

Rhodes Reconsiders; Council Doesn't Act

Roy R. Rhodes, who last week dramatically and bitterly submitted his resignation from the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission, last night told the city council he wished to withdraw the resignation and then stormed out of the meeting when the council did not jump at his offer.

Rhodes resigned last Wednesday evening in a hastily written note to Charles L. Tacchi, chairman of the commission, when it was discussing the upcoming move of the San Rafael Recreation Center to the old Courthouse annex.

Rhodes has opposed combining youth and senior citizen activities at the annex.

When the subject of his resignation came up on the city council's agenda last night, Rhodes told the council that he wanted to withdraw the resignation.

Councilman Fred E. Jensen said the resignation probably wasn't official anyway because all the council had was a copy of Rhodes's note to Tacchi.

But Mayor C. Paul Bettini said that he had heard "some awful things" about Rhodes's conduct the night of his resignation and perhaps the council should discuss it before dismissing the whole thing.

With that, Rhodes told the council, "It's okay with me. I've got more time than money," and headed for the exit.

Bettini tried to reason with him and said that he was only expressing his own opinion, but Rhodes said "Take your time. I've got lots of it," and walked out.

City Mgr. James H. McCown told the council that Rhodes's action was an example of some of the difficulty the parks and recreation commission has had.

"He's inclined to be hot-tempered," McCown said.

Mitchell Press Aide Out Of Job?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, who recently hired a press aide for his wife, has decided to dismiss his own image-maker.

Jack C. Landau, director of the Justice Department's information office under Mitchell, has been given his walking papers, according to sources close to the attorney general.

Asked about the report Monday, Landau acknowledged he was looking for another job, but contended he would remain at Justice as long as Mitchell wants him to stay.

But sources close to Mitchell said Landau, a former Washington reporter, was told he did not fit the mold of what an administration spokesman should be.

The theft took place from the closed business between 6:30 p.m. Friday and 8:25 a.m. Sunday, police said.

Tempers Flare Again On Proposed Animal Ordinance

By C. P. McCARTHY

The San Rafael City Council last night again postponed action on a controversial proposed ordinance regulating the keeping of animals in the city. (Another San Rafael City Council story, page 1.)

The crowds of horse lovers that had jammed two previous council meetings to protest the proposal were nowhere in sight, but the discussion still ran into raised tempers and voices.

The council was considering a revision of the original proposal.

A committee of city officials, horse owners, neighbors of horse owners, a real estate man and a representative of the county humane office had drawn up the revised proposal, but the revisions were minimal.

Discussion of the proposal began last night with Mayor C. Paul Bettini asking if anyone in the audience had anything to say about it.

No one did.

The council then discussed it and decided it wanted the city planning department and commission to be responsible for the execution of the ordinance, rather than the county poundkeeper, who doesn't work for the city.

The council also discussed and decided to keep a provision of the ordinance that says the area on which horses, and other large animals, are kept must be more than 10,890 square feet.

Things were going fine until Wade R. Powell of 71 Junipero Serra, accused the council of "discriminating against horse owners when one of our biggest problems in the county is dogs."

Bettini said there was already an ordinance for dogs.

Powell then told the council, "You're going through all this gibberish when all you're really after is horses."

Bettini took offense and replied, "That type of comment we can do without." Turning away from Powell, he said, "If anyone has anything constructive to say, we'd like to listen."

Karen S. Wachsman of 50 Palm Avenue, then asked if the issuance or denial of a permit for keeping an animal depends "on if we have one cranky neighbor complaining?"

"Does it matter who you are in the community—if you're in the in crowd or just a regular person?" she asked.

It was Councilman Fred E. Jensen's turn to take offense, and he told Mrs. Wachsman that he didn't like the insinuation "that we are a corrupt and vicious community."

Mrs. Wachsman's husband, Edward, told the council that what his wife meant was that "odors and things of this nature are subjective at best" and he asked for an objective measure of animal odors and noise before an animal permit would be denied on the complaint of a neighbor.

Bettini told him that the judgment of what is offensive would be up to the humane society.

Charles A. VanDyke of 250 Oleander Drive, Terra Linda, then asked permission to speak.

He, and other nonresidents of San Rafael, had been denied permission to speak at a previous council discussion of the proposed ordinance.

Bettini explained to him that he and the others were not allowed to speak at the previous meeting because of the size of the crowd, the number of people who wanted to speak, and the fact that the ordinance is only for San Rafael anyway.

Bettini also said that since the previous meeting, he had received a number of "insulting" letters regarding the proposal. He criticized people who make comments through the newspapers and by writing letters, but who "don't have the backbone" to come forward and discuss it with him.

VanDyke asked where he could obtain a copy of the proposal and was told at the city manager's office.

The council then directed the city attorney to revise the proposal to substitute the planning department for the poundkeeper and continued further discussion to May 18.

South Pole In Sahara Desert?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The South Pole has slid into the Sahara desert, a geologist said Monday. It happened during the last 450 million years, he said.

Prof. Rhodes W. Fairbridge of Columbia University told the annual meeting of the American Geophysical Union that he and a team of earth scientists from 11 nations reached this conclusion after exploring the Sahara in January.

Fairbridge theorized the 40 to 60 mile thick crust of the earth slid over a fluid-like zone like icebergs floating in the sea. He said other evidence supports the "continental drift" explanation for earth's evolution over 4.5 billion years of life.

Community House's Rise In Use Increases Budget

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission last night approved a $10,785 budget for the Novato Community House for fiscal 1970-71, to be submitted to City Mgr. Charles A. Brown and then the city council, according to Parks and Recreation Director Edward W. Adams.

Up $660 from this year's $10,125, the increase is due to $490 more in personnel cost and higher utilities and service charges due to the increased use of the building, Adams said.

The commission studied but did not approve a $53,675 parks budget, $21,530 more than the current budget, according to Admas, due to use of Pioneer Memorial Park for the first season and the need for more help to run it, Adams said.

Adams reported that paths should be installed around the small boat lagoon and spray pool the first part of May. It will then be filled and ready for use, he said.

McInnis Names Campaign Trio

Supervisor John F. McInnis has named three cochairmen to head his campaign for reelection to the Marin County Board of Supervisors from the First District on the June 2 ballot.

Walter F. Castro Jr., Donald A. Duerr and Chris Madera will serve as cochairmen, McInnis has announced.

Castro, from San Rafael, will represent the eastern section of the first district, while Duerr of Marinwood will represent the northern section, and Mrs. Madera of San Rafael will cover the western area.

HAZEL

Vandals Smash Another Window

Glass smashing vandals using a half-inch coupling broke a $350 window late Sunday or yesterday at the Elegant Ele Dress Shop, 1403 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael police reported today.

The owner, Eleanor J. Bloom, told police she had received a letter from Typographical Union No. 21 asking her to stop advertising in the Independent-Journal. The piece of coupling was recovered by police.

Novatan Pleads Guilty On Weapons Charge

Stephen Michael Weeks, 22, of Novato pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of possessing a dagger on Aug. 1 and additional counts of having a billy club and disturbing the peace were dismissed.

Judge E. Warren McGuire set sentencing for June 8.

Stereo Tapes Stolen

Western Weekend Shapes Up

Local organizations have contracted for three food and 13 game booths for Novato's Western Weekend, it was reported to the board last night, according to Secretary Dorothy Merla.

There are still booths available and applications will be accepted until next Monday, she said. There are also noncommercial exhibition booths available free to local organizations, she said.

The board voted to have $25, $15 and $10 prizes daily for a total of $200 during the celebration, she said.

Western Weekend Inc. has $3,083 in its treasury, she reported.

Special events scheduled so far include a family bicycle race, square dance exhibition, buckaroo breakfast, waterball fight, cross country race, melodrama, presentation of the queen and princesses and a tug-of-war between the junior chamber of commerce, chamber of commerce and former Jaycee members.

The board is looking for a barbershop quartet to perform, she added.

Safe Is Looted

Petaluma police reported today that $428 had been stolen over the weekend from the safe at Deluxe Cleaners, 145 Keller Street. No sign of forced entry was found.

County Education Panel Sees Preschool Budgets

The education services committee of the Marin County Board of Education last night approved federal, state and county applications totaling $440,456 to operate the Head Start, children's center and preschool programs in Marin the next fiscal year.

It was the first time the budgets had come under the wing of the board of education, having previously been the purview of the superintendent of schools office, according to Lawrence A. Lindberg, director of instruction services.

The budgets will now go to the full board May 4 before submittal to the various funding agencies.

In other business last night, the committee was told that local school districts will be reviewing plans for a countywide vocational education program, to be funded by federal and county funds. The full board endorsed the program at its last meeting.

The committee also endorsed, pending board approval, the aims of a study by the California Interagency Council and Drug Abuse under which local school distirct teachers would be trained in drug abuse problems and schools would develop policies on the handling of drug-using students.

Also recommended to the full board was employment of Evelyn Wolfe to conduct a one-day, countywide workshop for teachers on multiethnic studies. Her proposed fee is $50. Mrs. Wolfe is currently multiethnic consultant to Berkeley schools.

The group also endorsed a basic course of study for Marin school districts in 1970-71, including drug abuse and multiethnic studies. The program will go to the full board in June.

The committee said it would next meet at 8 p.m. May 4 at St. Vincent's School for Boys in Marinwood, where the board conducts special education classes. A tour of the class facilities will be held at 7:30 p.m.

Also last night, the board's special services committee set a special meeting for 8 p.m. next Tuesday in the county schools office to consider the county schools service fund special education budget.

It also considered a staff proposal to reapply for state funds of about $12,000 for the next fiscal year for special education of 18 to 36-month-olds. The infants are now helped under a combined state-federal program ,but it is unknown whether federal funds will be available next year, according to Edward Brennan, director of county special services. The program had previously been state funded.

Injuries Minor In Auto Crash

A 54-year-old San Rafael woman said she would see her own doctor for undisclosed injuries suffered in a head-on collision on Highway 101 yesterday.

The California Highway Patrol said Lucille R. Cook, of 219 Mark Twain Avenue, was southbound on the freeway at 10:50 a.m. at the Highway 17 off-ramp when she made a U-turn and drove north on the south side until she struck a car driven by James R. Dodds, 33, of PO Box 226, Mill Valley.

Officers said Mrs. Cook told them that she had forgotten her purse and was going back to get it.

Funds For Summer Program

The Ross School District board last night agreed to grant $650 to $900, depending on need, to the Parent-Teacher Association's summer school program, according to Supt. Thomas A. Anderson.

The board also heard a report from the arts study committee, made up of parents and teachers, which recommended that the now vacant position of music specialist be redefined to include all the arts and that the position be filled with a person responsible for developing the arts in the school program.

The Ross School District board also:

PET SHOW — Received a report on the PT-A's after school recreation program and the announcement of a pet show at 4 p.m. May 27 at the Ross School.

INSURANCE — Approved a rider to the district's insurance policy which will increase burglary coverage from $2,000 to $4,000.

AUDIT — Approved the cooperative audit arrangements made by the County Superintendent of Schools.

PERSONNEL — Accepted the resignation of Deborah Ramsey, who taught mathematics and girls physical education, and approved the hiring of Carolyn Carr as a library aide at $2 per hour for a 20-hour work week.

MEETING — Called a special meeting for 7:30 p.m. May 5 in the Ross School library for discussion of the budget. The next regular meeting will be May 18.

Kevin Patrick Moran Gave His Life For America

It has finally happened. A student who stood for right against riot has been killed.

Maybe those who have been declaiming about the "justice" of revolutionary youth demonstrating, revolting and burning will have second thoughts now (if they ever had first thoughts).

KEVIN PATRIC MORAN of Saratoga died for America early Saturday in Isla Vista in Santa Barbara County — more truly than if he had fallen in a war abroad.

To make the death doubly bitter, the bullet that killed him may have been fired by a sheriff's deputy arriving for the same purpose.

He died trying to defend a temporary bank building against arsonists and looters.

But he died not for the bank whose building it was, nor even for the university he attended. He died for decency, for civilization.

HE DID NOT GO to University of California at Santa Barbara to die. He went there to get an education. But the mob, the anarchists who do not want the university to be for education, the revolutionaries who have chosen to fight their war on campus, decreed otherwise.

The student body president called on students to help curb the rioting and destruction that raged through Isla Vista starting with a mis-named "moratorium day." Kevin Patrick Moran heeded the call. Because he did, he was killed.

WOULD HE HAVE DIED if clergymen, student leaders and businessmen had not persuaded the Santa Barbara County sheirff to delay sending his men into Isla Vista in hope that the revolutionists could be talked out of their violence? Perhaps not.

It is useless now to speculate on that. But those clergymen, those student leaders, those businessmen should take deep thought. The death of Kevin Patrick Moran should prove to them that the attempt to prevent violence by reasoning and persuasion with those who will not listen to reason and will not be persuaded in a futile attempt. It should prove to them that when a mob has declared war, it can no longer be treated as a collection of rational humans. It should prove to them that those who will not sit down to discuss and reason, but instead take to the streets, are not to be influenced by attempting to carry discussion and reason to the streets.

A FEW WEEKS BACK, the Students for a Democratic Society planned a demonstration in San Rafael. As they began arriving by car and bus, they found the city virtually an armed camp. Police were posted strategically throughout the downtown, on the ready.

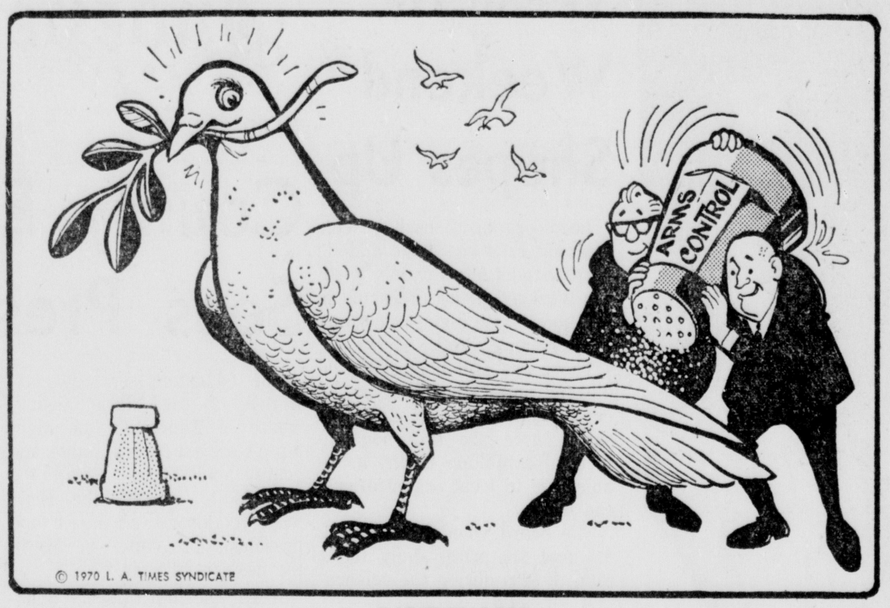

The would-be demonstrators took one look and kept going. One of them spent over an hour on a downtown telephone calling appointed gathering places to warn, "Don't come to San Rafael!"

There was no demonstration. There was no violence. Nobody was injured. Nobody died.

The keepers of peace were not well-meaning but misguided persons who sought to reason with a mob beyond reason. They were the officers of the law who stood ready to meet force with greater, more disciplined force.

THERE IS A LESSON in this for those who think soft words can curb mob violence. It is a lesson tragically emphasized by the death of Kevin Patrick Moran.

If all those in authority learn the lesson, perhaps Kevin Patrick Moran will not have died in vain.

Glad They Voted —Especially One

The lead-in line on my election handbills was "Vote for Pete, but for the love of pete, vote."

Too often people take the power of their individual vote lightly, and fail to vote, forget to vote, or vote capriciously. The Corte Madera election for councilman, in which I was elected with 861 votes, ahead of Herb Leney with 860 votes, and Dave Freed with 833 is as dramatic a demonstration as I ever want to see on the impact of "just one vote"!

And I do thank everyone who did turn out and vote, and that one voter in particular.

Arrest Report Distorts Picture

We strongly object to what we consider your recent negative slanting of the news.

On April 14 a small article appeared in the I-J entitled "Rock Concertgoers Arrested for Pot." The article included only the particulars of the arrest. No mention was made of the 350 well-behaved young people inside attending the concert. The event was not a rock concert, but a folk concert put on entirely for teenagers to raise money to replace mikes stolen from Blessed Sacrament Church. All the teen-age groups playing had donated their services. The kids in charge handled the decorating, lighting, refreshments, and clean-up. The adults who supervised were really impressed by the tremendous amount of organization, work and talent involved. It was a pleasure to see all those young people having a good time thanks to the efforts of other teenagers.

Candidate Backs Massachusetts Law

I appreciate your editorial of April 15 on the Massachusetts statute recently passed and making it illegal for their boys to be sent to fight in international undeclared wars.

My campaign platform for the Republican nomination for the office of state senator from our district carries the following plank and I quote: "I will work for the passage of a law in California that would make it illegal for California boys to fight overseas in an undeclared, unconstitutional war that the federal government has no intention of winning militarily." In my opinion, in war we either win or lose; their being no middleground. It is a supreme tragedy, nay murder, to commit our young men to a war that we have no intention of winning. Are we there just for the sake of being at war? Is it to commit national suicide by destroying the moral, economic and social fiber of the citizens of this good and great nation of ours?. . .

Defeated Candidate Praises Coverage

I believe the Independent Journal and its staff deserve a special bouquet for the excellent, thoroughly researched, and balanced coverage of the April 14, 1970 municipal elections. As one of the candidates, I was in a position to appreciate the tremendous effort which went into the preparation of the special election supplement which appeared in Marin Magazine last Saturday. You are to be congratulated for a job well done. I have no doubt that but for your special attention to these local elections, the number of persons voting and their ability to make intelligent selections would be greatly reduced.

Thank you, and keep up the good work!

School Tax Defeat Upsets Residents

I can't help but question the motives of those Novato citizens who either voted against or did not bother to vote in the recent Novato school tax levy election.

Being a newcomer to Novato, I had heard much about the apathy that exists regarding the Novato School District. Like Mark Twain's death, I felt it must be an exaggeration. However, the results of Tuesday's election validate what I had heard.

With second rate funds to run our schools, we will get, if we are lucky, second rate schools. The product of which will be second rate students. my children and yours.

I am sure financial considerations played a large part in the defeat of this levy. Therefore, I raise this point, will our homes and property increase in value at the same rate as comparable areas in Marin with better schools than ours? The answer obviously is no . . .

Half-Million 'Fine' For Marijuana?

Regarding the Frank Werber case, the sentence certainly doesn't fit the crime (editorial, April 10), but maybe the Internal Revenue Dept. will get going on this one. With over 400 lbs. of marijuana, at $100 oz. fine, it should be of real interest to them. Would be around a $500,000 take.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

An American business man, writes John Hart Macy, was invited to the home of a prominent British socialite and became so engrossed in the latter's life story that he absentmindedly selected a very red chinaware apple from a dish on the table and bit into it. It broke, of course, leaving him with a mouthful of priceless crockery. "Really, old man," remonstrated the host, "you should have seen that that apple was not genuine." "Sorry," spluttered the guest, "but I guess we Americans simply cannot recognize Red China!"

A neighbor of Peter Lind Hayes has a darling little seven-year-old daughter whom he likes to question about her days in school. One evening she reported proudly, "This morning we started learning math-e-matics. Did you study math-e-mat-ics when you went to school, Daddy?" "I certainly did, my dear," he beamed. "How did you like it?" "It was yummy," she told him. "Isn't Page Five GOOD?"

New Violence At University Adds To Drive For Tougher Laws

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The eruption of new campus violence at Berkeley is certain to fire up the legislature's taste for more laws to control the problem.

Prominent among such bills already introduced, but dormant until now, is one by Assemblyman Don Mulford, R-Oakland, and coauthored by 25 other members of the lower house.

It would make it a felony, rather than a misdemeanor, for anyone "with the intent to cause a riot" to engage "in conduct which urges a riot, or urges others to commit acts of force or violence, or the burning or destroying of property and at a time and place and under circumstances which produce a clear and present and immediate danger."

His bill also declares that experience in enforcing the current law against inciting to riot "has shown that making a violation of the acts prohibited therein a misdemeanor is not sufficient to prevent riots."

THE CURRENT LAW has not been tested in court, but a similar federal law is headed for a test.

The potential weakness in such laws is the difficulty is in proving intent, a hitch that Mulford hopes to resolve.

Mulford's bill went to the liberal criminal Procedure Committee, where it was shelved by Mulford after he counted noses.

But his office now promises prompt action to revive it with "corrective" amendments to leave its effect substantially intact.

Campus rioters are in for a hard jolt when they find out how much society is willing to sacrifice for order. It may come as a jolt to all of us.

LOWELL MENGEL II, a candidate for the GOP nomination for the state Board of Equalization, is 26 years old — but you'd never guess it from his campaign literature.

According to his blurbs, Mengel has "10 years of experience in business and industry," and "has been active in local and Republican politics since 1956."

He must have been a 12-year-old fireball.

DON PINKERTON, candidate for the GOP nomination for state Senate, really pulled off a coup by getting Gov. Ronald Reagan's daughter, Maureen, as guest speaker at his campaign dinner. It's hard to imagine she makes such a rare political appearance without checking with someone, perhaps a relative, high in the administration.

MINISKIRTS make for safe driving, according to the California Trucking Association's newsletter.

"While it may fall short in some respects," it noted, the miniskirt "has won the praise of insurance underwriters as a safe driving costume. It gives women greater leg freedom for braking and acceleration."

Fate Of Three Men Detracts Attention From Fate Of World

VIENNA — Nothing could better illustrate the contradictions of our time than the universal concern for three courageous men fighting for their lives in space while the fate of millions, hardly less than the human species, turns on the obscure struggle around a conference table little understood and less appreciated. The strategic arms limitation talks are so shrouded in the rhetoric of diplomacy and military technology as to be all but untranslatable in terms of human understanding.

The gulf of suspicion between the Soviet Union and the United States is wide. Whether it can be bridged in this second round of the SALT talks is problematical. The word circulated privately by the Russian delegation is this:

If there is no progress toward a pause in the arms race in the next two or two and one half months the Russians will sign off and a new spiral will begin.

This may be bluff. On the other hand, it may express the conviction of those in the Kremlin who want an arms limitation that time is running out. They are on a short leash as the pressure of the military bloc increases to get on with the competition.

THERE WILL BE NO agreed moratorium to suspend for six months or more development and deployment of the American MIRV, the multiple independently targeted reentry vehicle, and the Russian MRV, which is a many-headed missile without independent targeting. The Petagon has announced that deployment of MIRV will begin in June.

From the Russian viewpoint, the greatest obstacle in the way of an agreement is "linkage." This means linking an arms limitation agreement to the settlement of outstanding political issues dividing the Soviet Union and the United States.

The Russians quote chapter and verse from President Nixon's lengthy message on the "state of the world" to prove that he links Vietnam, the Middle East and other trouble spots with the arms talks. He is asking us, as a Russian close to the Soviet delegation put it, to deny help to our allies and this we will never do. Insistence on linking Vietnam and the Middle East to an agreed and verifiable pause in the arms race can mean failure.

All this as it comes from Russian sources may, of course, be no more than the initial propaganda posture. Change could come quickly with fresh proposals put forward by one side or the other. Within the American delegation there has been intense activity ever since the delegates and the backstopping experts arrived in Vienna. This may signify a proposal will be put on the table shortly after the serious sessions begin. With the tightest security enforced here, such a proposal will be held to the knowledge of a half-dozen men until the actual unveiling.

ON BOTH SIDES allies are a continuous worry. The NATO partners, particularly France and West Germany, must be constantly reasurred that no "deal" will sacrifice their security. Gerard C. Smith, the chief American delegate and director of the Arms Control Agency, stopped in Brussels before coming to Vienna to give the NATO Council a thorough briefing.

The Russians have similar worries with the Warsaw Pact powers. No agreement must seem to sell out to the "imperialists" Propaganda blasts from Red China put Moscow in the "revisionist" category conspiring with the "imperialists' to the shame and disgrace of all true communists.

This is a serious inhibition to agreement. Both sides, and particularly the Russians, are constantly looking backward to be sure that restive partners do not get out of hand.

AS A SHOW of strength the Russian navy is engaged in the most extensive maneuvers in the history of a fleet that has expanded at a geometric ratio in the past two decades. Maneuvers proclaimed for the Atlantic, the Pacific and the Mediterranean are in progress. The commander of the Russian navy, Fleet Adm. Sergei Gorshkov, boasted that Russia has missile-carrying submarines capable of delivering a "blow across thousands of miles."

That has a strange sound in this neutral capital where the two nuclear giants are ostensibly trying to abate the arms race. A gesture for Lenin perhaps or, read in the Warsaw Pact capitals, proof that the Russians have staked their claim on the seven seas.

Japan Our Political Pal, But Not Trade Partner

By PHIL NEWSOM UPI Foreign News Analyst

Japanese ability to separate politics from economics is illustrated nowhere better than in its relations with the United States and the Soviet Union.

A security treaty links the United States and Japan. The United States has promised to return Okinawa in 1972 and Japanese Premier Eisaku Sato has declared the two nations will go forward together to create a new era in the Pacific.

THEN CONSIDER the case of Soviet-Japanese relations.

No peace treaty ending World War II ever has been signed between them. The Russians have declared nonnegotiable Japan's demands for return of two small islands in the Kuriles seized by the Russians after World War II. Against a possible Soviet threat to the large northern Japanese island of Hokkaido, Japan has stationed there 50,000 men, or one-third of its total ground defense forces, and is planning to bolster its small naval forces in the same area.

The small islands in question are Kunashiri and Etorofu, which are important chiefly because they lie within important fishing grounds.

NOT HELPING Japanese-Soviet relations have been the Russian seizures since World War II of some 1,200 fishing boats and 10,000 Japanese fishermen.

It would seem that relations scarcely could be worse. And that might be, except that in matters of trade, relations are excellent and getting better.

On Jan. 24 the two signed an agreement under which Japan will design and help construct a new Siberian port southeast of Vladivostok.

It was the second large joint project agreed upon between the two for exploitation of Siberian wealth. An agreement signed in August, 1968, called for Japan to provide $163 million in machinery and consumer goods in exchange for Siberian timber.

Among other possible joint projects is a proposed 1000-mile natural gas line to fuel Hokkaido's chemical, paper and pulp industries. Other proposed projects include Siberian copper and oil.

IN CONTRAST to this state of affairs is the growing chill between the United States and Japan over Japan's refusal to put voluntary limits on its textile exports to the United States. The American textile industry is estimated to lose around $300 million per year to imports of Japanese woolen and synthetic textiles.

In congress, on April 13, Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means committee introduced a trade bill sharply limiting imports of textiles and shoes.

It was what the Japanese had been warned would happen, and it seems likely the protectionist list will not be limited to just those two items.

Park Bond Outlook Darker After School Tax Issue Defeat

The Novato City Council has called for a $2.9 million park bond issue on the June 2 primary election. It is to be divided into two propositions. One will be for $2,365,000 for purchase of the O'Hair property, improvements to it and the completion of Pioneer Memorial Park. The other will be for $600,000 for a community center.

By sheer coincidence, we're sure, the county clerk's office assigned the first proposition as N and the second as O. Put together, they spell "no" on the two park propositions.

Proponents do not see this as a disadvantage, but already are starting a campaign to urge the voters to vote "yes" on "no."

THE NOVATO SCHOOL tax limit increase missed by a narrow margin of votes in the election. The election came closer than the survey which the chamber of commerce made preparatory to a Congress for Community Progress.

In tabulating answers to the questionnaire, 590 answered that they felt that the schools were adequately financed against 482 who did not. This was a greater spread than in the election.

It is of interest to note that the answer to a question about school discipline was decidedly in favor of more discipline. There were 987 who felt the schools should have stricter discipline against 172 who felt that it was satisfactory.

One thing that didn't help and caused comment heard all over the city was the "hippie day" last Friday at Loma Verde School.

In the face of the riots of that element on the Berkeley campus, the school held a "hippie day" when teachers and students were to attend dressed as hippies. Some parents objected to this.

If the parents object to such things, it will not do the school district any good to project such an image. The board may try a second time to pass a tax increase in July. Things such as "hippie day" won't help the district.

WITH THE SCHOOL tax increase not receiving the necessary majority, those who are pushing for the $2.9 million park bond issue have a big job cut out for them.

Many people around Novato say they would support a smaller bond issue for park purchase only. Then there are those who say that the streets need repairing more than the city needs another park.

June 2 will show whether the people want a park at that cost. The new city council must then decide whether to try for a smaller park bond issue if the large one fails. It must also decide whether to give the streets the next chance at a bond issue.

ART BUCHWALD

Genesis Brought Up To Date For Earth Day, A.D. 1970

In the beginning God created Man, which according to all the latest birth control statistics was a big mistake.

And Man said, "Let there be light," and there was light, and Man called this light "fire," and at first it was used to warm him and let him cook his food and protect him from the wild animals. But Man discovered fire could be used to burn down a forest or burn someone else's hut or tree house or a witch at stake or soft coal or oil, which made the air turn dark grey and black. And this made Man start to cough and his eyes to run and his sinuses to hurt. And Man finally said, "God, what are you doing to me?"

And after God made the rivers and lakes and streams and oceans, Man dumped all the refuse from the earth into the waters and it killed the fish and the plants and even the oxygen, and the waters turned muddy and brown and smelled, and no one could drink from them or bathe in them, or even sail in them. And finally Man shook his fist at the heavens and said, "For God's sake, knock it off."

AND MAN CREATED the wheel, and this was good because Man no longer had to walk through the forests or up and down the mountains or to school. And then Man created the engine which turned the wheels, and Man no longer had to depend on animals to pull him on the roads and paths. And Man called the new creature "automobile," and it changed the face of the earth, for Man was forced to cut down the trees and flowers and pour concrete on the land to accommodate the automobile, and drill into the earth and the sea to fuel it, and sometimes the ocean turned black and the air turned brown, and as the automobile multiplied there was less space to park it, and it was unable to move any faster than a horse, and Man behind the wheel screamed, "Good God, am I ever going to get home?"

And Man created the plastic bag and the tin and aluminum can and the cellophane wrapper and the paper plate and the disposable bottle, and this was good because Man could then take his automobile and buy his food all in one place and he could save that which was good to eat in the refrigerator and throw away that which had no further use. And pretty soon the earth was covered with plastic bags and aluminum cans and paper plates and disposable bottles, and there was nowhere left to sit down or to walk. And Man shook his head and cried, "Look at all this God-awful litter."

AND MAN LEANRED to split the atom and then he took what he learned and he put it in a bomb to defend himself from other men, and he set off the bomb to see if it would work, and it did. And Man was very pleased with himself because he was safe from other men and this was good. But other men learned to split the atom, too, and they put it in their bombs and so Man had to make bigger bombs, and the other men had to make bigger bombs, and the explosions put radioactive material in the air which got into Man's food and water and made that which was nourishing inedible and that which would quench thirst undrinkable. And again Man became very frightened and said, "God help us all."

But by this time God had had it and He sent down word to His loyal servant, Ralph Nader: "Now, Ralph, the first thing I want you to do is build an ark and then . . . "

Symphony Sets Second Youth Concert Friday

The Marin Symphony Guild, in cooperation with Local 6 of the American Federation of Musicians, will present the second program in its Music for Minors series Friday at the Mary Silvera School in Marinwood.

There will be two 40-minute performances, one at 10 a.m. and the other at 11:10 a.m.

Fourth, fifth and sixth graders in the North Marin-Terra Linda-Novato area have been invited.

In the program titled "An Introduction to Modern Music," members of the Marin Symphony conducted by Hugo Rinaldi, director of music, San Rafael Schools, will explore and demonstrate contemporary musical sounds; atonal, bi-tonal, serial and avant garde music; orchestral moods and colors; and pentatonic and whole tone scales.

Exerpts will be performed from Ravel's "Bolero" and Mozart's "The Impresario." The overture to the latter will be one of the numbers played at the Marin Symphony Orchestra concert Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the College of Marin gymnasium.

3 Candidates Nights For Judge Hopefuls

There will be three different types of candidates nights for the 13 candidates for Marin Municipal Court judge, April 29, May 14, and May 20, sponsored by the Leagues of Women Voters of Central and Southern Marin and the Marin County Barristers Club.

The first session at 8 p.m. April 29 at the supervisors chambers, Marin Civic Center, will consist of comments by the candidates.

The schedule calls for each speaker to talk seven minutes, with Justice Byrl Salsman as moderator, but no time has been alloted for questions from the audience.

The second session at 8 p.m. May 14 at Marin Catholic High School gymnasium, Kentfield, will consist of "no formal speeches and little organized program," the sponsors announced.

The intent of the meeting entitled "Judicial Candidates on Trial" is to give the voter a chance to talk to candidates on a face-to-face basis. Each candidate will be assigned to a station, and may distribute written material to visitors.

The third session at 8 p.m. May 20 at Park School Auditorium, Mill Valley, will consist of answers from the candidates to three specified questions and written questions from the audience.

Candidates will be asked to respond to the following questions:

1. What type of special training and experience do you consider essential to qualify as a judicial candidate?

2. How would you improve the efficiency of administration of the municipal court in Marin County?

3. How would you as a municipal court judge enforce the marijuana and other drug laws?

Justice Richard M. Sims Jr. of Belvedere, an associate justice on the First Appellate District Court of Appeals, will be moderator.

Thieves Get Cash

Checks worth $54 and cash totaling $270 were stolen Wednesday from the office of Montecito Richfield service station at Third Street and Grand Avenue, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Relics Are Possibly Coronado's

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A corroded brass buckle and several bits of wrought iron nails have been found in what are believed to be the ruins of a camp built by part of Francisco Vasquez de Coronado's 1540 expedition from Mexico into the American southwest.

The relics were reported Sunday by Stan Delaplane, a columnist for the San Francisco Chronicle, who with Gerald Robechaud of Lake Havasu City, Ariz., led eight jeep loads of explorers over the weekend into the barren desert mountains south of Lake Mead in northwestern Arizona.

The existence of stone ruins in this wild sun-baked terrain has been known for 10 years, since a Lake Havasu city pilot, Buster Haile, sighted them from the air.

Five years later, Delaplane and Robechaud, a retired industrialist who lives at the resort town on the Colorado River, reached the spot roughly 90 miles north of Lake Havasu in four-wheel drive vehicles.

They found extensive stone ruins in a natural ampitheater where a cottonwood grove was fed by two bubbling springs.

The explorers Sunday who found metal artifacts with electronic detectors reported stone ruins of three houses inside a stone corral roughly a square mile in area and with a holding corral at one end with 10-foot walls.

Although Indian-built stone ruins often occur throughout the southwest, their pattern is different and they do not yield brass and iron — metals the Indians did not know before the white man brought them.

Supervisor Pay Hike In Assembly

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Salary increases totaling $13,816 a year for Marin's supervisors and district attorney have been proposed in bills introduced in the Legislature.

Each of Marin's five supervisors would get a pay jump of $2,000 a year, from the current $12,000 to $14,000, effective in January.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales' annual salary would jump by $3,816. Last year, his salary was $24,000, then went to $28,000 in November. Under the proposed legislation, it would become $31,816.

In Sonoma, the supervisors' salary would be unchanged at $15,996. But Dist. Atty. Kiernan Hyland's salary would go from $24,000 to $31,816. Last year, his salary was $21,600.

The supervisors' pay bill is AB 468 by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, and the district attorneys' bill is AB 1413 by Assemblyman Robert G. Beverly, R-Redondo Beach. Both are to be heard on May 14 by the Assembly Local Government Committee, chaired by Knox.

Knox's bill was asked by the County Supervisors Association of California, and Beverly's bill by the District Attorneys Association of California.

Knox's bill initially only proposed an increase in the salary for the Contra Costa County auditor, but was amended.

His bill would eliminate the current requirement that the grand jury initiate recommendations to increase the salary of supervisors, instead setting a uniform pay schedule according to population.

Counties with 200,000 or more population, such as Marin, would pay supervisors $14,000 a year. The next jump, to $15,500, would come with a population of 300,000.

In Sonoma's case, the current salary would be grandfathered in to the bill. Without this provision, Sonoma supervisors would see a $1,996 cut in their pay.

Sonoma supervisors, unlike those in Marin, work full time by law.

Beverly's bill for district attorneys would tie district attorneys' salaries to that of a superior court judge, now $31,816 — and adjusted every September on a cost-of-living basis.

For counties with 200,000 or more population, thus both Marin and Sonoma, the salary of the district attorney would be equal to the judge's salary.

Office Chain Planned By Congress Hopeful

Russell R. Miller of San Francisco, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress, yesterday promised that if elected he would open neighborhood offices to keep in touch with his constituents' "wishes and needs."

Miller, in a San Rafael press conference, said "a congressman's real worth is proven by how he services his district. He should not become so far removed from his constituents that he no longer is in touch with their wishes and needs."

Miller is seeking the Sixth District seat held by incumbent Republican William S. Mailliard of San Francisco. Also seeking the Democratic nomination is attorney Zaide Kirtley of San Francisco.

Miller pointed out that Miss Kirtley does not live in the Sixth District, which includes western San Francisco and Marin below Hamilton Air Force Base.

Miller criticized Mailliard for using his allocation of eight staff members primarily in Washington, saying at least four should be available in local district offices so that voters will not feel "government is impervious to their wishes."

"To be effective against an impersonal and distant federal bureaucracy, the people need a congressman who will go out of his way to find out their wishes — a congressman who won't take the voters for granted," Miller said.

He insisted his challenge to the longtime incumbent was "not hopeless, although it is a formidable task." He volunteered that he was not running for publicity or to get exposure for any other public office.

Envisioning a chain of congressional field offices in each town, Miller said he would depend on a staff of volunteers, "people whose judgment the voters regard highly."

He said he would raise "more issues as the campaign goes on."

Bank Of America Suffers Los Angeles Firebomb Harm

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two firebombs were thrown through a plate glass window of a Bank of America branch today, touching off a blaze which caused $25,000 to $30,000 damage, authorities said.

Police said they did not know if the incident was linked to disturbances in Santa Barbara 100 miles north. Firebombs have been thrown into a Bank of America branch there which replaced a building burned down by anti-establishment rioters last Feb. 25.

The latest incident was in East Los Angeles where arsonists have ignited fires at a high school and an office of the board of education in recent weeks, the fire department said.

Police said witnesses reported three persons fled in a small foreign automobile moments after the gasoline-fueled bombs exploded about 2 a.m. in the branch at Wabash and Sentinel.

A third firebomb was found unignited in a cardboard carton beside the one-story stucco building, firemen said.

A bank spokesman, who made the damage estimate, said office equipment and drapes were burned. The spokesman said the bank would open at its regular time.

No injuries were reported.

Variance On Studio Unit Is Postponed

Whether to allow a setback variance for an Inverness studio apartment atop an existing garage without a permit was delayed yesterday by Zoning Administrator Werner Von Gundell.

The request came from two San Franciscans and drew about a dozen neighbors to Divic Center for the hearing who appeared evenly divided on the permit.

The pair, Rev. Robert Hayburn and his brother, Edward, seek clearance on their studio apartment at 27 Portola Avenue in Inverness Park, which is about a dozen neighbors to Civty line. The zoning ordinance requires 25 feet front setback and five feet side setback.

Von Gundell said he would confer with county counsel before making a decision.

The Zoning Administrator also:

HORSE — Poseponed a decision on a request by J.P. Blaisell Jr., a banker who lives at 380 Lowell Avenue in Tamalpais Valley, to keep one horse in a corral on his property. Richard Lucier of 378 Lowell Avenue, representing 60 neighbors, protested that the horse would cause insect, rodent and sanitary problems. Assistant Zoning Administrator Ralph D. Cairns said he wants to see the property before deciding.

TRELLIS — Approved ornamental trellises to be built near the swimming pool at the home of F.B. Latini, 226 Woodland Road in Kent Woodlands. The trellises would be about 8.5 feet, exceeding the 6-foot height limit on fences.

Tax Reform Plan Moving On Schedule

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan's massive tax reform plan was moving on schedule through the Legislature today after its backers fought off attempts to trim both tax reductions and increases from it.

The measure moved into the Assembly Ways and Means Committee after the Revenue and Taxation Committee approved it Monday.

Sponsors say they hope to move it out to the floor late this week or early next, with a vote on whether to send it to the Senate planned before May 1.

However, the legislation needs Democratic votes to clear both houses, and some Democrats questioned whether it has enough. Assemblyman Ken Cory D-Van Nuys, told the bill's author "I don't honestly see how you can get enough votes to pass this."

The author, Republican William T. Bagley of San Rafael, replied "I don't think it's that bad. I think the picture looks pretty good."

Cory refused to vote at all on the bills, while three Democrats voted no. But all nine Republicans and two Democrats provided enough votes to move the measures past their first test.

Bagley first had to turn back attempts to make major changes in where the revenues in the plan come from and where they will go. In all, the program involves almost $1 billion in tax reductions, increases and shifts — with the prime aim of reducing the tax a homeowner pays.

These amendments lost:

— Elimination of the one-cent raise in the state sales tax, which is vital to financing the tax cuts. Assemblyman Vincent Thomas, D-San Pedro, said fishermen in his district and labor leaders opposed the raise.

— Switching $388 million in property tax relief for homeowners to new aid for local schools. Democrat Bob Moretti of Van Nuys offered this on the spur of the moment after needling by a Republican that he make a specific proposal on how to give schools more money. The attempted alteration lost 9-6, Democrats in favor, Republicans opposed.

— Easing the tax increase on oil companies, offered by Republican James A. Hayes of Long Beach. Bagley's bill would limit the present special 27.5 per cent income tax break for oil companies to roughly 15 per cent maximum. Hayes proposed allowing 22.5 per cent, but lost 5-8.

Hub Planners Set Hearing On Signs

The San Anselmo Planning Commission last night called a public hearing for 8 p.m. May 18 in city hall on the community's first sign ordinance.

The measure has been in the works for more than a year. Reviewing the ordinance last night, the commission asked for further rewriting of the section under which variances would be permitted.

In other business, the commission postponed until its next meeting May 4 consideration of a use permit for a coin-operated laundry at 11 Madrone Avenue and put off for further study a policy of allowing certain home decks not to be considered as architectural features.

Keys Stolen

A thief who broke into a construction trailer owned by the Campbell Construction Co. Saturday parked at San Rafael High School stole a ring of keys, San Rafael police reported today. The keys were to various locks at the construction site, police said.

Water Color Artist Will Give Lecture

Water colorist Robert E. Wood, winner of many national and international prizes, will give a public lecture and demonstration Friday at 7:30 p.m. in Campbell Hall of Christ Church, Santa Rosa and San Carlos Avenues, Sausalito.

Desk Is Looted

A purse, wallet, $25 and credit cards owned by Fola D. Van Buren of 201 Carlbee Isle, Novato, was stolen Friday at 3 p.m. from a desk at Wardrobe Resale, 223 Third Street, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

New York, N.Y. There's an exclusive formula that in case after case promptly relieves such burning itch and pain of piles for hours and it also helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoid tissues caused by inflammation. And it does it without narcotics or astringents that often sting or smart.

Tests by doctors on hundreds of patients showed this so. The answer is Preparation H®. No prescription is needed for Preparation H.

Span Board Will Study Bus Subsidy

A request to subsidize a Southern Marin feeder bus company at $12,000 a month will be considered by a committee of Golden Gate Bridge District directors at 9:30 a.m. on Thursday at toll plaza offices.

Marin Transit Systems, the Marin City-based operator of the feeder system, also has asked the county to subsidize it with $4,000 a month.

The joint transportation and finance-auditing committee also will consider a proposal that the district subsidize commuter charter buses, and a proposal for design consulting services from Walter Landor.

Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring is to present his candidates for the district's bus manager, a presentation that probably will be considered behind closed doors so the committee can recommend which to hire.

The regular meeting of the board of directors will be at 9:30 a.m. on Friday. The agenda includes formal approval of last Thursday's decision by the "committee of the whole" to invest some $700,000 in a Sausalito ferry system.

In a related matter, the streets and transportation committee of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors will meet at 2 p.m. on Thursday in Room 228 of City Hall to consider the district's proposed downtown bus routes.

Chrysler Reports A Poor Quarter

CENTER LINE, Mich. (AP) — Chrysler Corp. today blamed lagging sales and inflationary pressures for its loss of nearly $30 million in the first quarter of 1970.

Townsend and Chrysler President John Riccardo released the firm's quarterly report on the eve of today's annual meeting of stockholders.

General Motors and Ford sales also ran well behind 1969 totals for the first quarter. Only American Motors, smallest of the auto firms, showed a gain.

Townsend said consumer demand for automotive products was generally lower in both the United States and Canada and total North American retail sales of passenger cars, excluding imports, were down 13 per cent from a year ago.

Five Fined For Blocking Aisles Of Board Session

OAKLAND (AP)—Five Oakland men have been fined from $50 to $250 on charges of blocking the aisles at a Board of Education meeting. Other charges have been dropped.

The men had been accused of disrupting a meeting May 20, 1969, in protest of the appointment of a new school superintendent.

After a seven-week trial, longest misdemeanor trial in Alameda County history, the men were found innocent March 27 on seven charges, including disturbing the peace.

A hung jury was ruled in 10 other counts. A new trial had been set for Monday, but the district attorney's office reduced charges and all five pleaded no contest. The 10 remaining counts were dismissed.

Kremlin Seeks Ford's Help On Big Truck Plant

MOSCOW (London Express News Service) — Ford has been asked by the Soviet government to build the world's biggest truck plant on the Kama River, about 300 miles east of Moscow.

The plant which the Russians want completed by 1974, will produce 150,000 trucks a year. It is expected to cost at least $600 million.

Henry Ford, concluding a week-long visit here, said Monday night that his company would study the Soviet proposal to see if it was possible to build the plant.

He did not know, he said, whether American government trade restrictions with the Communist bloc would permit the deal. Were trucks stategic vehicles, for instance?

Monday Ford saw Premier Alexei Kosygin, who was looking very healthy, he said.

"We talked about pollution and he said that the air in the Soviet Union was very clean," Ford said.

"I said that because the world was round the pollution we put in the air in the States would eventually reach the Soviet Union.

"He said: 'But here the world goes the other way,'" said Ford, laughing. "I thought that was a very quick comeback."

Segregation Held Distorting Factor To White Youth

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special Senate committee opening a six-month probe of the effects of segregation on American society has heard testimony that racism has contributed significantly to the revolt of white, middle-class youths.

"There is strong evidence to suggest that segregation damages the privileged, middle-class white child," Negro psychologist Kenneth Clark told the Senate Select Committee on Equal Educational Opportunity Monday.

Citing the hippie movement, the drug cult, the hostility and random destructiveness of the New Left and the increasing rebellion against parental and other authorities, the noted psychologist added:

"The rebellion is symptomatic of a profound moral conflict and distrust and rejection of authority as morally hypocritical by these young people.

Marin City Man To Face Charge

Page posted $1,000 bail and was released from jail.

No Generation Gap In World Of Sports

A baseball mitt or boxing glove, an old football cleat or a hockey stick is a common bond between young and old.

Old duffs like you and me can take our kids to a fight or a hockey game or tennis match and cheer in the same volume, groan with the same amount of agony, speak the same lingo in the same key.

I know, the kids of today have their own language in most respects, except sports. There is no age on language barrier on an athletic field. We all walk arm in arm.

A classic example of the gapless athletic generation will unfold on a sandlot in El Verano, Sonoma County, at noon this Saturday during the opening of the Valley of the Moon Little League.

Three guest participants in the traditional opening day ceremonies will be Mark Anthony Koening, "Babe" Pinelli and Ernie M. Smith.

Somewhat Of An Age Difference

It should be noted here that Little League is for boys in the 9-12 age group.

And Koenig is 68, Pinelli 74, Smith 76.

They, my friends, are as at home on a ball field today as are the tykes they will honor with their presence at noon Saturday. They understand each other.

A lot of dads will remember Koenig, shortstop for what many experts consider to be one of the greatest teams of all time — the 1927 New York Yankees. Batting second in the lineup ahead of Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, Koenig hit .285 in 1927, led the Yankees to a four-game world series sweep over Pittsburgh with a 9-for-18 batting performance, and the following season batted a career high of .319

Now a resident of Glen Ellen, Mr. Koenig spent 12 years in the majors, six with the Yankees, the rest with Detroit, Chicago Cubs, Cincinnati and the old New York Giants. He played in five World Series, three with the Yanks, and two against them with the Cubs (1932) and Giants (1936).

His lifetime batting average was .279

Worked Larsen's Perfect Game

Pinelli, one of the all-time great umpires, is best remembered as the man who called the balls and strikes in Don Larsen's perfect World Series game in 1956. It was the Babe's final game as an ump and what a finale!

But, what few people realize is that Pinelli, born Rinaldo Angelo Paolinelli, (which is why they called him Babe,) umpired in the major leagues for 22 years WITHOUT MISSING A SINGLE GAME! A truly remarkable record for this Boyes Hot Springs resident.

Further, in his younger days, Pinelli was a great little third baseman with eight years in the majors, starting at Chicago American, thence to Detroit and the final six years as a Cincy Red with a lifetime average of .276.

Ernie M. Smith, a long-time Marin resident until the rustic serenity of Glen Ellen beckoned him in retirement several years ago, was an outstanding swimmer and water polo player in his competitive days, but we remember him best as one of the top sportscasters in the country during a radio career that spanned a quarter century.

Can Still Remember Broadcasts

Ernie had a contagious enthusiasm for sports, still has, as a matter of fact. Although I was a squirt at the time, I can still remember his broadcasts of Seals games. Among his favorite expressions were "He's safe as a Goodyear tire" or, "It's fair by the width of a Wheaties flake!" They didn't have to pause for commercials in Ernie's day.

The former Sausalito resident also realistically recreated ball games with the help of sound effects and Western Union reports and broadcast most major sports shows emanating from the San Francisco Bay Area during the 1930's and '40s, including East-West Shrine games and hundreds of other college football games.

I hope the kids appreciate their presence.

Royals' Coach Student Of Rule Book

OAKLAND (AP) — Manager John McNamara of the Oakland Athletics is starting to wonder how many different ways there are to lose baseball games.

A seldom-invoked rule, spotted by Kansas City coach Joe Schultz, led to a 4-2 11-inning victory for the Royals Monday night.

With the score tied 2-2 in the 11th inning, McNamara went to the mound to talk to pitcher Diego Segui after Ed Kirkpatrick had tripled.

Segui then threw two balls to the next batter, Amos Otis, and McNamara returned to the mound and called in relief pitcher Rollie Fingers.

But before Fingers could throw a pitch, third base coach Schultz protested to plate umpire Red Flaherty that Segui had to finish pitching to Otis.

Flaherty admitted Schultz was correct, sent Fingers back to the bullpen, and called Segui from the dugout back to the mound.

(The obscure rule is that if a manager comes to the mound twice during the time a batter is up, the pitcher must finish throwing to that batter.)

The unnerving experience undobtedly was a factor in Segui walking Otis. That set up a double steal situation with Kirkpatrick scoring when Dave Duncan's throw to second trying to get Otis went wild.

All the other Kansas City runs came on a pair of homers by Bob Oliver from nearby Sacramento, McNamara's hometown. He hit a dramatic two-run homer with two out in the ninth inning to tie the game.

"I didn't think it was far enough. The wind must have helped it," Oliver said.

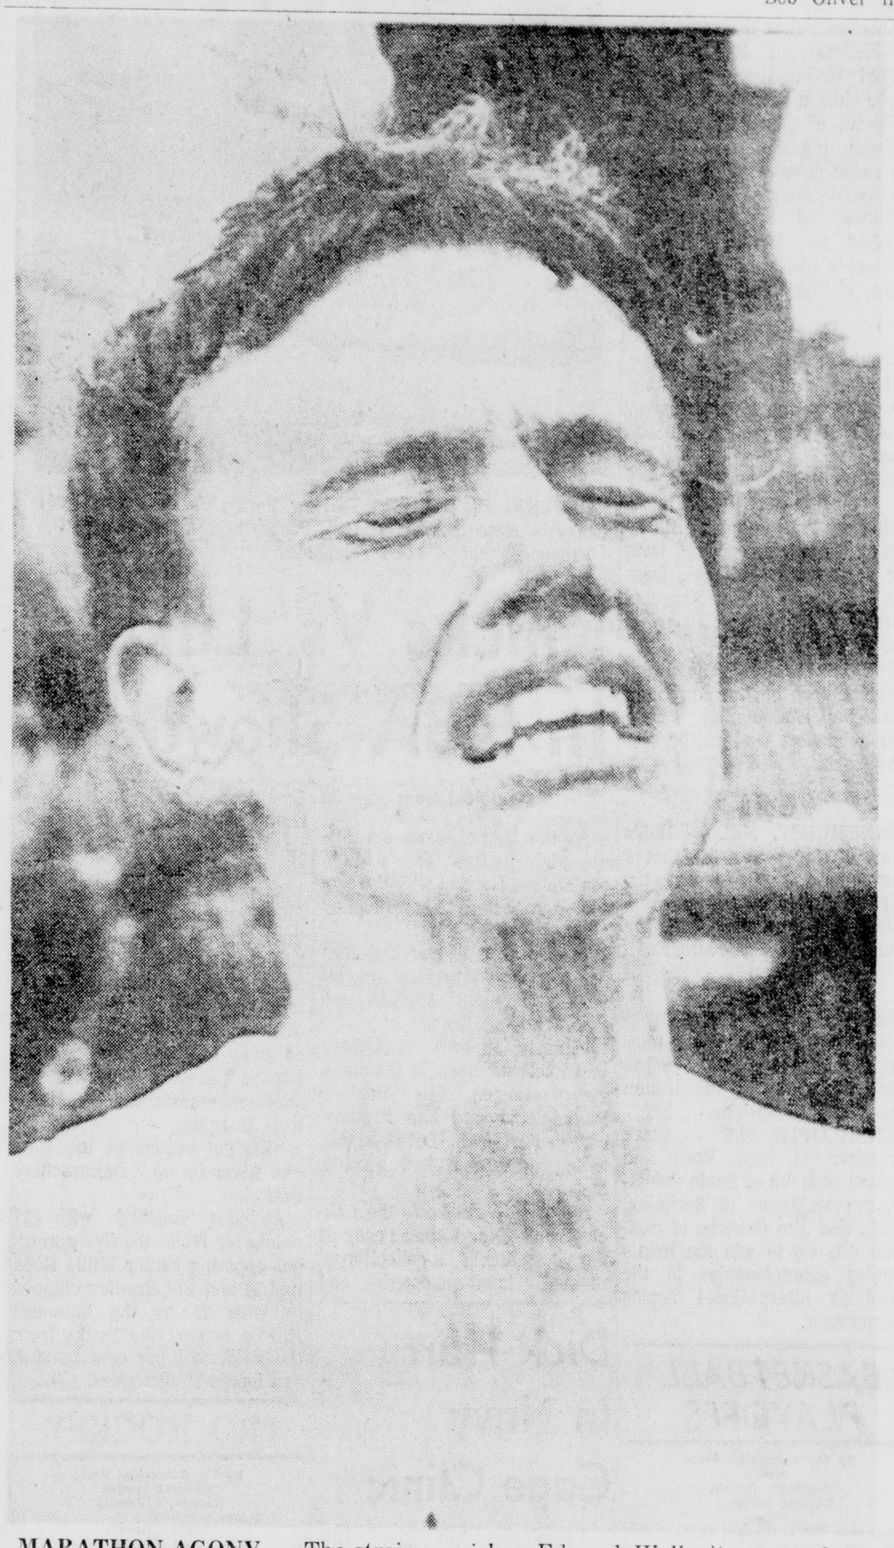

Until Oliver's first homer, pitcher John Odom of Oakland had a two-hit shutout. He also had 13 strikeouts when Oliver came to bat and needed only one more to break the club record for a single game.

That fact was flashed in big letters on the scoreboard and Oliver saw it.

"I thought I would get a good pitch to hit and I did," he said.

Oakland scored both its runs on homers, one by Dick Green in the second inning, and the other by Dave Duncan in the eighth.

The A's and Royals meet again tonight with Dave Morehead (1-0) pitching for Kansas City, and Jim Hunter (2-1) for Oakland.

British Chemist Is Victor In The Boston Marathon

BOSTON AP)—Nearly two centuries ago Paul Revere rode through the Massachusetts countryside sounding the alarm: "The British are coming." The same warning should have been given for the 74th Boston A.A. Marathon.

Ron Hill, a 31-year-old textile chemist from Cheshire, England, made Boston's Patriot's Day a personal celebration Monday as he romped to a record-smashing victory in becoming the first Briton ever to win the annual 26-mile, 385-yard classic run from Hopkinton.

DRIVING RAIN

Hill probably proved faster and more durable than Paul Revere's horse in 1775 as he charged through a driving rain whipped by a strong headwind and covered the course in 2 hours, 10 minutes, 30 seconds, making a shambles of the record of 2:13.49 set by Japan's Yoshiaki Unetani just one year ago.

Hill, the European champion given the honor of wearing No. 1 on his mesh jersey, was in command all the way as he opened a big lead on the field of 1,011 official starters. However, former Georgetown University track captain Eamon O'Reilly, running in only his third marathon, applied strong pressure in the final six miles.

O'Reilly, 25, now a graduate fellow in mathematics at Georgetown, surprised Hill and virtually every observer by closing to within 200 yards before the British distance ace managed to shake him off nearing the finish. O'Reilly finished in 2:11.12, the fastest marathon ever by an American.

"He really made me run the last few miles," Hill admitted in praising O'Reilly. "If I had been farther ahead, I might have relaxed a bit. I knew I had a big lead and didn't realize O'Reilly was so close until we hit the hills in Newton. Then someone yelled I was only 200 yards ahead and I had to turn it on. I never expected it from O'Reilly."

Hill, who claims he can run in any kind of weather, said he didn't mind the rain, but "it was too cold. The worst conditions I ever ran in."

O'Reilly, the National AAU 30-kilometer champion, had a time of 2:16.30 in a marathon at Santa Rosa, Calif., in 1968, but joked about his inexperience in the long distance grind.

ONE ENOUGH

"I'm a friend of Tom Laris, who finished second here a few years ago," he said. "I'll quote him: 'One marathon a year is plenty. I don't intend to take it up as a weekend sport.'"

Pat McMahon, former Irish Olympic runner now a school teacher in nearby Lowell, finished third in 2:14.53 after Finland's Pentti Rummakko slipped and fell 25 yards from the finish. Rummakko had to settle for fourth in 2:14.59.

Kalle Hakkarainen of Finland was fifth in 2:19.42, followed by former Oregon star Ken Moore in 2:19.47, and Bob Moore of Toronto in 2:20.07. Andy Boyshuk of Toronto was eighth in 2:21.06, Bill Clark of Philadelphia ninth in 2:22.17, and Wayne Yetman, also of Toronto, 10th in 2:22.32.

Barber Knows How To Make His Money

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Miller Barber doesn't find himself in the winner's circle often but he knows how to make his arrow-straight golf game pay off.

The $25,000 first-place check spiraled Barber's winnings to more than $69,000 for the year. He was ninth on the money list for 1970 before the New Orleans event.

Barber, Charles and Johnson were tied with 10-under-par 278s at the end of the regulation 72 holes Sunday.

The victory also qualified him for this week's Tournament of Champions where every player is assured of $2,500 for just showing up.

"Sure, I was thinking about the Tournament of Champions, you've got to think about something like that," he said.

Though far from being a spectacular personality and rarely a tournament winner, Barber is a consistent money earner. He collected $105,000 in 1968 and brought home $90,000 last year.

Giants On Final Leg Of Trip

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Finished with powerful Atlanta and Cincinnati for awhile, the San Francisco Giants embarked today on what they hoped would be a sofe five-game stretch.

The Giants were 3½ games behind Cincinnati in the National League Western Division baseball race as they took Monday off.

Today's scheduled game between the Giants and Phillies was postponed because of cold and threatening weather.

Rich Robertson, 0-0, was the scheduled Giants' hurler today against the Phillies' Woody Fryman, 1-0. Mike McCormick is the Giants' probable starter Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the Giants learned that Juan Marichal, 21-11 last season, will pitch for the first time this season against the Expos Friday night in Candlestick.

Marichal has been working out for five days following his release from a hospital, where he was sent because of the flu, compounded by his allergy to medication.

In other news, the Giants sold outfielder Jim Gosger to Montreal. He was cut from the team this spring after being obtained in a winter trade.

Knicks Crush Bucks' Hopes

NEW YORK (AP) — Larry Costello said it and the New York Knicks know it only too well.

"You can't build a championship team in two years," Coach Costello said logically after his two-year-old Milwaukee Bucks were bombed out of the National Basketball Association playoffs Monday night by the Knicks.

If any of the Knicks had heard him say it in the quiet of the Milwaukee dressing room after the 132-95 rout, they certainly would have agreed.

For all of their 23 years, the Knicks have been trying to win an NBA title, and now by eliminating the Bucks 4-1 in their best-of-seven Eastern Division final series, they have their first crack at it in 17 years, making the final for the first time since 1953.

The only club standing in their way now is the Los Angeles Lakers, another frustrated team which has been seeking the pot of gold in vain for all of its nine years on the West Coast.

Even more exasperating for the Lakers, they have reached this final series six times and come out second best to Boston each time.

The Knicks and Lakers, certain now to end the grasp that Boston and Philadelphia have held on this title for 13 years,

Peripheral Canal Best For Fish And Wildlife

By AL GIDDINGS

Since attending the ecology meeting sponsored by the Marin Rod and Gun Club last month, I have been trying to come up with some knowledge of some important projects now being built.

At the meeting, most of the ecology minded panelists were against the Peripheral Canal. The Department of Fish and Game is in favor of the canal with definite reasons to back up its decisions.

The California Water Plan is a statewide overall plan voted into existence 10 years ago by which northern waters will be diverted to Southern California and the San Joaquin Valley.

THE PERIPHERAL Canal is a small part of this plan highly recommended by the Fish and Game Department to best preserve the fish and wildlife in the area where the water plan is now being developed.

In reading informational releases regarding the California Water Plan, some arguments are given for both sides of controversial questions. Here are excerpts from a number of Department of Water Resources releases and others.

THE PROBLEMS befalling the California Water Plan were not anticipated when the people of California voted committing themselves to the plan 10 or so years ago. Using a network of dams, canals and aqueducts financed by $1.75 billion, the plan would transfer water from areas where there was a surplus to areas where a scarcity exists.

Now, inflation and the new look toward our environment are threatening the completion of the projects. Questions regarding the wisdom of completion are being asked, and the total cost now is expected to be $3 billion.

PLANS FOR the Dos Rios Dam were temporarily, at least, shelved last year as a concession to conservationists and to residents whose farms would have been flooded. Now the so-called Peripheral Canal that would channel fresh water through the river delta at the upper end of San Francisco Bay is under attack. Although engineers have given assurance that the canal will improve conditions in the delta, some authorities see it as a threat to the present eclogical balance of natural life in the bay region.

Director of Water Resources, William R. Gianelli, said in December the need for water from the north coast might be postponed for a few years through more extensive development of the Sacramento River System. But the 900,000 acre-feet to be supplied by Dos Rios or an alternate water source from the North Coast will be needed by 1990. In any event, the additional 900,000 acre-feet must be provided to water users to meet the state's contractual obligations under the State Water Project authorized 10 years ago.

THE PERIPHERAL Canal was a part of the delta facilities of the State Water Project authorized for construction upon the ratification of the Burus-Porter Act by the California electorate in November, 1960. The main purpose of the Peripheral Canal is to divert water from the Sacramento River and transfer it to the state and federal pumping plants located in the southern delta, without interfering with local delta development.

The canal would begin with an intake and fish screen located on the Scaramento River near Hood, followed by a low line pumping plant lcoated near Lambert Road. The canal would traverse the eastern edge of the northern delta, pass beneath the Mokelumne River in a siphon, and continue toward Stockton where it would be siphoned beneath the San Joaquin River, proceed southwesterly across the southern Delta and be siphoned beneath Old River.

The Canal would divide at this point into two branches, the easterly Valley Project and the westerly branch terminating at the Clifton Court Forebay of the California Aquaduct. Completion of the facility is scheduled for the end of 1973, the length of the canal is 43 miles and the cost would be $55,100,000.

THE DEPARTMENT OF Fish and Game has recommended that the State Water Resources Control Board endorse the concept of the Peripheral Canal and do all within its powers to achieve early construction thereof, with appropriate fisheries facilities and operation conditions as the best means of preservation and development of the fish and wildlife resources dependent upon Delta Water conditions, the Fish and Game Department says.

THE SALMON will benefit from improved conditions during peak migration periods. A flow-reversal problem will be eliminated and positive downstream flows will be maintained in most of the Delta Channels. This will help prevent the buildup of salts and pollutants and reduce dissolved oxygen sags.

Striped bass will benefit from improved conditions. The problem of egg and larvae loss into the pumps will be greatly reduced. Areas with flow and quality conditions presently unsuitable for spawning in the southern and eastern delta will be made suitable.

Catfish and other fish will also benefit. Are you mixed up? So am I!

Perhaps at this point Mr Peter Behr, candidate for state senator who was on the ecology panel and who spoke against the Peripheral Canal, would explain his reasons. Why should two conservation-minded groups have totally different views??????

GEORGE H. SHIPSEY of San Rafael and Russell J. Bottini of Novato caught four roosterfish on a recent trip off Rancho Buena Vista near La Paz, Mexico.

THE DODGERS BECAME THE FIRST MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL TEAM TO WIN THE FIRST TEN GAMES OF THE SEASON. JACKIE ROBINSON AND DUKE SNIDER LED A FOUR-HOMER, 14-4 ROUT OF ROBIN ROBERTS AND THE PHILS.

Stargell Shows Signs Of Waking

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

There's no place like home to break out of a slump—and no where better than the friendly right field roof in Forbes Field.

Friendly? Well, friendly for Willie Stargell, anyway.

Stargell, hung with a monstrous .037 batting average, launched a typical, out-of-sight homer over the faraway double-tiered roof that carried Pittsburgh to a 3-1 victory over Houston Monday night.

"It helps mentally to get a home run," said Stargell who had collected only a single in 27 at-bats prior to Monday night's game. "But I would have been happy to have it to just over the screen ... unless somebody is going to give me $1,000 everytime I hit one over the roof."

Cincinnati slugged three home runs to dump the skidding Atlanta Braves 6-2 in the National League's only other game Monday.

In American League action, Baltimore defeated Boston 3-2, New York mauled Washington 11-2, Kansas City downed Oakland 4-2 in 11 innings and California shaded Milwaukee 5-4 in 10.

Stargell, who also drove in the Pirates' other run with a sacrifice fly in the first inning, was brimming with confidence after busting his early-season willies.

"It has to be uphill from here," said Walloping Willie, who boosted his batting average 32 points to .069. "I looked in the paper Sunday and I saw I had hit bottom."

The outer orbit in right field is fast becoming known as "Stargell's Stoop." It has only been reached 17 times in Forbes Field's 61-year history, and Stargell has made it six times.

Knicks Vs. Lakers In NBA Showdown

open the best-of-seven set Friday night in New York's Madison Square Garden with the second game here next Monday night.

The third and fourth games will be played in Los Angeles Wednesday night, April 29, and Friday night, May 1.

"Hardly anybody in basketball has ever been in the final, except Boston, Los Angeles, Philadelphia and San Francisco," said Dave DeBusschere, trying to explain how good it feels.

But the Knicks know the Lakers aren't going to be as easy as the young Bucks, a collection of rookies, hand-me-downs and Lew Alcindor, who had jumped from last place in their first year in 1969 to second this season behind the Knicks.

New York wasted little time following Los Angeles into the final playoff after the Lakers completed a 4-0 rout of Atlanta Sunday. With Dick Barnett hitting 16 of his 27 points in the first quarter, the Knicks bounded away to a 35-19 lead and expanded that to 69-45 by halftime. Milwaukee never climbed closer than 20 again.

"We got control at the start and never let up," DeBusschere said.

Alcindor finished with 27 points for 171 in the five games, but opposing center Willis Reed had 32 and Bill Bradley chipped in with 25 as the balanced Knicks outshot the Bucks from the field, 50.4 per cent to 39.8, and forced 27 turnovers.

Dick Hart In Navy Cage Clinic

Tamalpais High School District trustees last night granted Dick Hart, basketball coach at Redwood High School, two week leave to participate in a Navy basketball clinic in the Philippines.

Hart was granted leave from May 25-June 12 without pay after trustees agreed there was no way they could grant the leave with pay under current policy.

Hart had requested leave with pay, and Donald Kreps, Redwood High principal, said such a trip would lend recognition to the district.

Kreps said usually college coaches are invited to the Navy clinics, and he believed it was the first time a high school coach had been asked to participate.

COLLEGE NOTES

Incredible Bat Streak Broken

By DAVID EINSTEIN

College of Marin's 7-2 loss to Solano last Tuesday was itself of only passing interest. This has been an unfortunate season for the Tars, winners of only 2 of 11 games, and the team is just about numb to defeat by now.

That game was particularly disappointing, however, for Marin's Ken Lazzarini. The freshman second baseman went 0 for 4, thus ending his incredible season- long hitting streak at 17 games.

Even by major league standards that is a long streak. It's a rare year that more than a handful of players hit safely in 20 straight games, and the only thing that makes such a performance relatively uninteresting is Joe DeMaggio's record of hitting safely in 56 straight games, set in 1941. That, by the way, is probably the most unbreakable record in baseball.

For a college player a long hitting streak is all the more unusual because college seasons aren't overly long to begin with. DiMaggio's streak, no matter how long it seemed at the time, still only took up a third of the season.

So Lazzarini has accomplished something that, to Tar coach Vic Petreshene's knowledge, no one in Marin County on any level of play has ever done before.

TWO OF Marin's oldest track records have been broken this year by former Tamalpais ace Alan Lee. The old marks belonged to Dr. Arnold Nutting, now a physician in San Rafael, who in 1934 ran the 100-yard dash in 9.9 seconds, and the 220 in 21.8.

Lee, who is also one quarter of Marin's record setting relay team, has been clocked in the events at 9.7 and 21.6 respectively.

Don James, Dean Deffenbaugh and Luther Brown make up the rest of the relay team, which has set school marks in the 440 with a time of 42.8, and the 880 with a 1:28.7, third best time this season in Northern California.

The Tars' Brian Hicks has set a school record with a personal touch. His pole fault of 13 feet 3½ inches eclipsed the old mark of 13 feet ½ inch set in 1968—by his brother Jeff.

FRIDAY AND Saturday of this week College of Marin will be the scene of the Northern California Junior College Swimming Championships. Schools competing will include Diablo Valley and Foothill of the powerful Golden Gate Conference, as well as Marin, which is hosting the event for the first time.

Tar coach Bob Justice says the field will be as tough as it has ever been and he'll be satisfied if Marin places within the top eight. Best bets for the Tars are Bruce Averill in the individual medley and 100 back, Greg Myers in the 100 and Dave Topance in the 50.

Competition will begin on Friday at 1 p.m. and Saturday at 9 a.m.

Next weekend the state championships will be held at Orange Coast College in Costa Mesa.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Frosh Share Stage In Big Track Meet

When San Rafael and Tamalpais high schools collide Friday in Marin County Athletic League track and field meet that will decide the league champion, there will be more than the usual excitement that attends such events. For both teams, in addition to putting perfect varsity records on the line, will enter the meet with undefeated freshmen teams.

Tam coach Bruce Grant and San Rafael's Gaylord Quandt agree that the frosh competition, pitting the Bulldog's front line superiority against Tam's superb depth, will be a better show than most varsity meets.

An illustration of how powerful these teams are came last Thursday in the Tam - Novato meet when, according to Grant, the Indian frosh may have won the class B meet, which they competed in unofficially.

The Indians will be counting on Dennis Morini in the 440 and 880, sprinter Alvin Price and pole vaulter Chris Elrod.

ANOTHER SPORT in which somebody's winning streak will come to an end this week is tennis. Redwood, with 39 straight wins, were odds - on favorites to make it 40 against Tam when the teams met today at Redwood.

The Indians have only won nine in a row, but nevertheless share first place with the Giants in the MCAL this year.

If Tam, led by Andy Moffat, winner of 10 straight matches, is impressive, then Redwood is astonishing. Against four league opponents thus far the Giants have lost exactly no matches! No singles, no doubles, nothing. Sounds like Davis Cup material.

AT SAN RAFAEL his best time in the low hurdles was 21 seconds. Tumbleweeds in a dust storm go faster than that.

So who would have thought that four years later University of California's Bob McLennan would be named Northern California collegiate track athlete of the week?

That honor, accorded the Berkeley senior last week by Bay Area writers, was a result of McLennan's performance this season at Cal, where his time of 51.7 makes him the second fastest intermediate hurdler in the school's history.

He is probably the only hurdler in the school's history to be accepted at Harvard Law School, where he will study next year. Harvard, incidentally, doesn't care what a man's track times are if he doesn't have the grades.

Construction Up From February

Marin County construction activity during March was considerably higher than was reported for February, but the county-wide total of $4,204,615 in building permits was almost 20 per cent behind March of last year.

According to figures from the Marin County Chamber of Commerce, the total for the first quarter was $8,785,622. This, too, suffered by comparison with the 1968 first quarter totol of over $12 million.

Larkspur had the highest total of all communities, with permits passing $1 million. All but a fraction of this was residential construction, due to new Skylark Apartments permits totaling $972,971 filed by Joseph Pell.

The Belvedere-Tiburon peninsula accounted for $704,283 in March permits, about half of this residential. San Rafael and its unincorporated areas totaled $564,566 — and almost half of this was commercial, with the balance divided between residential and miscellaneous permits.

In Mill Valley, incorporated and unincorporated, the $420,687 in permits was almost three-quarters residential. Novato's $448,020 was about two-thirds residential. Sausalito checked out at $334,460, with slightly more than half of this residential. Ross had $170,500. Almost all of this sum was for one residentila permit.

Corte Madera's $121,359 was mostly commercial construction, and Fairfax showed more than half commercial in its $59,359. San Anselmo's permits were comparatively low at $25,640, most of this commercial.

Kentfield and unincorporated Greenbrae with $46,300 in permits had mostly commercial activity. West Marin and other unincorporated areas developed a total of $251,300 value in permits, largely residential.

INVESTING

Speculating In Australia

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am interested in buying Australian mining stocks but find brokers disinterested. What is the best way for me to participate other than through U.S. companies with holdings in Australia?—R.M.

A. Speculation in 5-cent and 10-cent mining issues has pushed volume on the Sydney Exchange to about 40 million shares daily. Of the several thousand publicly traded mining companies, very few, if any, will approach the sensational Poseidon nickel discovery which sent shares of that firm from 60 cents to $250 a few months ago. Stock promotions of issues with little more than a location in the vicinity of a known discovery have not been uncommon.

Ten large Australian firms which are doing most of the development also hold the bulk of proved reserves. American Depository Receipts for two of these companies are actively traded in this country's unlisted market.

One is Broken Hill Proprietary Company, Australia's largest industrial firm. Profits from steel production, which is the company's primary business, will be importantly supplemented by oil and gas production in the year to end May 30, 1970. Production will come from a joint discovery in partnership with Standard Oil of New Jersey.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

Charles Burris Is New Owner Of San Rafael Dodge Dealership

There is a new owner of the Dodge dealership in San Rafael.

Former owner James D. Kress apparently is applying for a Napa Valley dealership and has sold out to Charles Burris, who previously was general manager of Swift Dodge in Sacramento and has now taken up residence in Novato. He has been in the automobile business since 1959.

The name Marin Dodge, Inc. will remain the same and no changes in personnel are contemplated.

TAXABLE RETAIL SALES in Marin County last year showed a modest gain of 8.5 per cent in spite of some complaints that business fell off sharply.

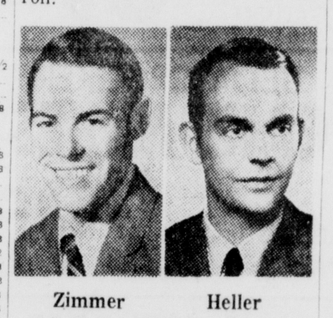

Biggest percentage gain was in the farm and garden supplies category, which went up 42.6 per cent to a total of more than $3 million. There were more jewelry sales, too, with the volume going up from $1.3 million in 1968 to $1.8 million in 1969 — an increase of 35.6 per cent.

A 24.5 per cent gain was shown in plumbing and electrical supplies. Trailer, boats and allied sales went up 20.7 per cent. Other leaders were liquor with a 20.5-per cent increase and automobile supplies and parts up 20.3 per cent.

New car sales increased 8.3 per cent, but used car sales sagged badly, dropping off almost 50 per cent. Men's wear was the leading gainer (17.6 per cent) in the apparel stores group. And among specialty stores, art goods and novelties had the highest gains (16.6 per cent).

Besides used cars there were only two other losers — household appliances, down 7.7 per cent, and musical instruments, down 7.1 per cent.

NEW STORE MANAGER at the Novato Mayfair Market is Ardie Zimmer, who has been manager of Mayfair's Belmont store since last September. He joined the food chain in 1962 as a grocery clerk in San Jose and was made grocery manager in 1966. He is now living in Tiburon.

Heller

WILLIAM GRANT HELLAR III of San Rafael has been named Australian representative of the Bank of America and is leaving the county to take up his new responsibilities, effective May 1. For the past five years he has been on tour as an administrator in the bank's Asia division. For two years before that he was assistant director for international marketing for Fibreboard Corp.

JOSEPH L. BRAUN of Novato has been promoted to general lending officer at Bank of America's Corte Madera branch, succeeding Mrs. E. M. Moreno, who recently advanced to the Geyserville branch. Braun joined the bank in 1963 at San Francisco.

GARY T. HULES of Sausalito has been appointed sales account executive to Bay Area retail outlets for Kamar, Inc. of Gardena, a manufacturer of stuffed toys and animals.

INSURANCE: William J. Coberly III of Petaluma has been appointed consultant manager at the San Rafael district office of Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. He has been an agent there for two years. New at the same office as a consultant is Philip M. Hennessey, who has recently moved to San Rafael from Massachusetts. . .

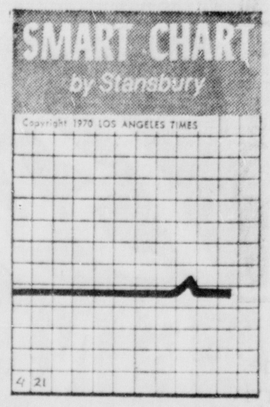

Two representatives of the Moon Valley agency of Prudential Insurance at Northgate Industrial Park — agency manager Frederick G. Veltsen and Neal M. Isaacson — attended the company's recent regional conference at Coronado. Nine representatives from the Redwood Empire agency in San Rafael also were there — manager Archer C. Rounds, Eugene F. Gianoli, George S. Gutierrez, William W. Mason, Marvin E. Pearl, Edward A. Renengerm, Bernard H. Rose, James A. Towner and Jurgen F. Vahrenkamp.

Japan Retains First Place In Shipbuilding

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan retained its place as the world's biggest shipbuilder for the 14th consecutive year in 1969, according to figures released by the Transportation Ministry today.

A total of 8,344,000 gross tons of ships were built during the year, two per cent up from 1968.

The ministry said, however, that Japan's share of world shipbuilding fell 2.5 per cent to 48 per cent, largely because of advances in European designs of large vessels and Japanese shipbuilders' selectiveness in accepting orders.

"The investment community's reaction to the President's message was restrained."

Wall Street In Retreat Late In Day

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at 2 p.m., with one hour of trading to go, was off 1.91 at 773.96. It was up 3.10 shortly after the open but dropped to .40 at 776.27 at noon.

Analysts said the early rally was due to technical factors in the market. They said there was insufficient buying interest to keep the rally going.

Declines outnumbered advances by 93 among issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange. Shortly after the opening advanced had led declines by a 2-to-1 margin. Trading was moderately active.

Parke, Davis, down 3⅜ to 23⅝, led the Big Board's most active list.

Other late prices on the New York Exchange included American Telephone, up ⅛ to 49⅞; Xerox, off 1¾ to 85¼; Boeing, off ⅜ to 21; Kinney National Service, off ¼ to 32⅜; International Telephone, up ¼ to 50⅛; and Chrysler, unchanged at 26⅛.

Pipeline Planned

CORPUS CHRISTI, TEX. (UPI) — Coast States Gas Producing Co. will lay 60 miles of 36-inch gas pipeline paralleling its existing 30-inch system at various locations. A total of $12.5 million will be spent on the project.

Novato Youth Criticizes Isla Vista Police

I-J Special Report

ISLA VISTA — Police action during the four days of violence at the University of California at Santa Barbara is turning even nonviolent students against the police, a student from Novato told the Independent-Journal yesterday.

Fred Gebhart, 19, freshman and a news reporter and announcer for the student-run campus radio station, in a phone interview also criticized the university administration for slapping a ban on the station's reporting of news during the violence.

He said the police have "become almost enemies. . .by harrassing people and trumping up charges."

Gebhart, of 2072 Feliz Road, was arrested shortly after 1 a.m. yesterday for a curfew violation after he had been in the downtown area on assignment for the radio station.

He said he was informed by sheriff's deputies that his radio station press pass was no longer being honored by police.

The passes had been honored throughout the four days of violence, he said, and authorities had given no advance warning that they were no longer valid.

He cited this as an example of the "general police harrassment" to which the students have been subjected.

He accused police of "trumping up charges, especially felonies," and said that almost all of those arrested are being held in jail the legal maximum of 48 hours before they are released or taken before a judge.

He said a student in the same cell in which he was held was being charged with assault with a deadly weapon, but the police had no weapon or any other evidence.

"The police just seem not to like the students," he said.

The majority of students are not turning pro-violence, he said, but they are turning against the police.

Gebhart was released and charges against him dropped after the university chancellor called the sheriff's office, he said.

He also complained that the news function of the radio station had been gagged during the violence.

The station, KCSB, was ordered off the air about 3:30 a.m. Saturday by a representative of the chancellor's office at the request of the sheriff, he said.

A statement issued today by the university said the news ban resulted "from protests of the sheriff that on-the-spot reporting was hampering the activities of the police in attempting to locate snipers and was prejudicing the safety of police officers.

"In ordering the station off the air, neither the sheriff nor the university administration was questioning the motives of the station or its reporters, realizing that KCSB was trying to give its listeners as full coverage as possible," the statement said.

Gebhart said the station had been broadcasting appeals by the school's student body president for everyone to "keep cool."

The appeals also urged students to go out and try to calm things down during the violence.

It was in answer to one of the appeals that Kevin Moran, a student from Saratoga, went downtown early Saturday and helped put out a fire in the Bank of America. Moran was

Reagan Sees Lesson In Bank Death

'Silent Majority' Urged To Offset Campus Revolts

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan said today it's time for the silent majority on campus to take a stand against revolutionaries if the death of Kevin Moran at Isla Vista "is not to be totally in vain."

The Republican governor, speaking somberly to his weekly news conference, blamed the death of the 22-year-old University of California honor student on everyone who had a hand in fostering violence on UC campuses the past five years.

"It isn't very important where the bullet came from," Reagan said. "The bullet was brought about and the bullet was sent on its way several years ago when a certain element in this society decided they could take the law in their own hands . . ."

He added that "every person who has aided and abetted them is equally guilty and responsible for this as well as other deaths" on campus.

Reagan said the "silent majority" of students, faculty members and administrators should stop attending rallies called by revolutionaries and should no longer give sympathy to their causes.

Moran, a student at UC Santa Barbara, was shot and killed last Saturday as he tried to put out a fire bomb pitched into the Isla Vista branch of the Bank of America during rioting in the UC-Santa Barbara area.

Reagan said he telephoned Moran's father Monday to express his sympathy.

The governor emphasized, however, that a full investigation is being pushed to determine who fired the shot and how. Officers say it may have been a rifle bullet fired by a sheriff's deputy accidentally which ricocheted into Moran.

And he added, "I'm not suggesting that they (students) become vigilantes any more than I'm suggesting that the public become vigilantes."

Celler Will Head Probe Of Douglas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee voted today to investigate the charges brought by members seeking to impeach Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said a special five-man subcommittee will look into the charges. He said he hopes the inquiry will be concluded within 60 days after it starts.

Celler said no date had been set for starting the investigation and the list of witnesses has not yet been drawn up.

However, McCulloch said all of the 110 Congress members who sponsored the impeachment resolution should come forward and state why such action should be taken.

McCulloch said officers of the foundation and corporations that have been mentioned in the impeachment resolution as having paid sums of money to Douglas should come forward with their records, books and other documents.

Douglas until last year was paid head of the Albert Parvin Foundation, founded by California businessman Albert Parvin with proceeds from the sale of a Las Vegas hotel-casino.

Gangster Meyer Lansky reportedly helped arrange the sale, but Douglas has denied knowing of any Lansky connection with the deal.

Douglas has come under criticism both for his court opinions and for his outside writings.

CANDIDATES' SIGNS

Roadway Politicking Hit

Many — perhaps most — of the political signs sprouting beside Marin roadways are in violation of either state law or county ordinance, or both.

Toughest regulations are in the state law.

L. Barr, chief of the highway outdoor advertising program of the California Division of Highways, last week notified candidates throughout the state by letter of the law's provisions.

CITED BY BARR

The one affecting most signs in Marin is this, as cited by Barr:

"Before placing any signs or sign structures in unincorporated areas within view of county or state highways, and in incorporated areas within 660 feet of the right of way of a federal-aid primary or an interstate highway, a permit must be first obtained from the Division of Highways."

HIGHWAY 101 STATUS

Highway 101 is a federal-aid primary highway.

State law, Barr noted, also contains these provisions:

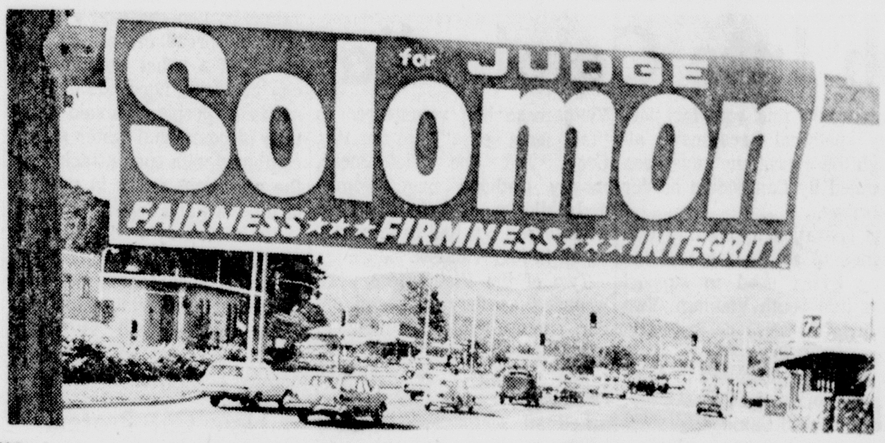

"Signs and other similar displays are prohibited within the rights of way on any public road or highway.

"Signs or sign structures may not be placed adjacent to a landscaped freeway."

Signs adjacent to federal-aid primary highways — for which Division of Highways permits must first be obtained — are restricted to property zoned for industrial or commercial uses and within 1,000 feet of an industrial or business activity.

Barr called attention that

Collegians Facing Fire Bomb Charge

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Two young college students were booked early today for investigation of planting a homemade time bomb in troubled Isla Vista off the University of California Santa Barbara campus.

The bomb scare and subsequent arrests followed generally mild behavior in the wake of a statement by officials that it may have been a policeman's bullet that killed a student who put out a fire set by activists at a beleaguered Bank of America building Saturday morning.

The patrolman, not identified, was relieved of duty. Police Chief Alfred Trembly said the bullet apparently ricocheted off a building, killing Kevin P. Moran, 22, an honor student in economics and rowing team member.

Today was Moran's funeral—just six weeks before his scheduled graduation.

The crude bomb consisted merely of a jar of gasoline attached by wires to flashlight batteries and an alarm clock. It was found inside a trash bin behind a record shop in the town's small business district.

Plans For Municipal Golf Course Shelved

After struggling through more than a year of life, the proposal for a San Rafael municipal golf course died last night at the city council meeting. (Other San Rafael City Council stories, page 16.)

After about a minute's discussion of the proposal, Councilman Fred E. Jensen officially moved, "Let's forget it."

The council agreed and that was that.

The discussion began when City Mgr. James H. McCown told the council he had not received an engineering report on proposed costs of the course, and asked that discussion of the course be continued to a later meeting.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini said that the "continuous delays and lack of enthusiasm" for the project suggested that maybe the proposal wasn't such a good idea after all.

"Economics are such that it's just not a good thing to do," he said.

Jensen made his motion and that was the 18th hole for the golf course.

The council had voted in February of last year to put the proposal on the November 1969, ballot. It changed its mind in October, took the proposal off the ballot and authorized preliminary studies to proceed.

Petition Charges Misdealings By Rohnert Park Leaders

A petition charging two councilmen and the city manager with business misdealings was submitted last night to the Rohnert Park City Council.

Dennis McQuaid of Rohnert Park presented the petition with 21 signatures charging that Mayor James W. Rogers had violated conflict of interest laws involving the city's cable television franchise and Councilman Jack Buchanan and City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan with a shady business deal.

McQuaid asked the other three councilmen to have the matters investigated by the Sonoma County Grand Jury or the state attorney general's office.

The petition charged that Rogers had hidden motives in urging the cable television franchise be granted to Storer Cable Television. After the franchise was granted, the firm rented office space and bought property from Rogers and employed his wife in its office.

During the election campaign, Rogers, who won reelection, insisted it all was a matter of coincidence and rejected charges of conflict of interest.

The charges against Buchan-

I-J PREPARING ANSWERS TO ITU CIRCULARS

Within the past few days Marin County residents have received circulars from the striking S.F. Typographical Union No. 21.

The I-J and I, personally, have received hundreds of phone calls from citizens who have indicated their displeasure with the mailing piece which bears the signature of the president of the union. These readers have asked us to respond — and this we shall definitely do.

However, since a number of statements in the union bulletin contain complete falsehoods and half-truths, we are preparing a series of Truth Bulletins which will appear on page 1, daily, starting tomorrow. Please watch for them. Thank you.

Sausalito Protests Save Toliver Job

By PAT ANGLE

After five and a half hours of prompting from an audience of 250 persons — using flattery, cajolery, criticism and an occasional mild threat — a weary Sausalito School District board voted 3-2 last night to restore James T. Toliver to an administrative post next year. (Another Sausalito schools story, page 9.)

It was a major victory for the many supporters of the black administrator, vice principal at Martin Luther King School, but they were tired too. And the cheers which greeted the board's decision were happy, but subdued.

The board's action, reversing an earlier decision that Toliver be relegated to a teaching post, came at a brief regular meeting following a long special meeting called to give members of the community a chance to comment on recent board decisions involving personnel cuts and use of facilities and anything else that was on their minds. They did—at great length—on a wide variety of topics—and the board listened quietly.

The board also agreed to restudy facilities use next year and consider a proposal presented by King Principal Sidney F. Walton Jr. that second through eighth grades be housed at King School. Walton presented figures showing the school could handle the students.

By its action, the board agreed to forget its earlier decision to close Bayside School and move its students to Central and said it would consider all alternatives.

Campus Chief, Wife Flee Student Violence

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Eric A. Walker of Pennsylvania State University and his wife fled their campus home early today after students stoned it and broke some windows. Racial conflict and anti-war protest set off a series of disturbances at several U.S. colleges and high schools.

About 1,000 of Penn State's 25,500 students attended a meeting Monday night to protest arrests in an antiwar sit-in last week. Small fires were extinguished in several dormitories and classroom buildings, at least one started by a gasoline bomb.

A racial clash of high school students at Atlantic City, N.J., resulted in two injuries and 19 arrests Monday. Several shop

New S. Vietnam Push Into Cambodia

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

South Vietnamese rangers and scores of tanks and armored personnel carriers were fighting inside Cambodia today, their third operation against enemy troops in that neighboring nation.

Informed sources said the 2,000 or so South Vietnamese ran into strong opposition Monday, the first day of the operation. They said 144 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops were killed in the first 24 hours. Field reports said 20 South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 75 wounded.

The South Vietnamese crossed the frontier near the town of Tuyen Binh, 55 miles west of Saigon and 25 miles south of Highway 1, the main crossing point for two other such operations last week.

The South Vietnamese military command announced the new operation, but as in the first two, insisted the fighting was inside South Vietnam. High sources said this was for "obvious political reasons" although the operations have been welcomed by Cambodian border authorities.

The operation apparently was designed to smash more of the enemy bases used to support forays into South Vietnam. Two enemy bases were destroyed in last week's operations.

At Saang, a Cambodian town 18 miles south of Phnom Penh, a dispatch said Cambodian riflemen marched a group of Vietnamese civilians carrying a white flag into enemy automatic weapons fire.

The Cambodians said the Vietnamese had volunteered to "talk some sense" into the Viet Cong. But the Vietnamese, mostly Catholic men, women and children, said they had not volunteered but had been rounded up in four villages.

Two of the Vietnamese were wounded as they scattered under enemy fire, and later 10 were reported missing.

The Saigon Post said the Cambodian government had asked all Vietnamese living in border provinces to leave Cambodia to avoid being mistaken for the Viet Cong. More than 600 Vietnamese in Cambodia have been killed recently.

23,000 Goodyear Workers Strike

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. has been struck by 23,000 rubber workers, and layoffs resulting from wildcat strikes by truck drivers increased across the nation.

The United Rubber Workers Union struck 15 Goodyear plants Monday night after contract negotiations in Cincinnati were broken off.

The rubber workers postponed strike deadlines against the three other giant tire companies and continued negotiations with Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., Uniroyal and B. F. Goodrich.

Issues in the Goodyear strike were not disclosed and there was no word on developments in any of the negotiations.

In other labor disputes, 430 mechanics struck Ozark Air Lines, shutting down the Midwestern carrier; teacher strikes continued in Los Angeles and Minneapolis, and New York newspaper negotiations resumed in an air of pessimism.

Hopes of settling the trucking strikes dwindled when federal mediators were unable to bring the two sides together in Chicago, considered the key point in the scattered walkouts.

The mounting number of layoffs due to the trucker strikes touched nonstriking truckers and various parts-short industries from coast to coast.

In Los Angeles about half the city's 25,000 teachers continued to strike for increased pay and smaller classes. The Minneapolis strike called for similar demands, continued while the school board planned an attempt to reopen the schools.

Of the New York newspaper dispute between the city's four major daily papers and 10 unions representing 13,000 workers, mediator Theodore W. Kheel said: "The situation is very critical and becomes more critical each day as pressures continue to mount in the composing room of the New York Times."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Gas Chamber Sought

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The state will seek the death penalty for Ronald Fouquet, a 32-year-old mechanic found guilty of the first-degree murder of his 5-year-old stepson who died on the floor while Fouquet drank beer and watched television.

Fouquet was convicted Monday after a jury deliberated a total of 12 hours. Immediately following the verdict the penalty phase of the defendant's trial was set to begin Wednesday.

Fouquet's common-law wife testified at the trial that he jumped on the boy's stomach with his bare feet and told her to leave her son, Jeffery, alone as he gasped for breath and then quietly died.

The same jury will decide Fouquet's sentence — either life imprisonment or death in the gas chamber.

Bug War Warning

GENEVA (AP) — The United States today urged the other 24 nations at the disarmament talks to speed up negotiations for a treaty banning biological weapons.

Warning of the danger they constitute, U.S. Ambassador James F. Leonard said a single bomber spreading only 50 kilograms of a lethal agent over a city could kill hundreds of thousands of people. He said sabotage of communal water supply combined with open attack from the air might result in millions of illnesses and deaths.

"It is already well within the capability of a number of states to bring about these potential casualties, and this capability could be acquired by many more," Leonard added without naming any country.

New Cal Protest

BERKELEY (UPI) — About 200 radicals marched through the University of California campus Monday with shouts of "U.S. out of Southeast Asia" and "Rotcee (ROTC) must go!"

However, there was no reoccurrence of the disturbances which resulted in scores of arrests and $18,000 in property damage last week.

SALT Strategy

VIENNA (UPI) — The Soviet Union is marking time in presenting its plan for nuclear weapons curbs to the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT), diplomatic sources said today.

The Russians apparently are holding back in an effort to glean U.S. ideas before offering their proposals for limiting the nuclear arms race.

The Soviets have let it be known informally they have an overall or package plan for the conference, understood to center on a freeze on offensive and defensive missiles. But no details have emerged.

The United States in turn was understood to have given a first outline of its suggestions for strategic arms limitations which it said it is prepared to tackle on a "most comprehensive" scale.

Dictator Lagging

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Official figures put the government candidate back in the lead Monday night in Colombia's presidential race, and angry supporters of ex-dictator Gustavo Rojas Pinilla took to the streets in Bogota and other major cities to protest.

The civil registrar's office reported that with 95 per cent of the vote counted, Misael Pastrana Borrero had 1,493,630 votes to 1,471,140 for Rojas Pinilla.

Trailing far behind with some 700,000 votes between them were two breakaways from the National Front, moderate leftist Belisario Betancur and rightist Evaristo Sourdis.

Philippines Air Crash

MANILA (AP) — A Philippine airliner on a domestic flight is reported to have crashed and burned north of Manila today, killing all 33 persons aboard.

Philippines Air Lines said it received the report from government engineers who said they witnessed the crash shortly before noon near Cabanatuan, about 90 miles north of Manila.

A spokesman said a PAL twin-engine jet-prop flying from Cawayan to Manila was missing and had last been heard from by radio near Cabanatuan.

Maseru, a tiny African country, exported a record 29,787.51 carats of diamonds worth $1,600,933, in 1969, the government announced.

Nixon To Pull Out 150,000 More GIs

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon, crediting better-than-expected progress in turning the war over to the Vietnamese, has announced plans to bring home another 150,000 U.S. soldiers in the next 12 months. If successful, the withdrawal would cut the total U.S. troop commitment in Vietnam to about half of what it was when Nixon took office.

"The decision I have announced tonight," Nixon told a nationwide radio and TV audience, "means that we finally have in sight the just peace we are seeking. We can now say with confidence that pacification is succeeding. We can say with confidence that the South Vietnamese can develop the capability for their own defense.

"We can say with confidence that all American combat forces can and will be withdrawn," he added.

Since Nixon started the cutbacks last June, 115,000 soldiers have been pulled out — bringing the current troop level to 434,000 compared to 549,000 when the Nixon administration took office. The latest cutback would bring the total down to 284,000 by May 1971.

Nixon said the timing of the pullout would depend on "our best judgment of the current military and diplomatic situation" and he warned, as he has twice before, that he would take "strong and effective measures" if the pullout is greeted by increased communist military activity.

The move gave the President a year-long period of flexibility to make withdrawals on the basis of the war in Vietnam, and the increasing military activity across the rest of Indochina. Nixon avoided a discussion of overall Indochina policy, however, except to take note of the situation and to admit that problems in Cambodia and Laos challenge the withdrawal plans with some clear risks.

A scattering of congressional reaction to Nixon's speech was generally favorable. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he was "surprised and pleased" at the pullout plans and added that Nixon is "continuing in the right direction —out."

Nixon said he was "pleased to report that progress in training and equipping South Vietnamese forces has substantially exceeded our original expectations last June." He also praised "very significant advances" in making the Vietnamese countryside free from Communist influence.

White House aides said another reason for stretching the pullout over a 12-month period was to give the government of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu a long range idea of American plans. Officials said the total 150,000 figure breaks down to 12,000 men per month —the same approximate rate that has been continuing since last December. There was no indication, however, whether the same rate would prevail in the new pullback.

NO COMMENT

Letter Attacks School Quality

Two letters, one from a resigning teacher and the other from a parent, which might have caused sparks, drew no comment by the Tamalpais High School District board last night.

In one letter, Margaret B. Neubauer, resigning as a social studies teacher at Redwood High School after eight years, cited a change in atmosphere and attitude in the district.

She explained that she was resigning because her future husband's job required moving, but commented that the "atmosphere" is less positive.

"The public seems often to reflect an attitude which parallels the idea of 'guilty until proven innocent,' rather than the reverse," she wrote.

The question is how can the community, through the board, show interest and concern without communicating suspicion and distrust, Mrs. Neubauer asked.

"I believe there has been a change in the atmosphere in this district that, if a trend, would represent serious damage to the quality of education here."

A letter from Gordon Pusser, father of two athletes, questioning the costs of the athletic program, presented to the board at its last meeting, April 6, wasn't discussed either.

Pusser cited excessive equipment costs, particularly in football, and said many people feel that since participation is voluntary, students could pay for their own equipment, except where need could be shown.

He also challenged providing free transportation to a track meet, where athletes didn't compete but just watched, instead of providing free transportation to students in the Bolinas-Stinson Beach area.

He also said that more money is spent on coaching than is shown in the district budget.

Tam Trustees Hear Status On Bussing

The Tamalpais High School District has eliminated four buses since it stopped free service to Bolinas-Stinson Beach and San Geronimo Valley in January.

Business Mgr. Frank A. Cassou reported to the district board last night that there were 13 charter buses running Jan. 7 and there are now nine.

The Muir Beach bus has been combined with the Bolinas-Stinson Beach bus, the Strawberry bus eliminated and the Blackfield Drive bus combined with the Belvedere run, he explained.

There were an average of 21 students from the Bolinas-Stinson Beach area riding the bus, as compared to about 35 before fares were instituted.

Cassou reported the bus cost to the district was $238 a day, less fares totaling $140, for a net daily cost of $98.40 for nine buses.

Cassou also gave trustees a revised forecast of the 1970-71 budget, first presented in January.

The forecast showed a budget of $9,430,882, as compared to $9,467,208 for the current year, a drop in enrollment of about 85 students in the district and a slight reduction in the teaching staff.

Cassou listed expenditures totaling $7,826,237, leaving $1,604,645 for reserves and items still undetermined such as cost-of-living pay raises, additional custodians, special maintenance projects or improvements in the instructional program.

Trustee David D. Ring said there was an estimate by the California Teachers Association that the tax reform measure proposed by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R, San Rafael, would cost the district about $400,000.

Exiles Report Guerrillas Busy In Cuba; Castro Ired

MIAMI (AP) — U.S.-based Cuban exiles say they have sent two groups of invaders to challenge Fidel Castro's regime and that their forces are equipped to carry on a long campaign.

Meanwhile, Castro, speaking at the funeral of five of his soldiers killed in battle by the invaders, vowed that the force will be exterminated.

The Cuban exile organization Alpha 66 retorted from its Miami headquarters that warfare launched by its guerrillas was only beginning.

Castro's funeral oration, broadcast by Havana Radio Monday night, was made in an eastern Cuba cemetery Sunday. It came on the ninth anniversary of the defeat of the exiles' Bay of Pigs invasion.

The prime minister said Cuba had planned to skip any ceremonies on the anniversary this year.

"Our people are totally devoted to the sugar harvest of 10 million tons, and we have avoided anything that could detract even a minute from that important task," Castro said.

Castro, who issued a communique Sunday announcing the guerrilla invasion, said he had recently learned about "plans for this type of landings to sabotage the harvest."

Castro has called for harvesting a record 10 million tons of sugar, the crop which earns his country the bulk of its foreign exchange. Radio reports have indicated Cuba is nearly a million tons behind schedule.

The prime minister claimed the landing parties were sent from the United States. Alpha 66 said the United States had no connection with the invasion.

Pleads Guilty To Felony Battery

Hilton Welborn, 31, of Santa Rosa, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of a felony battery on a police officer. A second count of driving 80 miles per hour on Highway 101 was dismissed.

Welborn had been arrested July 30, 1969. Judge E. Warren McGuire set sentencing for June 8.

San Diego Growing Despite GI Cutbacks

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—San Diego's population grew to 711,600 as of March 1, strengthening its position as the second largest city in the state, the city manager's office announced Monday.

The figure marked a gain of 11,500 persons since April 1, 1969, the second largest increase in the city's history for that period of time.

Golf Clubs Taken

Golf clubs and a bag valued at $400 were stolen from a camper owned by Delores Jean Gates and parked in front of her home at 20 Hepburn Heights April 10-12, San Rafael police reported yesterday. Mrs. Gates told police the clubs belonged to Clifford J. Peterson of 35 Arcangel Court, Fairfax.

Carswell Set To Run For U.S. Senate

MIAMI (AP) — Judge G. Harold Carswell, rejected Supreme Court nominee, has decided to seek election to the U.S. Senate "to join President Nixon in his goals of restructuring our country and its government along constitutional, conservative lines."

The Senate rejected Carswell 51 to 45 on April 8.

Carswell, who said he had resigned as a judge of the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals, announced his candidacy at a Miami news conference called by Gov. Claude Kirk.

With Kirk and Carswell standing beside him, Lt. Gov. Ray Osborne declared he was withdrawing from the Senate race in the interest of party unity. Osborne, Florida's first lieutenant governor, had been actively campaigning for the Senate nomination for months.

In Washington, Cramer, a member of the House for 16 years, said:

"President Nixon personally urged me to run for the U.S. Senate. This has not changed.

"He also urged Judge Carswell to remain on the bench where strict constructionists of the Constitution are needed. I am heeding President Nixon's call and I hope Judge Carswell will do likewise."

Torrey Praised For Work; Receives $1,000 Pay Hike

Tamalpais High School District trustees, who recently selected a new superintendent, last night gave the man who has held the post on an acting basis praise and a $1,000 pay raise.

Trustees voted to boost the salary of Acting Supt. Robert D. Torrey from $25,000 to $26,000 a year effective July 1.

Chairman Bette Wallace said that Torrey has done an outstanding job "during this very difficult year" with skill, integrity and devotion, and others echoed her sentiments.

Therefore she proposed that his two-year contract be amended to provide a $1,000 raise in the second year, in recognition of his work, and other trustees agreed.

Torrey will continue as assistant superintendent, his permanent title, in the 1970-71 school year.

Mrs. Wallace reported that trustees have selected Wilber Dale Hawkins, assistant superintendent of the Norwalk-Mirada School District in Southern California to be superintendent, starting July 1 at $30,000 a year.

However, she reported, Hawkins hasn't yet signed the four-year contract.

The Tamalpais High School Board Also:

TESTING—Heard a report from George T. Janicula, director, pupil personnel services, that the majority of sophomores tested for intelligence and reading in 1968 scored above average or superior in comparison to both state and national norms. (The State Department of Education showed the district as 21st in the state in 10th grade reading and 17th in median IQ).

ENGLISH PROGRAM—Heard a report on the elective English program at Redwood High School whereby a student takes required courses in freshman year and electives thereafter, and a report that Tamalpais High School plans to have an elective English program for juniors and seniors in 1970-71.

AUDIT—Authorized a contract with Main LaFrentz of Oakland to conduct the annual district audit at a cost not to exceed $7,500.

FEDERAL FUNDS—Authorized application for federal funds, nonmatching, $3,480 for library books and materials, and federal matching funds, $3,584 for classroom television sets at Sir Francis Drake High School, and $4,693 for automotive mechanics equipment at Tamalpais High School.

HIRED—Authorized hiring three teachers: Constance Would, English-journalism, at $10,945 a year; Beverly S. Snyder, mathematics and educationally handicapped, $9,065; and Maureen Rita Dolan, mathematics, $13,165; and a librarian, Margaret Allen Jones, at $8,355; all at Sir Francis Drake High School for 1970-71.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Margaret B. Neubauer, social studies teacher, effective June 30, and Michael D. Thatcher, English teacher, effective immediately, both on staff at Redwood High School.

PRINCIPAL SELECTION—Allocated the screening committee seeking a new principal for Tamalpais High School transportation funds for candidates who are called back for interviewing, up to $2,000.

CLOSED SESSION—Prior to the regular session held a closed session to hear charges against a teacher.

NEXT SESSION—Adjourned until 8 p.m. May 4 at the district office, Larkspur.

Schultz Replaced On County Panel

Niels Schultz Jr., Marin County planning commissioner for 14 years, was replaced today by John F. West of San Anselmo by unanimous vote of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Schultz, who lives in Greenbrae, is in the Second District, represented by Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr.

Arrigoni nominated West, a consultant in shipping and foreign trade transportation and a San Anselmo planning commissioner for almost six years.

Arrigoni said he had informed Schultz about the new appointment. At his suggestion, the supervisors voted a resolution of commendation to Schultz for his service on the county planning commission since March 6, 1956.

Michael Praszker, an at-large member of the county planning commission, resigned effective yesterday, when his term expired. Praszker, a soils engineer, explained that the pressure of his job and the need to travel extensively make it impossible for him to devote enough time to the county planning commission.

County supervisors decided to wait until next week to name a successor to Praszker.

Supervisors Discuss I-J Dispute; No Action

Anonymous telephone calls asking citizens to cancel their subscriptions to the Independent-Journal and then threatening them if they do not agree is "poor policy," Supervisor Louis H. Baar declared this morning at a meeting of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

He said he had received several calls from his constituents, particularly women, who complained about the phone campaign.

"I don't mind the suggestion to cancel subscriptions so much but when they threaten the people because they don't agree, I thing it's poor policy. . .

"As a county, I think we should write a letter to the union to stop the calls and harrassment."

Other supervisors rejected any official county action because it would be difficult to tie the telephone calls directly to San Francisco International Typographical Union 21, which struck the newspaper on Jan. 7.

Chairman John F. McInnis, however, introduced an April 1970 newsletter issued by the Golden Gate Progressive Club of the ITU, 1163 Cambridge Street, Novato, which connects the telephone campaign to the union. The newsletter also ties in the Marin clergymen's request to the supervisors on April 7, asking for a citizens fact finding committee to delve into the union's strike against the I-J.

The newsletter states that the subscription cancellation campaign "carried out by out people is a success." The newsletter also states that "Local 21 is now busy organizing committees of clergymen and businessmen to pressure the I-J to negotiate."

The clergymen's request to the supervisors was obviously not a spontaneous effort by the clergy but came from pressure by the union, declared McInnis. "I don't mind their doing it but, if they are going to represent the union, I'd rather have them say so."

The supervisors took no action today on the clergymen's request for such a committee.

They read a letter from Wishard A. Brown, publisher of the Independent-Journal, who wrote that such a committee would be inappropriate at a time when both parties are scheduled to negotiate at a meeting this Friday, with other meetings to follow.

Brown also noted that "the state and federal courts, as well as the National Labor Relations Board, have actions pending which could effect or accomplish the same objectives in the dispute."

Brown asked, if the board wished to appoint a fact-finding committee, "why not appoint one to investigate the vandalism and property damage to Marin County business establishments." He noted, however, that "perhaps this would better be a function of the Marin County Grand Jury."

Sleuths Finding School Fire Clues

What could be pertinent evidence in Sunday's arson fire which destroyed most of Stinson Beach School was found yesterday by inspectors from the Marin County sheriff's office who, with an arson specialist, sifted through the wreckage of the school yesterday, Inspector Arthur Disterheft reported today.

Although he declined to say what was found, Disterheft said the items have been sent to the state crime laboratory in Sacramento for analysis.

Lt. Guido Battaglia of the sheriff's office promised an intensive investigation will continue until his men find out who is responsible for the fire. The lieutenant said that at this time there is nothing to indicate children set the blaze.

windows were broken in the downtown area. A girl student was bruised by a chair thrown in the Atlantic City High School cafeteria, and a city policeman was kicked and beaten when he tried to make arrests.

The high school was closed pending an investigation of the cause of the trouble. It was said to have been started by a false stabbing rumor.

Racial tension was also blamed for firebombings at both the high school and the University of Kansas in Lawrence, Kan. Part of the student union at the university was destroyed, but there was only minor fire damage at the high school, where several windows were shot out. (See photo, page 2.)

Warrant Is Issued In Marijuana Case

A bench warrant with bail set at $1,000 was issued yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for Robert Michael Katen, 12, of San Francisco, when he failed to make a court appearance.

Katen is charged with possessing marijuana and a device for smoking it Nov. 27 in Sausalito.

Drake High Has A Bomb Scare

The buildings at Sir Francis Drake High School were evacuated today after Fairfax police received a telephone call saying a bomb had been planted at the school.

The call was received by the Fairfax police at 9:41 a.m. from a man described as "young with a fairly low voice." The caller told police "there's a bomb at Drake High," and hung up.

The buildings were ordered cleared shortly after 10:30 a.m. and students were readmitted a few minutes later, Allen said. San Anselmo police and faculty members conducted the search of buildings and grounds.

Bomb Scares Empty Two Sausalito Schools

Bomb scares emptied Central and Martin Luther King schools in Sausalito today.

Officials at Central received a call at about 9:45 p.m .that a bomb had been planted, but police found no device. About an hour later, King officials received a similar call and police were called again in a futile search. Classes resumed after the searches.

Restaurant Site Plan Is Rejected

A site plan for a Burger Chef restaurant at the southwest corner of Camino Alto and East Blithedale Avenue was turned down last night by the Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee, according to Howard R. McGill, city zoning administrator.

McGill said the committee questioned whether such a restaurant should be allowed at that location, the secondary entrance to Mill Valley from the east and indicated it would be particularly concerned about the design of any building on the site.

Representatives for the restaurant have not applied to the city for a use permit, McGill said.

The Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee also:

SERVICE STATION — Rejected a plan from Atlantic Richfield for a new service station to replace an old station at 789 Redwood Highway and asked the oil company representatives to submit other plans for station buildings.

SIGN ORDINANCE — Made no additional revision recommendations for the city's sign ordinance.

an, whose seat was not up for election in April, and Callinan involve the purchase of seven houses they made last year in partnership with William Shiller.

Callinan said that City Atty. Robert Maxwell was consulted before the partnership agreement was made and gave the opinion that it would not be proper. A memo on the partnership was submitted to all councilman, he said.

The council asked Maxwell to review the petition and make a recommendation at the May 4 council meeting.

"It's just a post election effort to keep the pot stirred," Callinan said, adding that such moves undermine public confidence in government.

Callinan said Maxwell will also be consulted about possible legal action against the signatories of the petition on behalf of the council and individuals involved.

Session Wednesday

The Santa Venetia Flood Control Advisory board will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow at MacPhail School to discuss Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District relocation work on Meadow Drive.

SIGNS

"the law directs the Division of Highways to remove signs that do not comply with the regulations."

Rey Collins, zoning enforcement officer of the Marin County Planning Department, said today she is sending reminders to all candidates of the county's own ordinance on political signs.

This, which applies only in the unincorporated area, limits display of political signs to "not more than 45 days before, or more than 10 days after, the conclusion of the political campaign to which it relates."

Last Saturday was 45 days before the June 2 primary election. Many signs for candidates in that election were up well ahead of that date.

How much the county will do about enforcing this ordinance was put in doubt, however, by remarks by County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney.

He called the 45-day limitation a bit vague, questioning whether the date of election is the conclusion of the campaign.

(The ordinance was prepared by the county counsel's office.)

Sign ordinances governing political signs within incorporated cities vary from city to city. Signs within cities which are within 660 feet of Highway 101, however, would come under the state law.

Belvedere Shuns Public Tree Rules

George V. Banning, chairman of the commission, said that a slight majority of those replying to a post card poll said they opposed an ordinance to prevent trees from blocking views. The results were announced at last night's commission meeting.

The cards were mailed to all Belvedere residents, Banning said. About half replied.

"Apparently most of those responding felt such matters should be settled between neighbors," Banning said.

The commission forwarded the results to the city council, which had requested the survey, Banning said.

The Belvedere Planning Commission also:

ZONING—Recommended that the city council correct an omission from the city's zoning ordinance and include duplexes and two-family residences in the group of structures that can be built in an R-2 zone.

PLAN—Referred to subcommittee a proposal by Lawrence Livingston planning consultants that a master plan for Belvedere be formulated.

ADJOURNMENT —Adjourned to its next regular meeting May 18 at 8 p.m. in the community hall.

Guilty Verdict In Stabbing Case

A Marin Superior Court Jury deliberated yesterday for over nine hours before finding Ivory Weeks Jr., 32, of San Rafael guilty of stabbing a Marin City woman on Dec. 27.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner set sentencing for May 18.

Weeks, reportedly jealous, had stabbed Pauline Moore with a hunting knife outside her home after he had earlier threatened her. Weeks is on parole from an earlier conviction.

istrative post Toliver will hold.

The votes opposed to his reinstatement came from Trustees James E. Muldoon and C. Gerald Clear. Clear broke a long silence on the Toliver issue by saying that while he had "great respect for Mr. Toliver's ability with children," he also had "great reservations as to how he uses that ability; I think he uses children," he said.

Toliver immediately called for an open personnel session at the board's next meeting to discuss what he termed "accusations." "Fine," Clear snapped.

Last night's community meeting began with a minor conflict, with the trustees first balking, then agreeing to follow an agenda prepared by citizens of the black community.

As far more than the maximum capacity (100) of the school district office attempted to get into the meeting, the board agreed to move to Bayside School, where trustees and citizens alike sat on children's small chairs, around low students' tables.

Items discussed and brought up by community members covered a broad range, from use of Title 1 funds to last week's two-day "sick-out" by 58 of the district's 121 regular employees.

On the former issue, the board agreed to set up staff and parent advisory committees to help administer the federal funds providing special educational assistance for disadvantaged children.

Supt. Phillip W. Schneider admitted the district, like most other districts in the state at the program's beginning, had neglected the guideline directive to establish such groups. Schneider did not answer a charge by a black teacher aide that a "phony" list of advisory group members had been sent to the state.

Walton asked that members of the Black Employees Association be included in planning for fund use and the board agreed that all segments of the community should be included in the two committees.

In the matter of the "sick-out", Walton charged that the superintendent "did not accept responsibility. He did not teach those children; he sent them home," the principal said, "He denied them their day of education."

In response to questions of why younger teachers, who "can relate to the children," must be discharged first in any budget cuts while older teachers "who cannot relate are kept," Schneider said the problem was one of tenure regulations. "I'll admit tenure is a real problem sometimes, but there is nothing we can do," he added.

Royce McLemore, leader of a Marin City parents group, brought up the board's decision to put first through sixth graders under Robert E. Lea, now Central principal, next year. Saying that things have improved so greatly at King School this year under the administration of Walton, Mrs. McLemore said young black children need a strong black administrator if they are to get a good education.

"For the first time this year, black children are starting to get an equal education — something that has not happened in all your five years of integration," she said. "It seems the younger grades are important; by the time they get to MLK, they have missed the boat." She questioned why Walton was not being given charge of the younger children, "when he has managed to accomplish so much this year."

The board gave no firm answer to her question, but talked vaguely of "sound education." Strong support of Walton's accomplishments came from a number of other parents and students in the audience.

Rev. Samuel L. Banks Jr., chairman of the Marin City Council, drew applause and cries of "Right on" when he proposed that Marin City may have to set up its own school if the board continued to ignore the wishes of the black community.

Weekends In Jail For Marijuana Count

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court yesterday placed Warren Paul Boyd, 21, of Novato, on probation for one year, fined him $200 and ordered him to spend five weekends in jail.

Boyd had admitted last month that he possessed marijuana on March 27, 1969.

Gebhart said yesterday that it apparently was not a police bullet that felled Moran. The bullet was smaller than those used by the police, he said.

He also said he didn't think there was a connection between the death of Moran and the ban on the campus radio which followed.

He said the sheriff evidently objected to the general news being broadcast and felt it contributed to the violence.

"We're pretty damned mad" about the ban, he said.

The station was allowed to begin broadcasting again about 6:30 a.m. Saturday, but the staff was told that only music could be broadcast Saturday night. News and other announcements were forbidden.

Gebhart said they were allowed to give news Sunday night, but no news of Isla Vista. Early Monday morning, he said, the ban was lifted completely.

With the ban lifted Gebhart had gone downtown to broadcast an on-the-spot report of the then quiet scene. It was while returning home from this broadcast that he was arrested, he said.

A university spokesman said yesterday that seven students had been injured by police birdshot. None was seriously injured, he said.

Gebhart said it was quiet yesterday in Isla Vista, but he would not predict an end to the violence.

Santa Barbara. Officers said they were taken into custody without resistance about five hours after the bomb scare.

Isolated cases were reported of rocks and bottles being thrown at police cars early today by groups of two or three youths who quickly faded into apartment buildings in the area.

Deputies reported no injuries overnight and no arrests besides those of Harvey and Walker. Officers reported residents in the 8,000-population campus community were for the most part obeying the 11 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew.

The only two known firebombs burned out harmlessly in the street, officers said. The oft-attacked Bank of America building—a modest-sized prefab replacement for the $250,000 structure burned by activists in four days of disturbances last February — remained untroubled under blazing floodlights through the night.

In his statement Monday, Chief Trembley said of Moran's death that "the pandemonium and confusion caused by the heavy exchange of gunfire make it impossible at this time to determine accurately whether the officer's weapon fired the fatal projectile."

"We are requesting the findings of the outside agency be presented to a coroner's inquest hearing that will be especially appointed for this purpose," the chief said. "The unusual procedure has been agreed to by the district attorney, the sheriff of the county and the chief of police to preclude any possible implication of whitewashing this tragic affair."

Driverless Auto Injures Workman

A 20-year old Denver, Colo., lineman working for Southwestern Cable Television was injured today when he was pinned between a driverless car and his truck on Mountain View Avenue, in San Rafael.

The lineman, Jack Hubbell of the Marin Hotel, 4136 Redwood Highway, was taken to Marin General Hospital where a spokesman said he was being examined for possible fractures of both legs.

The accident occurred at 10 a.m. when a driverless car rolled down a driveway at the George W. Walton home at 300 Mountain View Avenue, pinning Hubbell to the truck. San Rafael firemen were called to help free the injured man.

Two Face Charge After Pot Arrest

Two Fairfax residents were arrested last night on suspicion of possessing and cultivating marijuana, according to Fairfax police.

George Francis Curtis, 22, and Mary Kathryn Curtis, 19, both of 14 Sequoia Road, were booked at 7:35 p.m. yesterday at Marin County Jail and released after posting $500 bail to appear in Municipal Court Friday.

Details of the arrest were not available.

Marijuana Seller Sent To Hospital

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court yesterday ordered Carter Hall, 22, former Sausalito resident who is also known as Terry Thomas, to commit himself to Napa State Hospital.

Hall had earlier been found guilty of two sales of marijuana in 1967 and 1968.

He had been slated to go to trial in 1968 but disappeared and was returned to Marin this year on a bench warrant. It was reported that he had spent the past year in a southern California hospital.

After Judge McGuire found him guilty last month, two doctors reported that Hall is a "heavy drug user" and is psychotic.

The judge yesterday also placed him on probation for two years.

Drug Suspects Due In Court

A Berkeley man and a Tiburon woman have been ordered to appear in Northwest Marin Judicial Court tomorrow after being arrested near Point Reyes Station Sunday on suspicion of having marijuana.

Sheriff's deputies said they saw David DeWitt Black, 25, and Marilyn Edith Babakan, 37, of 45-E Redhill Circle, apparently sharing a pot cigarette as they sat in their small station-wagon by the roadside three miles north of Point Reyes Station.

Deputies said what appeared to be marijuana smoke was pouring from the open sunroof of the vehicle.

Petalumans Argue Over River Relief

The Petaluma City Council haggled last night on how much the city should do to aid river-threatened houses in the Linda del Mar subdivision and prepared to meet with homeowners Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

The residents on Rocca Drive and Jess Avenue, watching the Petaluma River rapidly erode their backyards and foundations, had asked the city to solve the problem or move the houses.

Councilmen Fred V. Mattei and Robert A. Brunner said they would meet with the troubled homeowners at city hall to find a solution, but questioned how much the city could legally do to aid them.

City Atty. Edouard E. Robert said he doubted that funds set aside from a lawsuit against the subdivider could be used to move the houses. "The funds must be used for a public purpose," he said, adding the city had no legal obligation to the homeowners.

Councilman Philip L. Joerger said the $64,215 had been set aside for the homeowners and said that legal opinions should be overlooked and tested in court if necessary to bring assistance. He also charged that interest from the money should have been returned to the special fund rather than going into the general fund.

Joerger said the best answer would be for the city to purchase other property and arrange for the lending institutions to pay the house moving charges. He said the city could use the property for a green belt or riverside park.

Councilman David W. Brainerd said that most of the homes have since been sold and that the original homeowners who prompted the lawsuit were no longer involved.

Mattei said the Thursday meeting would be conducted with an open attitude to see what could be done.

The Petaluma City Council Also:

CURBS—Awarded a contract for curb rounding on D Street at Petaluma Boulevard South, to the Don Dowd Co. of Sebastopol at a cost of $4,370. The project had been estimated to cost $4,442.

EXTENSION—Heard a report that the city and Petaluma city schools office are working on plans to extend McGregor Avenue through to Park Lane as had been requested by the McDowell School Parent-Teachers Association.

RIVER—Agreed to the request of Sea Scout leader Mervin S. Waters to have the city engineering department place markers in the Petaluma River to warn boats against dangerous low water areas. He said that situation is worse than last year before the river was dredged. The council agreed to ask Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, to schedule another dredging as soon as possible.

PARKING—Agreed to limit parking on D Street between Fourth and Fifth streets to two hours after hearing complaints from the United Methodist Church that commuters were taking all the parking spaces.

PLANNING — Scheduled a meeting with the planning commission next Monday at 7:30 p.m. to discuss enlargement of the commission.

Plywood Stolen

Twenty-six pieces of exterior plywood worth a total of $119 owned by Empire Construction Co. of San Francisco were stolen over the weekend from Bergman's Manufacturing Co., 632 Irwin Street, San Rafael police reported today.

No Tour Plans

Wilson C. Riles, candidate for state superintendent of public instruction, will not campaign in Marin County Thursday and Friday as reported yesterday in the Independent-Journal. He visited Marin last Thursday and Friday.

Souza To Seek A Vote Recount

Robert R. Souza, who lost his bid for reelection to the Fairfax City Council last week, said today he will ask for a recount.

Souza drew 978 votes to Albert E. Gately's 981.

He told the Independent-Journal today that he had mailed the letter calling for the recount.

Frances Lestanguet, Fairfax City Clerk, said she had nothing in writing from Souza.

She said she did not know if the request for the recount would be considered by the city council at their meeting tonight.

Jewelry Stolen

A ring, pendant, watch, peace symbol, rear view mirror and medal with a total value of $112 were stolen Saturday from a car owned by Christine J. Van Loo of 24 Greenwood Avenue and parked in a lot at 77 Vivian Way, San Rafael police reported yesterday. Damage to front and side windows broken in the burglary was estimated at $80, police said.

Werber Will Remain Free; $5,000 Bail

A Marin Superior Court judge yesterday allowed former Kingston Trio manager Frank N. Werber to remain free on bail while his marijuana conviction is appealed.

Judge E. Warren McGuire overruled arguments by Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales that Werber was not entitled to bail and should begin serving a six-month jail sentence immediately as well as pay the $2,000 fine imposed by the judge last week.

The judge said that since Werber had not been sentenced to state prison, he was legally entitled to post bail during appellate proceedings.

BIG BAIL PLEA

Bales, who said that he "continues to hear reports from narcotics agents all over the Bay Area" that Werber's Sausalito restaurant, the Trident, is a gathering place for dope pushers, then asked $50,000 bail.

Judge McGuire said he "had never heard of bail of that amount" for marijuana possession and cultivation convictions. He set bail at $5,000 and gave the 40-year-old entertainment tycoon five days to raise the sum.

Werber's attorney, Terence Hallinan, apparently plans to appeal the case to a higher court on the grounds that Werber should be allowed to use marijuana because he finds it necessary for his spiritual well-being.

Judge McGuire, after listening to an array of witnesses at a trial in February, ruled that the religious defense could not be used in this case. A jury then quickly found Werber guilty of possessing and cultivating pot.

HOME ARREST

Werber was arrested at his home on De Silva Island in Richardson Bay on Oct. 14, 1968, after federal agents were led there by two men who had brought six seabags of marijuana into the United States from Mexico.

Although Werber was acquitted in federal court of importing the seabags, he was then charged in Marin with possessing about four kilos of pot found throughout his house as well as 27 plants growing outside in a corn patch.

In recent years the amount of lumber used in the average new home has increased from 8,000 to 10,000 board feet.

Novato Sets Special School Budget Round

Novato Unified School District trustees last night briefly discussed the recent election defeat of its tax limit increase and priorities in cutting the budget for next fiscal year, then set a special meeting at 8 p.m. next Monday to discuss them.

Chairman Marett B. Boissevain pointed out that a switch of 150 votes would have passed the 85-cent tax limit increase.

"We've got to go for it again," said Paul C. Scheller, cochairman of the citizens committee for the tax increase.

"Let's try again, but try harder," said trustee Leonora Dougherty.

The board asked Scheller to ask the citizens committee to meet with the board next week.

Supt. James G. Bunker told the trustees that the district would have less money next fiscal year than this one because it dipped into its beginning reserves for $200,000 for this year.

"I am counting only the same amount of federal and state money for next year as we got this year," Bunker said.

Suggested cuts include transportation, subsidizing the food program, field trips, janitorial service and library services.

The board decided to discuss these next Monday to establish some sort of priority in cuts for fiscal 1970-71.

The Novato School District Board Also:

SUMMER SCHOOL—Approved a $75,000 budget for summer school, but voted down $6,000 for bus transportation from home to school during summer school.

BOUNDARIES—Changed the boundary for junior high schools, putting those children who live on Eighth Street to Simmons Lane from Novato Boulevard to San Marin Drive in Hill Junior High School instead of Sinaloa Junior High School and in San Marin High School instead of Novato High School.

APPLICATIONS—Approved a $17,865 application for matching federal funds for the elementary reading program and $6,976 for books and supplies. The latter program is federally financed.

AUDIT—Hired Sodeblom and Co. to make the audit for this fiscal year.

PERSONNEL—Accepted resignations from Beverly Barish from Rancho School and Barbara Hain from Novato High School effective June 12. Granted Naomi Kirschner a leave of absence from Rancho School for next year but denied Larry Schwartz a sabattical leave for next year.

TENURE—Granted tenure to 61 teachers by a 6-0 vote with trustee Ronald D. Schenck abstaining. He said he did not feel qualified to pass on the teachers without a more complete report on them.

GIFT—Accepted with thanks a gift of $200 from the Hamilton Air Force Base thrift shop for plantings around Hamilton School.

PAINTER—Received, but took no action on, a request from Frank Neiri of the painters' union that the district hire a union painter.

BB Guns Used To Crack Windows

Windows in two San Rafael homes were smashed by vandals using BB guns during the weekend, police reported yesterday.

A $100 sliding glass door was broken Friday at the home of William B. Savage, 4 Knight Drive and a $150 window was broken yesterday at the home of John Crisci, 64 Vallejo Way.

Jews' Plea Rebuffed

THE HAGUE (UPI)—A delegation of Dutch Jews presented a petition to the Soviet embassy Monday, appealing for justice for Jews in the Soviet Union. V. N. Sorokin, the embassy's second secretary, refused the petition and said there was no Jewish problem in his country.

Lenin Fete Hears Vows For Peace

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev today pledged the Soviet Union will work to curb the arms race and settle other international issues by negotiation.

"We shall continue our active efforts to halt the ruinous arms race, secure disarmament and settle outstanding issues between states on a reasonable foundation, by negotiation," Brezhnev told a meeting opening the Lenin centenary celebration.

Realistic thinkers in the West "may be confident that in the Soviet Union they will have a partner ready to promote mutually beneficial cooperation," he added.

At the same time the party leader assured 6,000 dignitaries in the Kremlin Palace of Congresses that the Soviet Union will continue to strengthen its defenses and to equip its army with the "most up to date weapons."

Brezhnev drew heavy applause when he said that only a Communist system could keep up a steady flow of aid to North Vietnam and when he claimed that the "U.S. adventure in Vietnam is experiencing failure."

The delegates also gave him a ringing ovation when he accused Communist China's leaders of "breaking with Lenin's teachings" and said the men in Peking have "revealed themselves as renegades."

Publisher Tells Of Of Merger Talks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Three years of negotiations preceded the operating agreement reached in 1965 between the Chronicle and Examiner, publisher Charles de Young Theriot has testified in the KRON-TV license renewal hearing.

Theriot, head of the Chronicle Publishing Co. of which KRON-TV is a subsidiary, testified Monday that he was first approached by Randolph A. Hearst, president of the Hearst Corp. and publisher of the Examiner, in 1962 to "explore or consider" a joint operating agreement.

The agreement involved the Examiner becoming an afternoon paper, absorbing the existing Hearst afternoon Call-Bulletin and leaving the morning field to the Chronicle except for a jointly produced Sunday edition.

Stereo Stolen

Tiburon Vote Recount Leaves Results Same

Tiburon City Council candidate Alvin R. Kuhn added one vote in yesterday's recount of last Tuesday's municipal election but fell a single ballot short of gaining a tie with M. Carlisle Becker for the third council seat.

The loss means Kuhn must forfeit the $80 deposit he put up when he asked for the recount.

Albert R. Sennet, top vote getter, also gained a ballot; The recount showed him with 868 votes. Mayor Branwell D. Fanning's total remained at 836.

Kuhn said today that the 49 per cent voter turnout in the peninsula city, which he called the second lowest in its history, was a factor in his defeat.

"More than half the people in Tiburon didn't vote," he said. "The more people who turn out for an election, the more valid that election is."

Kuhn said he would remain active in community affairs although it was "too early to say" if he would run for the council in 1972.

Juvenile Court To Handle Pot Charges

The cases of two 19-year-olds accused of marijuana charges have been transferred to Marin Juvenile Court. Joel George Carpenter and Margaret Joyce Thayer, both of Novato, were arrested by a drug agent April 1 when he saw them sitting on a hillside near the Civic Center apparently sharing a pipe of pot.

He is charged with possessing the marijuana and pipe and she with being in a place where narcotics were used.

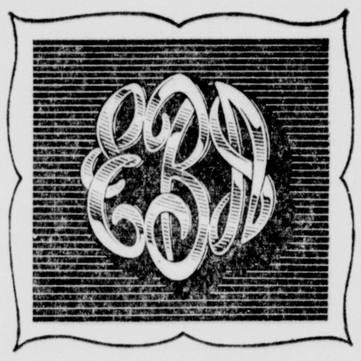

In this country, 2.5 million criminals move through the prison system each year at a cost of about one billion dollars to the government.

Even 100 years ago Mr. McGuffey and Mr. Webster knew better. The English language is 85% phonetic.

Today is Tuesday, April 21, the 111th day of 1970 with 254 to follow.

The moon is full. The morning star is Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 753 B.C. Rome was founded by Romulus.

In 1954 U.S. Air Force planes began flying French troops from Paris to Indo-China to reinforce Dienbienphu.

In 1965 a U.N. disarmament commission reconvened for the first time since 1960 when there was a stalemate.

In 1967 the Greek army took control of the government.

A thought for the day: Irish dramatist Richard Brinsley Sheridan said, "Conscience has no more to do with gallantry than it does with politics."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

A Noble Move Enables The Declarer To Score Victory

When an opponent is headed in the wrong direction you don't normally take the trouble to set him right. The unusual thing about today's hand is that Tannah Hirsch, the new editor of the American Contract Bridge League Bulletin, stopped declarer from taking a losing finesse. Hirsch acted from the noblest of motives: it was the only way to defeat the contract.

NOT ORIGINAL

There wasn't much to the selection of the opening lead; Hirsch simply led the unbid suit. A "normal" club opening would allow declarer to win the first trick with the jack of clubs. South would then have eight sure tricks and all the time in the world to develop the spades.

When West opened the eight of hearts, declarer let it ride around to the king and then led the ten of spades for a finesse. It was obvious that declarer planned to take a losing finesse to the queen of spades. Bridge players spend years learning how to play low when defending against such a declarer, allowing the poor fellow to lose his finesse without interference.

IMPOSSIBLE POSITION

In this case, however, Hirsch saw that his partner would be in an impossible position if he won the first spade trick with the queen. East would be unable to return a heart without giving declarer a third trick in the suit. Moreover, even if East could safely knock out the ace of hearts he would be unable to regain the lead. The East hand would be dead, and declarer could comfortably give up a second spade trick to make his contract.

ACE OF SPADES

Hirsch therefore hopped up with the ace of spades at the second trick in order to lead his remaining heart. South eventually tried the spades again, hoping that West had started with the queen of spades as well as the ace.

East therefore got in with the queen of spades and cashed the rest of the hearts to defeat the contract.

ANSWER: Bid one diamond.

Yesterday's Answer

Smog Curbs Eyed By Sonoma County

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday heard suggestions on what burning regulations should be put into effect by the Sonoma County Air Pollution Control District.

Supervisor Ignazio A. Vella of Sonoma opened discussion by saying the regulations must be at least as stringent as those imposed by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District if the state Legislature is to consider permitting the single district concept.

Two weeks ago the board established the single county district, turning its back on the regional board and possible alliances with other neighboring counties.

Santa Rosa Mayor Jack Ryerson, speaking for six of the eight county mayors, offered regulations which would ban all burning by June 30, 1972. He said the mayors disagreed with the supervisors' plan not to set any time limits on the prohibition of burning.

The mayors suggested that all new industries and businesses conform with the standards of the regional district as a minimum and said that existing businesses should be given a maximum of five years to conform.

Construction waste should not be burned on site, the mayors said, adding that builders should be required to show arrangements have been made for the disposal of waste materials before the issuance of building permits.

Ryerson said the mayors felt that incinerators approved by by the board should be self-contained and smoke free.

They said that backyard burning was not proposed for prohibition immediately, to give the city councils time to hold public hearings and to provide alternatives in refuse disposal for homeowners. He said the 1972 date would be sufficient time to end open air burning.

In the area of agricultural burning, the mayors suggested that only reasonable regulations be set forth in cooperation with agricultural organizations.

Vella said the problem with halting backyard burning was the need to provide an alternative. He said mandatory garbage collection should be considered along with the acquisition of new refuse disposal sites.

Richard R. Day of Rohnert Park questioned how the regulations would be enforced, saying he doubted the staff size being considered would be adequate.

County Administrator David L. Nichols said enforcement would be in the domain of the executive officer, who has not yet been selected.

The board said it would consider the suggested regulations and requested a report be prepared on proposed refuse disposal sites and estimated costs for the May 4 meeting.

The composition of an advisory board on air pollution problems will also be determined in two weeks.

Sonoma County Board Of Supervisors Also:

BIKE TRAILS — Heard requests from Jean Pratt and Mrs. Bradford Lundborg to establish an eight-mile bicycle trail starting on East Cotati Avenue, Cotati, and continuing on Old Redwood Highway to Penngrove. The supervisors said they would consider the request during budget discussions.

CLERKS — Received a request from Victor J. Van Bourg, attorney for Office and Professional Workers Union Local No. 3, to meet again next week to discuss a salary increase for law enforcement clerks. The clerks had requested that the proposed July increase be raised from 2.5 per cent to 10 per cent.

WATER — Authorized an agreement with the Marin Municipal Water District and North Marin County Water District to share costs on preliminary design work on the Sonoma-Marin aqueduct. Cost to Sonoma County will be $463,000 while the Marin districts will pay $537,000.

Hickel Defends Pollution Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel said today the $4 billion the Nixon administration plans to spend on its program to curb water pollution is a reasonable price.

"We do not exaggerate the problems and we are not asking for a commitment of resources beyond what is needed and can be used effectively," he said.

Objection to the money figure has risen from some members of Congress who feel it does not commit enough federal funds soon enough and long enough to do an adequate job.

GOP Assembly Rolls

Council Session In Cotati To Seat Two

The Cotati City Council will meet in special session at 7:30 p.m. today to swear in newly elected Councilmen Frank J. Dolinsek and Herbert T. Winters.

The mayor and vice mayor will be chosen and returns of the successful $100,000 sewer bond election will be verified.

Causes Damage

A thief attempting to break into nine lockers Friday or Saturday at the Vallecito School, Nova Albion Way, caused $50 damage, San Rafael police reported today. One locker was pried open, police said, and its papers strewn around the room.

Pet-Spaying Clinic Held Unfeasible

A pet-spaying clinic on a mass production basis would be unfeasible because one veterinarian can spay only about six animals per day, two doctors told a group of dog and cat fanciers at the Civic Center yesterday.

Dr. C. W. Owens, president of the Marin County Veterinary Medical Association, and Dr. C. J. Peetz of Corte Madera met with pet fanciers to discuss the over-population of cats and dogs.

The two veterinarians said spaying is major surgery that costs between $30 and $75 per animal. They said the county's veterinarians would be glad to cooperate in any spaying program but warned that operations could not keep up with the pet explosion.

The meeting was called by Timothy M. Jackson of the county administrator's office as a result of a proposal for a pet-spaying clinic suggested last month by Margaret Y. Goodyear of Mill Valley.

Even though a mass clinic is impractical, the group decided that some type of clinic should be investigated. It appointed a four-member committee to investigate alternatives and costs and report back to the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

On the committee are Evelyn Kionig, president of the Marin County Cat Fanciers; Mrs. J. J. Graves, representing Mrs. Goodyear; Mel L. Morse, executive director of the Marin County Humane Society, and Dr. Peetz.

Mrs. Lee Crouch of Mill Valley and several others, including Mill Valley City Councilman Jean Barnard, insisted that a spaying clinic, even on a modest scale, would help solve some of the over-population problem. Mrs. Crouch said that private or county funds could help defray the cost of spaying for those who love their pets but cannot pay $30 to $75.

APOLLO CREW TO REPORT ON NEAR TRAGEDY

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Apollo 13's astronauts report to the nation tonight on their brush with death in a moonflight failure that cast doubt on the future of America's next manned space voyage.

James A. Lovell, John L. Swigert and Fred W. Haise scheduled a 4:30 p.m. (PST) nationally televised news conference to discuss what they saw and heard when an explosion ripped their spacecraft eight days ago and wrecked their planned moon landing. It will be repeated at 7:30 p.m. on channel 5.

The astronauts also will give their personal account of their four-day fight for survival on the 312,619 mile emergency return to earth.

Driver Is Treated For Accident Cuts

The California Highway patrol said a car driven by William E. Hildreth, 41, of 250 Emerstone Terrace, ran off the road. No other details were available.

Tempers Rise Over Lowering Of Flag

Although trustees refused to deal with the issue of whether the flag at King can be lowered to half-staff until the Vietnam war is over and made no decision on the matter, the question raised spirited comment.

Sidney K. Walton, King principal first hoisted the issue early in the meeting when he said he had ordered the flag lowered at the request of more than 200 students and staff members who presented him with a petition that such action be taken "until the killing has stopped in Vietnam."

"I think it was a reasonable, humanistic thing to do, respectful of the flag and the men who are dying in the war, many of whom are dying for rights they do not even possess in this country," said the principal, drawing applause.

Walton said he had attempted to call President Richard M. Nixon yesterday to ask permission for the flag lowering, since Asst. County Schools Supt. Stanley Friese, present at last night's meeting, had rendered the opinion the flag could only be flown at half-staff at the order of the President in time of national mourning.

When he failed to reach Nixon, Walton said he wrote the president a letter which ended "Unless I hear from you personally, I will assume you are in agreement with our position."

The board took no action on the principal's comments and the flag question was dropped, until it was raised unexpectedly by Friese about three hours later, out of a clear blue sky.

The assistant superintendent, apparently angered by hours of criticism of the board and Sup. Phillip W. Schneider by community members and employees, suddenly called for the board to take immediate action on the flag controversy.

Calling Walton's action an "apparent flaunting of the traditions of this country and this country's flag," Friese stated no elementary school principal has "the privilege to lower the flag."

"After what I have heard tonight, the way some of these employees talk, I'd suggest Mr. Walton muy a 25-foot extension to the school's flagpole and raise his flag to the highest and thank God he is in a place where such things can happen," Friese said heatedly.

Schneider immediately rose to Walton's defense and criticized Friese for his remarks. "I'm sorry you brought this up in this manner," he told the assistant county superintendent. "The board and I and Sid can deal with each other; we have our own ways of talking to each other."

"Sid and I get angry at each other, but I feel he has the right to say anything he wants," Schneider said. Commenting on Friese's implication that a lack of respect had been shown Schneider and the board, Walton commented that "I respect those people. I respect Phil Schneider; I may attack him, but he's a man and he can take it."

King Vice Principal James T. Toliver suggested Friese had spoken out to "disrupt this meeting," and urged the audience to not respond emotionally to his comments. "I think this should be dropped," Toliver stated. It was, at least for the time being.

Novato Revising City Litter Ban

The first draft of an antilitter ordinance was approved last night by the Novato Beautification Committee, according to chairman Gail Wilhelm.

The Public Works Department had prepared the ordinance modeled on others. It differs from the present antilitter ordinance in Novato by requiring people to keep their own yards litter free.

The ordinance will now go to City Atty. Clark M. Palmer Jr. for his opinion before being submitted to the council, Mrs. Wilhelm said.

The committee was given an anonymous gift of 162 decorative cinder blocks and is trying to find out how it wants to use them, she said.

Barber also reported the department is planning a sports clinic, football, baseball and basketball, this summer at the Fairfax baseball park with coaches acting as instructors in fundamentals of each sport.

Zodiac Clues Believed Bogus

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Detectives say the infamous Zodiac killer probably was not responsible for the knife slaying discovered Sunday of Robert Salem, a 40-year-old lampmaker.

The killer wrote "Satan Save Zodiac" in blood on Salem's wall and used a sign similar to the one used by Zodiac. Police say the unidentified Zodiac is responsible for at least five slayings in the Bay Area in the past 1½ years.

Inspector Gus Coreris said Monday, "Probably the person we are after wanted us to think it was Zodiac But other than the word on the wall there is absolutely nothing linking Zodiac to the murder of Mr. Salem."

Womack Asks Bigger Drug Abuse Funding

J. Wayne Womack, candidate for supervisor from the Fifth District, has pledged increased support to the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau at a gathering at Black Point Inn.

Womack made his pledge Sunday to a group of people from Black Point and Green Point at a gathering sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Jess Fisher, owner of Black Point Inn.

"As a supervisor, I will use the careful money policies that have characterized my eight years on the Novato City Council; however, I will back every budget request and staff increase for the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau," he said.

He said that since the bureau was formed in 1967 it has not had a single staff increase. The bureau's budget has not increased in the same ratio as the drug violations, Womack said. He said he understood that the men were working a 55-to-60-hour week to keep up with the increase in drug use in the county.

Car Stereo Stolen

Stereophonic equipment valued at $105 was stolen between 9:30 and 10:15 p.m. Saturday from a car owned by Philip M. Vermeulen of 19 Canyon Oak Road and parked in St. Isabella's School parking lot, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

New Councilmen Will Be Installed

The swearing in of new councilmen and the appointment of a new mayor faces the Fairfax City Council when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Women's Club.

Also on the agenda is a request from Fire Chief Charles F. Thornton to attend the California Fire Chiefs' Conference and the resignation of William A. Oppelt, a street maintenance man.

Coffee Schedule For Shone Listed

Coffees for Raymond H. Shone of Nicasio, candidate for the Republican nomination for state Senate, will be held on Friday at three Novato homes; 11 a.m. at the home of Virginia Gallagher, 1:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. John Elloway and 2:30 p.m. at the home of Frank Galli.

Two CAP Units Participate In Rescue Testing

Marin Squadron 4 and Sonoma Squadron 42 of Petaluma were among the Civil Air Patrol units that participated Saturday and Sunday in the annual tests of search and rescue effectiveness.

Gnoss Field, Marin County's airport north of Novato, was used as a fueling facility for the exercises involving about 170 CAP personnel from throughout the state.

Twenty-nine aircraft flew 38 sorties with emphasis on a newly developed aircraft crash locater beam.

The Air Force placed three crash locator beacons in Marin and Sonoma Counties and they were located in the first day search effort, the CPAP reported.

Squadron 4, headed by Lt. Col. Francis E. Torr, director of Gnoss Field, is based at Hamilton Air Force Base.

PG&E and the environment: A balance of ecology and energy.

You and nearly 10 million other Californians whom PG&E serves demand a lot of gas and electricity to help make the quality of life here the finest in the world. At present rates of increasing use, twice as much energy will be needed ten years from now.

Our job is to serve your energy requirements adequately, reliably, at reasonable cost and with minimum intrusion on our beautiful California environment. Our commitment long has been to preserve—and when possible to enhance—the natural blessings of our state.

You and we have a common concern for clean air, pure water and preservation of the beauty of our state. PG&E works hard to balance this concern with the need to build facilities for abundant, economical and reliable gas and electric energy. Both environment and energy are essential to the high quality of life.

Conservation of life quality depends to a great extent upon natural gas and electricity. They help protect the environment. For instance, electricity operates domestic sewage and waste disposal plants, air pollution abatement systems and clean transportation facilities, and it illuminates your neighborhood streets to enhance safety. Gas and electric energy also reduce household drudgery and lighten man's burden on the job. They provide comforts, convenience and efficiency in the home, on the farm and in the factory or store.

In locating generating facilities, we give careful study to environmental and ecological considerations. We seek the viewpoints of customers, local community groups, conservationists and planning authorities. We consulted with all interested parties in selecting our Diablo Canyon Nuclear Plant site, for example, and our research engineers, scientists and consultants conducted studies involving ecology, oceanography, marine biology, hydrology, geology, soil chemistry, seismology, meteorology and archaeology.

Here, briefly, are some of the many things we're doing to protect land, water, air and your view.

The land:

We protect and preserve 176,000 acres of watershed land in the Sierra and the Cascades. Here PG&E lakes and reservoirs store the water power that generates one-quarter of your electricity, cleanly and without pollution.

The stored water also provides recreation, maintains stream-flow for the preservation of fish and wildlife, helps provide flood control and conserves water for municipal use and irrigation.

Our watersheds contain 150 lakes and 225 miles of streams—open for public enjoyment. Last year 1½ million campers, picnickers, sightseers and fishermen made use of PG&E's recreational facilities. Nearly half a million people enjoyed our 431 camp units and 198 picnic units.

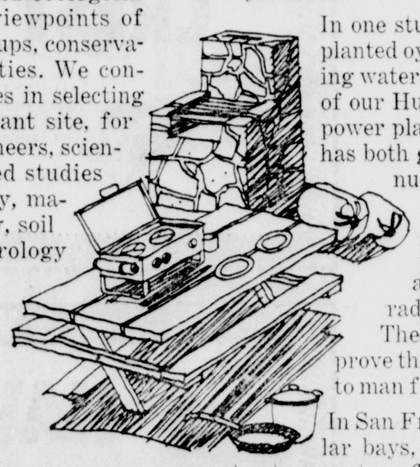

We plant fish, improve their habitat, and our weekly Stream Scout Bulletin keeps a million anglers informed on stream conditions.

The water:

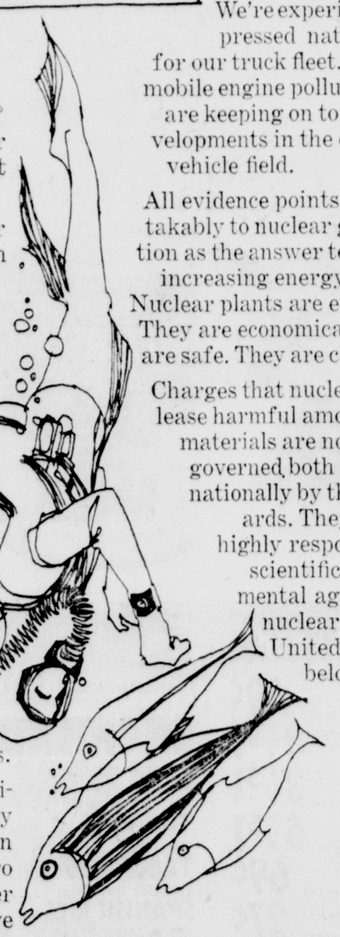

Steam-electric power plants, the primary source of your electricity, must be located with access to large bodies of water for cooling. In circulating through the plant, 60° F water normally is raised in temperature to about 78° but the heat dissipates quickly when the water is returned to the bay or ocean from which it comes.

Some have questioned the the effect of warmer water on marine life. Our scientific studies in this field over 19 years have shown there is no harmful effect on aquatic life due to exposure to this slightly and temporarily warmed water.

In one study our scientists planted oysters in the cooling water discharge canal of our Humboldt Bay power plant, which has both gas-fired and nuclear generating units. At intervals some were removed and analyzed for radiological content. The scientific studies prove that no harm could come to man from eating those oysters.

In San Francisco, Morro and similar bays, there are natural daily water temperature fluctuations of more than 20°. The warming effect of the sun on Morro Bay adds 5.7 times as much heat to the water as our power plant there does. The wind, wave action and tidal currents quickly cool the warmed water from our plant by mixing and transfer of heat to the air.

The air:

Our energy helps to protect the purity of the air. The use of electricity produces no pollution at all. The generation of electricity produces very little.

Hydroelectric plants create no air or water pollution. In our steam-electric plants, we use clean-burning natural gas almost exclusively as fuel. On exceptionally cold days — less than 10% of the time — we use oil. And we are negotiating for low-sulphur oil for these limited requirements in order to improve air quality.

We're experimenting with compressed natural gas as a fuel for our truck fleet. This reduces automobile engine pollutants 90%. And we are keeping on top of developments in the electric vehicle field.

All evidence points unmistakably to nuclear generation as the answer to man's increasing energy needs. Nuclear plants are efficient. They are economical. They are safe. They are clean.

Charges that nuclear power plants release harmful amounts of radioactive materials are not true. Radiation is governed both internationally and nationally by the most rigid standards. They are established by highly responsible independent scientific bodies and governmental agencies. Commercial nuclear power plants in the United States operate well below those standards.

The view:

Last year we put 94% of all the new residential subdivision power lines underground and we'll do even better this year.

We are making headway in a continuous program to underground existing overhead distribution lines. We budgeted $25.5 million for 1968-70 to put lines underground.

Long distance transmission lines are necessary. They are routed wherever possible through areas where they will cause the least impact on the environment. Occasionally there are some objections, but we do our best to resolve these genuine public problems in the public interest.

We're seeking ways through research to bury even these lines, too.

We're designing more attractive power poles, painting towers to blend into the landscape and introducing a new type of wire that is hard to see. We're building mini-parks or "tot-lots" on some of our transmission rights of way.

We've brightened 95% of the lighted streets and roadways in our service area to make them safer and more attractive.

We make esthetics a primary concern in the construction of our offices, substations and service centers. Many have won civic awards. Wherever possible, we're modernizing, brightening, landscaping and blending our facilities into their neighborhood environment.

A longtime commitment:

PG&E's roots are deep in California—118 years—and we long have had unique incentive to protect the state's resources and natural beauty. Our early concern for conservation in the Sierra Nevada formed a basic environmental ethic in the policies which guide our company today.

Earth Creatures From Artist's Pen

MRS. PHELPS Dewey of Tiburon sketches Paradise Cay with her six-year-old daughter, Tamar, at her Tiburon hilltop home. The artist expresses her concern for birds and animals which may face extinction in pen and ink drawings. She picketed recently to urge saving the jungle cats and the Canadian seals. Jennifer Dewey is chairman for the children's art fair to be held with a bazaar at Granada School on Saturday in the school's community room. (Independent-Journal photo by Jim Kean.)

By PAT BALMES

"I stress birds and animals in conservation," says Tiburon artist Mrs. Phelps Dewey, who is chairman for the art fair at her daughter's school on Saturday. Granada School in Corte Madera will exhibit children's art from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. and hold a bazaar.

Her hair pulled back in the status pony, 28-year-old Jennifer Dewey likes to go barefoot in her shining redwood house that climbs on two-levels up a hillside high over Paradise Cay. The wood-panelled walls are hung with her detailed pen and ink drawings of animals she loved growing up on a New Mexico ranch. They show her affection for a pet raven, an owl with feathers ruffled in irritation, a handsome eagle with a hungry, hunter's eye, a newborn chick and soft, appealing hamsters, mice and small desert creatures.

"The ranch was a wonderful place to grow up with horses. A ranger once brought us a wounded eagle to nurse," she remembers. "As he got better, he became so wild I wondered if I could get the jesses off him to free him. But when he was ready to fly, he just pecked them off himself."

With her sister, Mrs. John Fell Stevenson of San Francisco (married to the late Adlai Stevenson's youngest son), Jennifer picketed a downtown store during Christmas holidays to protest the killing of jungle cats to make fur coats. "Do you know who has a coat made of ocelot-paw fur? Just the fur from all those paws! Shirley Temple Black, says the conservationist sadly.

On March 20 they joined the members of "Friends of the Earth" conservationist group to picket the Canadian Consulate in San Francisco to protest seal hunts in Canada. Two little girls from the neighborhood joined them: Kathy Anderson of Corte Madera and Lisa Dial of Paradise Cay.

Jennifer's family is active in conservation. Her father Nathaniel Owings, senior partner in the architectural firm of Skidmore, Owings and Merrill, serves on committees and makes speeches to save open space, plan cities and urban renewal, according to Jennifer. He is working on San Francisco redevelopment projects and the Pennsylvania Ave. project in Washington, D.C., and he designed the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs. Her stepmother, Margaret Owings was appointed by the Governor to the State Park Commission and is active at her Big Sur home in a conservation group called "Friends of the Sea Otter". She, too, is an artist and does stitchery influenced by New Mexico Indian design.

Jennifer and her husband backpack and canoe regularly along Paradise Cove, where "it's a rare day you can't go canoeing" according to the young mother.

Another type of drawing that Jennifer does is whimsical "made-up" scenes of harbors, wagon trains and hillside villages. "Someday I'd like to illustrate children's books," she says displaying a picture-book and color-book she did with a mother's love and professional skill "just for Tamar who is six".

Jennifer studied art at Rhode Island School of Design and Colorado School of Fine Arts. She had some "low-paying jobs", she laughs and some shows in Santa Fe and Albuquerque, N.M. "I've had success here at galleries," Jennifer says. Her work is currently hung at the Cannery in San Francisco and in Belvedere, Greenbrae and Larkspur.

ONE OF JENNIFER DEWEY'S pen and ink sketches is of a newborn chick, one of the creatures she observed closely while growing up on a New Mexico ranch. Chairman of the Granada School art fair, she currently has examples of her bird and animal sketches in various Marin galleries.

How Does Formerly Married Woman Rebuild Social Life?

By ARLEEN ABRAHAMS
Associated Press Writer

Imagine that you're a formerly married woman—recently widowed or divorced—trying to get back into the "single" world.

You're seeking not only an enjoyable one-time date, but a succession of enjoyable evenings, a relationship that offers the possibility of growth, perhaps ultimately resulting in remarriage. Which of these three prospective dates would you choose?

—The lively, man-about-town bachelor of 40.

—A recently divorced man with whom your best friend has been dying to fix you up.

—A man who has been divorced for two years, but who is three years your junior.

ACCORDING TO Dorothy Freda, author of "Love The Second Time Around," you'd be wise to bet on the younger man who has been divorced for awhile.

"Of course, to get back in the dating game, you shouldn't turn down any legitimate prospect," says the attractive, slim widow who refused to crawl into a shell when her husband died five years ago.

"The divorced man is most eager to remarry, except for a widower with children who in reality is primarily looking for a homemaker," comments Mrs. Freda, herself the mother of two children, a 22-year-old married daughter and a 17-year-old son. "Because the divorced man has lived with a woman, he knows the give and take of living with a woman; he knows that we wear cold cream or curlers to bed on occasion; that we look frightful when we're sick, and generally he doesn't idolize his ex-wife the way a widower might."

She does advise a woman who is dating a recently divorced man to be cautious. "He may propose the first date but I wouldn't advise marrying him at this time. He's just too mixed up and confused."

WHAT ABOUT dating a younger man? "I was stunned the first time a younger man asked me out," recalled the 40ish widow as she ran her fingers through her short, streaked haid. "But after interviewing hundreds of women and men and psychologists, I learned the younger man is an extremely desirable choice as a date and the future marriage partner — provided he's not looking for a mother figure."

A bachelor over 35 may make a great date, claims Mrs. Freda, "but he doesn't know too much about women and rarely is marriage material.

"And if a friend of mine says, 'I know just the perfect man for you,' I say, 'Please don't bother.' The problem with an introduction of this type is that it's too contrived, both parties feel obligated to the mutual friend and friends rarely know the real you."

No matter how eligible your first date, Mrs. Freda warns any formerly married woman not to rush to the altar. "Don't marry the first man you date even if he's The One. Know him at least a year and see him and his faults in all sorts of situations. Too often a woman straddled with bills and young children marries in desperation. It's easier to work out the financial problems than a bad marriage," continues Mrs. Freda, who returned to the business world despite a 14 year hiatus after her husband died. An administrative secretary for the department of streets and traffic for the city of Detroit, she urges any formerly married woman to get a job to ease the adjustment process.

SOONER OR later, a woman on the dating circuit is forced to face the bed scene. "Very few women will remarry without having any premarital experience," she comments, adding, "If I were dating a man for awhile and he said he loved me and didn't try to get me into bed, I'd be worried."

This doesn't mean that a woman should jump into bed with any and every man who asks. "Sex is like liquor; if it's used indiscriminately, it's a downhill trip," she comments. "Don't go to bed just because you're lonely, mixed-up or depressed. You'll only wind up

Mrs. Lindner To Head Charitable Foundation

Mrs. Edgar T. Lindner of Kentfield has been elected president of the Marin Charitable Foundation for the coming year.

The foundation allocates money to Marin agencies upon application for funds. Last year its proceeds were used for a teenage clinic for Marin Planned Parenthood, the Boys Club of Southern Marin for an arts and crafts studio, to Marin Aid to Retarded Children for its respite home, the Marin YMCA for the drop-out program, and the Marin YWCA for a girls program.

Maude Lindner has been active in Marin County and San Francisco volunteer work since coming to California from New York in 1941. Born Maude Rennie, she was raised in Westchester County, graduated from St. Margaret's School, and attended Connecticut College. After her marriage, she lived in San Francisco where she drove a canteen truck for the Red Cross Motor Corps, meeting evacues from Pearl Harbor as they arrived by Army Transport.

The Lindners moved to Ross in 1944, and Mrs. Lindner was an active member of the Sunny Hills Junior Auxiliary, initiating the Circus Gayway at the Grape Festival and serving as president of the Auxiliary in 1950 and 1951. She was elected to the board of directors of Sunny Hills and was chairman of the Grape Festival in 1957. In 1958 Mrs. Lindner planned and established the first Orientation Workshop for Sunny Hills volunteers which involved 1,000 workers over a three week period.

Mrs. Lindner is a charter member of the Founders' Auxiliary of Marin General Hospital and was among those formulating plans for the first Marin Debutante Ball. She served as liaison between the ball committee and the hospital auxiliary which sponsored the ball for two years. In 1962, when the Marin Charitable Foundation was established, she was elected to the board of directors and has served as ball chairman, first and second vice presidents. She is also a member of the Ross Valley Players, Northgate Group, Friends of Arequipa, and has been active in the Ross School and Redwood High School Parent-Teacher Association.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Should She Tell On Best Friend Who Is Running Away From Home?

DEAR HELEN:

My best friend is running away from home. She doesn't want her folks to know she is having a baby, and she won't marry the father, even if she could. He says he'll give her enough money to live on and she is going to get into a home for unwed mothers. After that, she'll get a job and just disappear. She doesn't get along with her family, so she figures they won't care. They aren't really that bad.

I will be the only person who knows where she is. If I tell, she says we'll never be friends again. But if I don't tell, and the police question me, then what? — GAIL

DEAR GAIL:

I think your friend is planning the cruelest kind of revenge on parents who perhaps don't deserve it. Tell her you'll help any way you can, but you won't leave them hanging. Read on, and perhaps you'll agree with me. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

When you have a beautiful daughter you're so proud of her it's a joy just to see her smile. Maybe we didn't let her know, or maybe we tried in all the wrong ways. Maybe we were afraid of her beauty. I wish I had the chance to try again.

Three days after her 16th birthday she disappeared. She is gone, taken away by strange ugly things like drugs and wildness we don't understand.

We don't know what awful things are happening to our girl. Will we ever see her alive again? Will she ever let us know where she is?

Will the children she always wanted so much be normal? Will the drugs she started taking a year ago affect her body and mind?

Our Joan has been missing since Jan. 13. She went to school that morning and never came home again. She left no note. Her so-called friends won't talk. Everywhere, we're met with a blank wall. Each night we pray that somehow she'll be returned to us. The sadness inside the hurt doesn't diminish as the days pass into months. The tears don't stop. The awful wonder of what we did wrong, and what terrible things are happening to her never leaves us. God is supposed to be merciful. Why doesn't He take me and let our Joan come home? — A HEART-BROKEN MOTHER

DEAR HELEN:

This is an answer to the long-haired guys who compare themselves with great men of history who had beards and such.

These great men didn't make it because of their long hair or their style of clothes. They would have been great no matter how they dressed, for they had it in them.

These men of the past lived in times of hardships. It was easier — and warmer — to have a beard, what with no instant hot water, no electric razor, etc. Their styles weren't from protests but from necessity. — A.G.M.

DEAR HELEN:

I am about 12. I want to know if you've got a boyfriend and you're a shy person, are you supposed to tell your Mom right away? I'm not saying I do, but I need information. — TWIGE

DEAR TWIGE:

Peanut Laws

NEW YOR K (UPI) — It's against the law to eat peanuts in church in Massachusetts. And in Houston, Tex., it's illegal to sell rye bread, goose liver or limburger cheese on Sunday.

It goes to show that an innocent snack may be illegal, according to American Grocers News. Some good manners are built into a law or two. In Hammond, Ind., for example, it's against the law to drop watermelon seeds on the street.

Families Can Plan Vacation Through A Computer Service

NEW YORK (AP) — For the family with two weeks of leisure in the offering, banks are now offering what may be the ultimate in effort-free activity—a computerized vacation planner.

Through a simple, new form families can match their preferences with their budget.

As it works, the bank mails the vacation planner to its credit card customers or those qualified for a credit card, who then circle their preferences on the multiple choice form. Categories include: length of vacation, money to spend, method of travel, distance, location, climate, atmosphere, accommodations, sports, social activities and others. Under location, for example, the customer circles either mountains, seashore, islands, lake areas or metropolitan areas.

THE COMPUTER then analyzes the form called "CompuTour," created by Motivational Systems, Inc. Then it selects several possible packages and the travel agency to consult. There is no charge for this professional planning service.

Hand in hand with CompuTour is an Operation Increase form, which the card holder can complete to learn if he can get additional credit for a vacation.

If he is entitled to more credit, the computer will list alternate ideal vacations and issue a travel check for the difference between what he was prepared to spend and what he can spend with the additional credit. This travel check can be taken to a travel agency and the bank will guarantee payment.

CompuTour is available to the more than 300 banks covering 90 per cent of the nation's banking areas which now use other Motivational Systems, Inc., materials for bank credit or credit card applications.

Court Allows Woman To Try For Male Job

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A federal judge has ruled that a 23-year-old woman on welfare seeking a position as a Contra Costa County animal control officer may take a test for the job despite a male-only regulation.

U. S. District Judge William T. Sweigert signed an order Friday permitting Kathleen Alexander of Pleasant Hill to take the test and set this Friday for a hearing on a preliminary injunction.

The woman filed suit saying she had been deprived of her constitutional rights to apply for the job and be considered for county employment without regard to her sex.

In her petition, Miss Alexander said she had worked with animals for the past two years, applied for the job April 3 and was notified April 7 the applicant must be male.

She also contended the "unjust discrimination" would force her to "remain on welfare roles" and require her "to remain in the status of a third-class citizen with respect to the employment market."

Midi Brides

Among the season's new bridal gowns is one with a new length, introduced by Pricilla of Boston. The designer refuses to tag it with the name midi but it seems to fit that description, being 12 inches from the floor. The new length is suggested for small informal weddings. The look for the traditional bride still is long.

Announcer Must 'Talk Canadian'

London Express Service

Ottawa, Canada, — British-born Maggie Morris, the only woman announcer on the government-owned Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's television network, says she has been sacked because of "listener complaints" that she had developed "a phoney English accent."

John Rae, CBC chief announcer, said that Miss Morris had developed "a strange sort of style."

The hangup over English accents on radio and television has reached the point where several British-born announcers and performers are attending elocution schools to learn how to "talk Canadian."

To "talk Canadian" you speak with a flat but un-nasal American-sounding accent.

Factors To Consider At Retirement Time

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Retirement should mean freedom—freedom of time, freedom of choice where to live, to do some of the things you've always wanted to do.

All too frequently, however, retirement is just the opposite, an involuntary withdrawal from society.

An editor of a publication aimed at the older among us charges that many of the nation's 20 million senior citizens (the 60-plus crowd) are in effect trapped in their environments "by virtue of low income, poor health, and the inability to adjust to radical changes in their ways of life."

"AS CONGESTION sets in and the social structure of the nation's cities turns in favor of the poor, the senior citizen finds himself virtually a prisoner of his environment," says Peter A. Dickinson. "The great mass of our older citizens just have to grin and bear it."

There's psychological environment too . . . choosing a retirement area where your capacities can flourish. Dickinson suggests that before older persons decide to change residences—if they decide to change—they should ask these questions:

Within this particular living arrangement, can you easily compensate for any deficiencies you may have? Deficiencies are anything in which you feel a temporary or permanent sense of "loss," as in physical illness, disability or a limitation you think you have, such as inability to make friends without help.

Is this a place that fully gives you the capacity to gratify or express personal tastes and preferences?

IF RETIREMENT means relocation, climate of the new home must be of major consideration, says Dickinson. There is no such thing as a "perfect" climate.

But his overall recommendation is for settling on a climate that "encourages outdoor life, is neither too hot nor too cold, has a relative humidity of around 55 per cent, variety in the amount of cloudiness, and enough variety in weather, with frequent but moderate weather changes, to be interesting and not monotonous.

Ask questions of the residents, subscribe to the local newspapers to watch weather reports (and learn also about local tax changes, construction, politics, civil strife, etc.). And understand the geography of the climate you contemplate. Do cooling winds really cool? Will the "health-giving altitude" put a strain on your heart?"

Guidelines For Rebuilding Life When Marriage Ends

feeling debased. And never continue to date a man who says, 'It's bed or else.'"

Surprisingly, she says, married men are hardly the cause for concern that women new to the dating scene fear. "Most married men will tell you right away that they're married."

"Never give a man your phone number right off the bat," she says. After talking to him for several hours you should be able to gauge him better. Even if you conclude he's okay, don't accept his suggestion to leave the place at which you met and go somewhere else. Make an excuse—say you're meeting friends—she advises.

"When and if you decide to give a man your phone number, ask him for his—both at home and at the office. Tell him you might need to break a date. This helps to establish his legitimacy," concludes Mrs. Freda.

Most important, she says, don't feel there are any hard and set rules to the dating scene. A widow may be told she should wait a year before resuming a social life. "This isn't important; I had my first date six months after my husband died but I did go out to social events after a month.

Don't worry about what the neighbors think. If they talk behind your back, don't worry. They won't be around to console you when you're home alone, miserable and lonely."

Rhodes Reconsiders; Council Doesn't Act

Roy R. Rhodes, who last week dramatically and bitterly submitted his resignation from the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission, last night told the city council he wished to withdraw the resignation and then stormed out of the meeting when the council did not jump at his offer.

Rhodes resigned last Wednesday evening in a hastily written note to Charles L. Tacchi, chairman of the commission, when it was discussing the upcoming move of the San Rafael Recreation Center to the old Courthouse annex.

Rhodes has opposed combining youth and senior citizen activities at the annex.

When the subject of his resignation came up on the city council's agenda last night, Rhodes told the council that he wanted to withdraw the resignation.

Councilman Fred E. Jensen said the resignation probably wasn't official anyway because all the council had was a copy of Rhodes's note to Tacchi.

But Mayor C. Paul Bettini said that he had heard "some awful things" about Rhodes's conduct the night of his resignation and perhaps the council should discuss it before dismissing the whole thing.

With that, Rhodes told the council, "It's okay with me. I've got more time than money," and headed for the exit.

Bettini tried to reason with him and said that he was only expressing his own opinion, but Rhodes said "Take your time. I've got lots of it," and walked out.

City Mgr. James H. McCown told the council that Rhodes's action was an example of some of the difficulty the parks and recreation commission has had.

"He's inclined to be hot-tempered," McCown said.

The council postponed action on Rhodes's resignation or his withdrawal of the resignation until May 4.

Mitchell Press Aide Out Of Job?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, who recently hired a press aide for his wife, has decided to dismiss his own image-maker.

Jack C. Landau, director of the Justice Department's information office under Mitchell, has been given his walking papers, according to sources close to the attorney general.

Asked about the report Monday, Landau acknowledged he was looking for another job, but contended he would remain at Justice as long as Mitchell wants him to stay.

But sources close to Mitchell said Landau, a former Washington reporter, was told he did not fit the mold of what an administration spokesman should be.

The theft took place from the closed business between 6:30 p.m. Friday and 8:25 a.m. Sunday, police said.

Tempers Flare Again On Proposed Animal Ordinance

By C. P. McCARTHY

The San Rafael City Council last night again postponed action on a controversial proposed ordinance regulating the keeping of animals in the city. (Another San Rafael City Council story, page 1.)

The crowds of horse lovers that had jammed two previous council meetings to protest the proposal were nowhere in sight, but the discussion still ran into raised tempers and voices.

The council was considering a revision of the original proposal.

A committee of city officials, horse owners, neighbors of horse owners, a real estate man and a representative of the county humane office had drawn up the revised proposal, but the revisions were minimal.

Discussion of the proposal began last night with Mayor C. Paul Bettini asking if anyone in the audience had anything to say about it.

No one did.

The council then discussed it and decided it wanted the city planning department and commission to be responsible for the execution of the ordinance, rather than the county poundkeeper, who doesn't work for the city.

The council also discussed and decided to keep a provision of the ordinance that says the area on which horses, and other large animals, are kept must be more than 10,890 square feet.

Things were going fine until Wade R. Powell of 71 Junipero Serra, accused the council of "discriminating against horse owners when one of our biggest problems in the county is dogs."

Bettini said there was already an ordinance for dogs.

Powell then told the council, "You're going through all this gibberish when all you're really after is horses."

Bettini took offense and replied, "That type of comment we can do without." Turning away from Powell, he said, "If anyone has anything constructive to say, we'd like to listen."

Karen S. Wachsman of 50 Palm Avenue, then asked if the issuance or denial of a permit for keeping an animal depends "on if we have one cranky neighbor complaining?"

"Does it matter who you are in the community—if you're in the in crowd or just a regular person?" she asked.

It was Councilman Fred E. Jensen's turn to take offense, and he told Mrs. Wachsman that he didn't like the insinuation "that we are a corrupt and vicious community."

Mrs. Wachsman's husband, Edward, told the council that what his wife meant was that "odors and things of this nature are subjective at best" and he asked for an objective measure of animal odors and noise before an animal permit would be denied on the complaint of a neighbor.

Bettini told him that the judgment of what is offensive would be up to the humane society.

Charles A. VanDyke of 250 Oleander Drive, Terra Linda, then asked permission to speak.

He, and other nonresidents of San Rafael, had been denied permission to speak at a previous council discussion of the proposed ordinance.

Bettini explained to him that he and the others were not allowed to speak at the previous meeting because of the size of the crowd, the number of people who wanted to speak, and the fact that the ordinance is only for San Rafael anyway.

Bettini also said that since the previous meeting, he had received a number of "insulting" letters regarding the proposal. He criticized people who make comments through the newspapers and by writing letters, but who "don't have the backbone" to come forward and discuss it with him.

VanDyke asked where he could obtain a copy of the proposal and was told at the city manager's office.

The council then directed the city attorney to revise the proposal to substitute the planning department for the poundkeeper and continued further discussion to May 18.

South Pole In Sahara Desert?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The South Pole has slid into the Sahara desert, a geologist said Monday. It happened during the last 450 million years, he said.

Prof. Rhodes W. Fairbridge of Columbia University told the annual meeting of the American Geophysical Union that he and a team of earth scientists from 11 nations reached this conclusion after exploring the Sahara in January.

Fairbridge theorized the 40 to 60 mile thick crust of the earth slid over a fluid-like zone like icebergs floating in the sea. He said other evidence supports the "continental drift" explanation for earth's evolution over 4.5 billion years of life.

Community House's Rise In Use Increases Budget

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission last night approved a $10,785 budget for the Novato Community House for fiscal 1970-71, to be submitted to City Mgr. Charles A. Brown and then the city council, according to Parks and Recreation Director Edward W. Adams.

Up $660 from this year's $10,125, the increase is due to $490 more in personnel cost and higher utilities and service charges due to the increased use of the building, Adams said.

The commission studied but did not approve a $53,675 parks budget, $21,530 more than the current budget, according to Admas, due to use of Pioneer Memorial Park for the first season and the need for more help to run it, Adams said.

Adams reported that paths should be installed around the small boat lagoon and spray pool the first part of May. It will then be filled and ready for use, he said.

McInnis Names Campaign Trio

Supervisor John F. McInnis has named three cochairmen to head his campaign for reelection to the Marin County Board of Supervisors from the First District on the June 2 ballot.

Walter F. Castro Jr., Donald A. Duerr and Chris Madera will serve as cochairmen, McInnis has announced.

Castro, from San Rafael, will represent the eastern section of the first district, while Duerr of Marinwood will represent the northern section, and Mrs. Madera of San Rafael will cover the western area.

Vandals Smash Another Window

Glass smashing vandals using a half-inch coupling broke a $350 window late Sunday or yesterday at the Elegant Ele Dress Shop, 1403 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael police reported today.

The owner, Eleanor J. Bloom, told police she had received a letter from Typographical Union No. 21 asking her to stop advertising in the Independent-Journal. The piece of coupling was recovered by police.

Novatan Pleads Guilty On Weapons Charge

Stephen Michael Weeks, 22, of Novato pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of possessing a dagger on Aug. 1 and additional counts of having a billy club and disturbing the peace were dismissed.

Judge E. Warren McGuire set sentencing for June 8.

Stereo Tapes Stolen

Western Weekend Shapes Up

Local organizations have contracted for three food and 13 game booths for Novato's Western Weekend, it was reported to the board last night, according to Secretary Dorothy Merla.

There are still booths available and applications will be accepted until next Monday, she said. There are also noncommercial exhibition booths available free to local organizations, she said.

The board voted to have $25, $15 and $10 prizes daily for a total of $200 during the celebration, she said.

Western Weekend Inc. has $3,083 in its treasury, she reported.

Special events scheduled so far include a family bicycle race, square dance exhibition, buckaroo breakfast, waterball fight, cross country race, melodrama, presentation of the queen and princesses and a tug-of-war between the junior chamber of commerce, chamber of commerce and former Jaycee members.

The board is looking for a barbershop quartet to perform, she added.

Safe Is Looted

Petaluma police reported today that $428 had been stolen over the weekend from the safe at Deluxe Cleaners, 145 Keller Street. No sign of forced entry was found.

County Education Panel Sees Preschool Budgets

The education services committee of the Marin County Board of Education last night approved federal, state and county applications totaling $440,456 to operate the Head Start, children's center and preschool programs in Marin the next fiscal year.

It was the first time the budgets had come under the wing of the board of education, having previously been the purview of the superintendent of schools office, according to Lawrence A. Lindberg, director of instruction services.

The budgets will now go to the full board May 4 before submittal to the various funding agencies.

In other business last night, the committee was told that local school districts will be reviewing plans for a countywide vocational education program, to be funded by federal and county funds. The full board endorsed the program at its last meeting.

The committee also endorsed, pending board approval, the aims of a study by the California Interagency Council and Drug Abuse under which local school district teachers would be trained in drug abuse problems and schools would develop policies on the handling of drug-using students.

Also recommended to the full board was employment of Evelyn Wolfe to conduct a one-day, countywide workshop for teachers on multiethnic studies. Her proposed fee is $50. Mrs. Wolfe is currently multiethnic consultant to Berkeley schools.

The group also endorsed a basic course of study for Marin school districts in 1970-71, including drug abuse and multiethnic studies. The program will go to the full board in June.

The committee said it would next meet at 8 p.m. May 4 at St. Vincent's School for Boys in Marinwood, where the board conducts special education classes. A tour of the class facilities will be held at 7:30 p.m.

Also last night, the board's special services committee set a special meeting for 8 p.m. next Tuesday in the county schools office to consider the county schools service fund special education budget.

It also considered a staff proposal to reapply for state funds of about $12,000 for the next fiscal year for special education of 18 to 36-month-olds. The infants are now helped under a combined state-federal program but it is unknown whether federal funds will be available next year, according to Edward Brennan, director of county special services. The program had previously been state funded.

Injuries Minor In Auto Crash

A 54-year-old San Rafael woman said she would see her own doctor for undisclosed injuries suffered in a head-on collision on Highway 101 yesterday.

The California Highway Patrol said Lucille R. Cook, of 219 Mark Twain Avenue, was southbound on the freeway at 10:50 a.m. at the Highway 17 off-ramp when she made a U-turn and drove north on the south side until she struck a car driven by James R. Dodds, 33, of PO Box 226, Mill Valley.

Officers said Mrs. Cook told them that she had forgotten her purse and was going back to get it.

Funds For Summer Program

The Ross School District board last night agreed to grant $650 to $900, depending on need, to the Parent-Teacher Association's summer school program, according to Supt. Thomas A. Anderson.

The board also heard a report from the arts study committee, made up of parents and teachers, which recommended that the now vacant position of music specialist be redefined to include all the arts and that the position be filled with a person responsible for developing the arts in the school program.

The Ross School District board also:

PET SHOW — Received a report on the PT-A's after school recreation program and the announcement of a pet show at 4 p.m. May 27 at the Ross School.

INSURANCE — Approved a rider to the district's insurance policy which will increase burglary coverage from $2,000 to $4,000.

AUDIT — Approved the cooperative audit arrangements made by the County Superintendent of Schools.

PERSONNEL — Accepted the resignation of Deborah Ramsey, who taught mathematics and girls physical education, and approved the hiring of Carolyn Carr as a library aide at $2 per hour for a 20-hour work week.

MEETING — Called a special meeting for 7:30 p.m. May 5 in the Ross School library for discussion of the budget. The next regular meeting will be May 18.

Kevin Patrick Moran Gave His Life For America

It has finally happened. A student who stood for right against riot has been killed.

Maybe those who have been declaiming about the "justice" of revolutionary youth demonstrating, revolting and burning will have second thoughts now (if they ever had first thoughts).

KEVIN PATRIC MORAN of Saratoga died for America early Saturday in Isla Vista in Santa Barbara County — more truly than if he had fallen in a war abroad.

To make the death doubly bitter, the bullet that killed him may have been fired by a sheriff's deputy arriving for the same purpose.

He died trying to defend a temporary bank building against arsonists and looters.

But he died not for the bank whose building it was, nor even for the university he attended. He died for decency, for civilization.

HE DID NOT GO to University of California at Santa Barbara to die. He went there to get an education. But the mob, the anarchists who do not want the university to be for education, the revolutionaries who have chosen to fight their war on campus, decreed otherwise.

The student body president called on students to help curb the rioting and destruction that raged through Isla Vista starting with a mis-named "moratorium day." Kevin Patrick Moran heeded the call. Because he did, he was killed.

WOULD HE HAVE DIED if clergymen, student leaders and businessmen had not persuaded the Santa Barbara County sheirff to delay sending his men into Isla Vista in hope that the revolutionists could be talked out of their violence? Perhaps not.

It is useless now to speculate on that. But those clergymen, those student leaders, those businessmen should take deep thought. The death of Kevin Patrick Moran should prove to them that the attempt to prevent violence by reasoning and persuasion with those who will not listen to reason and will not be persuaded in a futile attempt. It should prove to them that when a mob has declared war, it can no longer be treated as a collection of rational humans. It should prove to them that those who will not sit down to discuss and reason, but instead take to the streets, are not to be influenced by attempting to carry discussion and reason to the streets.

A FEW WEEKS BACK, the Students for a Democratic Society planned a demonstration in San Rafael. As they began arriving by car and bus, they found the city virtually an armed camp. Police were posted strategically throughout the downtown, on the ready.

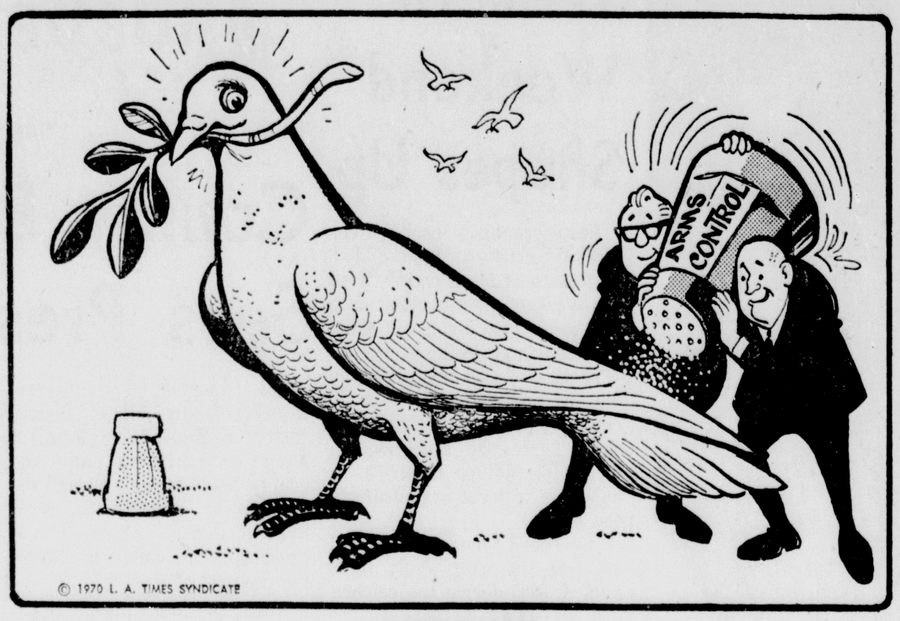

The would-be demonstrators took one look and kept going. One of them spent over an hour on a downtown telephone calling appointed gathering places to warn, "Don't come to San Rafael!"

There was no demonstration. There was no violence. Nobody was injured. Nobody died.

The keepers of peace were not well-meaning but misguided persons who sought to reason with a mob beyond reason. They were the officers of the law who stood ready to meet force with greater, more disciplined force.

THERE IS A LESSON in this for those who think soft words can curb mob violence. It is a lesson tragically emphasized by the death of Kevin Patrick Moran.

If all those in authority learn the lesson, perhaps Kevin Patrick Moran will not have died in vain.

Glad They Voted —Especially One

The lead-in line on my election handbills was "Vote for Pete, but for the love of pete, vote."

Too often people take the power of their individual vote lightly, and fail to vote, forget to vote, or vote capriciously. The Corte Madera election for councilman, in which I was elected with 861 votes, ahead of Herb Leney with 860 votes, and Dave Freed with 833 is as dramatic a demonstration as I ever want to see on the impact of "just one vote"!

And I do thank everyone who did turn out and vote, and that one voter in particular.

Arrest Report Distorts Picture

We strongly object to what we consider your recent negative slanting of the news.

On April 14 a small article appeared in the I-J entitled "Rock Concertgoers Arrested for Pot." The article included only the particulars of the arrest. No mention was made of the 350 well-behaved young people inside attending the concert. The event was not a rock concert, but a folk concert put on entirely for teenagers to raise money to replace mikes stolen from Blessed Sacrament Church. All the teen-age groups playing had donated their services. The kids in charge handled the decorating, lighting, refreshments, and clean-up. The adults who supervised were really impressed by the tremendous amount of organization, work and talent involved. It was a pleasure to see all those young people having a good time thanks to the efforts of other teenagers.

Candidate Backs Massachusetts Law

I appreciate your editorial of April 15 on the Massachusetts statute recently passed and making it illegal for their boys to be sent to fight in international undeclared wars.

My campaign platform for the Republican nomination for the office of state senator from our district carries the following plank and I quote: "I will work for the passage of a law in California that would make it illegal for California boys to fight overseas in an undeclared, unconstitutional war that the federal government has no intention of winning militarily." In my opinion, in war we either win or lose; their being no middleground. It is a supreme tragedy, nay murder, to commit our young men to a war that we have no intention of winning. Are we there just for the sake of being at war? Is it to commit national suicide by destroying the moral, economic and social fiber of the citizens of this good and great nation of ours?. . .

Defeated Candidate Praises Coverage

I believe the Independent Journal and its staff deserve a special bouquet for the excellent, thoroughly researched, and balanced coverage of the April 14, 1970 municipal elections. As one of the candidates, I was in a position to appreciate the tremendous effort which went into the preparation of the special election supplement which appeared in Marin Magazine last Saturday. You are to be congratulated for a job well done. I have no doubt that but for your special attention to these local elections, the number of persons voting and their ability to make intelligent selections would be greatly reduced.

Thank you, and keep up the good work!

School Tax Defeat Upsets Residents

I can't help but question the motives of those Novato citizens who either voted against or did not bother to vote in the recent Novato school tax levy election.

Being a newcomer to Novato, I had heard much about the apathy that exists regarding the Novato School District. Like Mark Twain's death, I felt it must be an exaggeration. However, the results of Tuesday's election validate what I had heard.

With second rate funds to run our schools, we will get, if we are lucky, second rate schools. The product of which will be second rate students. my children and yours.

I am sure financial considerations played a large part in the defeat of this levy. Therefore, I raise this point, will our homes and property increase in value at the same rate as comparable areas in Marin with better schools than ours? The answer obviously is no . . .

Half-Million 'Fine' For Marijuana?

Regarding the Frank Werber case, the sentence certainly doesn't fit the crime (editorial, April 10), but maybe the Internal Revenue Dept. will get going on this one. With over 400 lbs. of marijuana, at $100 oz. fine, it should be of real interest to them. Would be around a $500,000 take.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

An American business man, writes John Hart Macy, was invited to the home of a prominent British socialite and became so engrossed in the latter's life story that he absentmindedly selected a very red chinaware apple from a dish on the table and bit into it. It broke, of course, leaving him with a mouthful of priceless crockery. "Really, old man," remonstrated the host, "you should have seen that that apple was not genuine." "Sorry," spluttered the guest, "but I guess we Americans simply cannot recognize Red China!"

A neighbor of Peter Lind Hayes has a darling little seven-year-old daughter whom he likes to question about her days in school. One evening she reported proudly, "This morning we started learning math-e-matics. Did you study math-e-mat-ics when you went to school, Daddy?" "I certainly did, my dear," he beamed. "How did you like it?" "It was yummy," she told him. "Isn't Page Five GOOD?"

New Violence At University Adds To Drive For Tougher Laws

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The eruption of new campus violence at Berkeley is certain to fire up the legislature's taste for more laws to control the problem.

Prominent among such bills already introduced, but dormant until now, is one by Assemblyman Don Mulford, R-Oakland, and coauthored by 25 other members of the lower house.

It would make it a felony, rather than a misdemeanor, for anyone "with the intent to cause a riot" to engage "in conduct which urges a riot, or urges others to commit acts of force or violence, or the burning or destroying of property and at a time and place and under circumstances which produce a clear and present and immediate danger."

His bill also declares that experience in enforcing the current law against inciting to riot "has shown that making a violation of the acts prohibited therein a misdemeanor is not sufficient to prevent riots."

THE CURRENT LAW has not been tested in court, but a similar federal law is headed for a test.

The potential weakness in such laws is the difficulty is in proving intent, a hitch that Mulford hopes to resolve.

Mulford's bill went to the liberal criminal Procedure Committee, where it was shelved by Mulford after he counted noses.

But his office now promises prompt action to revive it with "corrective" amendments to leave its effect substantially intact.

Campus rioters are in for a hard jolt when they find out how much society is willing to sacrifice for order. It may come as a jolt to all of us.

LOWELL MENGEL II, a candidate for the GOP nomination for the state Board of Equalization, is 26 years old — but you'd never guess it from his campaign literature.

According to his blurbs, Mengel has "10 years of experience in business and industry," and "has been active in local and Republican politics since 1956."

He must have been a 12-year-old fireball.

DON PINKERTON, candidate for the GOP nomination for state Senate, really pulled off a coup by getting Gov. Ronald Reagan's daughter, Maureen, as guest speaker at his campaign dinner. It's hard to imagine she makes such a rare political appearance without checking with someone, perhaps a relative, high in the administration.

MINISKIRTS make for safe driving, according to the California Trucking Association's newsletter.

"While it may fall short in some respects," it noted, the miniskirt "has won the praise of insurance underwriters as a safe driving costume. It gives women greater leg freedom for braking and acceleration."

Fate Of Three Men Detracts Attention From Fate Of World

VIENNA — Nothing could better illustrate the contradictions of our time than the universal concern for three courageous men fighting for their lives in space while the fate of millions, hardly less than the human species, turns on the obscure struggle around a conference table little understood and less appreciated. The strategic arms limitation talks are so shrouded in the rhetoric of diplomacy and military technology as to be all but untranslatable in terms of human understanding.

The gulf of suspicion between the Soviet Union and the United States is wide. Whether it can be bridged in this second round of the SALT talks is problematical. The word circulated privately by the Russian delegation is this:

If there is no progress toward a pause in the arms race in the next two or two and one half months the Russians will sign off and a new spiral will begin.

This may be bluff. On the other hand, it may express the conviction of those in the Kremlin who want an arms limitation that time is running out. They are on a short leash as the pressure of the military bloc increases to get on with the competition.

THERE WILL BE NO agreed moratorium to suspend for six months or more development and deployment of the American MIRV, the multiple independently targeted reentry vehicle, and the Russian MRV, which is a many-headed missile without independent targeting. The Petagon has announced that deployment of MIRV will begin in June.

From the Russian viewpoint, the greatest obstacle in the way of an agreement is "linkage." This means linking an arms limitation agreement to the settlement of outstanding political issues dividing the Soviet Union and the United States.

The Russians quote chapter and verse from President Nixon's lengthy message on the "state of the world" to prove that he links Vietnam, the Middle East and other trouble spots with the arms talks. He is asking us, as a Russian close to the Soviet delegation put it, to deny help to our allies and this we will never do. Insistence on linking Vietnam and the Middle East to an agreed and verifiable pause in the arms race can mean failure.

All this as it comes from Russian sources may, of course, be no more than the initial propaganda posture. Change could come quickly with fresh proposals put forward by one side or the other. Within the American delegation there has been intense activity ever since the delegates and the backstopping experts arrived in Vienna. This may signify a proposal will be put on the table shortly after the serious sessions begin. With the tightest security enforced here, such a proposal will be held to the knowledge of a half-dozen men until the actual unveiling.

ON BOTH SIDES allies are a continuous worry. The NATO partners, particularly France and West Germany, must be constantly reasurred that no "deal" will sacrifice their security. Gerard C. Smith, the chief American delegate and director of the Arms Control Agency, stopped in Brussels before coming to Vienna to give the NATO Council a thorough briefing.

The Russians have similar worries with the Warsaw Pact powers. No agreement must seem to sell out to the "imperialists" Propaganda blasts from Red China put Moscow in the "revisionist" category conspiring with the "imperialists" to the shame and disgrace of all true communists.

This is a serious inhibition to agreement. Both sides, and particularly the Russians, are constantly looking backward to be sure that restive partners do not get out of hand.

AS A SHOW of strength the Russian navy is engaged in the most extensive maneuvers in the history of a fleet that has expanded at a geometric ratio in the past two decades. Maneuvers proclaimed for the Atlantic, the Pacific and the Mediterranean are in progress. The commander of the Russian navy, Fleet Adm. Sergei Gorshkov, boasted that Russia has missile-carrying submarines capable of delivering a "blow across thousands of miles."

That has a strange sound in this neutral capital where the two nuclear giants are ostensibly trying to abate the arms race. A gesture for Lenin perhaps or, read in the Warsaw Pact capitals, proof that the Russians have staked their claim on the seven seas.

Japan Our Political Pal, But Not Trade Partner

By PHIL NEWSOM UPI Foreign News Analyst

Japanese ability to separate politics from economics is illustrated nowhere better than in its relations with the United States and the Soviet Union.

A security treaty links the United States and Japan. The United States has promised to return Okinawa in 1972 and Japanese Premier Eisaku Sato has declared the two nations will go forward together to create a new era in the Pacific.

THEN CONSIDER the case of Soviet-Japanese relations.

No peace treaty ending World War II ever has been signed between them. The Russians have declared non-negotiable Japan's demands for return of two small islands in the Kuriles seized by the Russians after World War II. Against a possible Soviet threat to the large northern Japanese island of Hokkaido, Japan has stationed there 50,000 men, or one-third of its total ground defense forces, and is planning to bolster its small naval forces in the same area.

The small islands in question are Kunashiri and Etorofu, which are important chiefly because they lie within important fishing grounds.

NOT HELPING Japanese-Soviet relations have been the Russian seizures since World War II of some 1,200 fishing boats and 10,000 Japanese fishermen.

It would seem that relations scarcely could be worse. And that might be, except that in matters of trade, relations are excellent and getting better.

On Jan. 24 the two signed an agreement under which Japan will design and help construct a new Siberian port southeast of Vladivostok.

It was the second large joint project agreed upon between the two for exploitation of Siberian wealth. An agreement signed in August, 1968, called for Japan to provide $163 million in machinery and consumer goods in exchange for Siberian timber.

Among other possible joint projects is a proposed 1000-mile natural gas line to fuel Hokkaido's chemical, paper and pulp industries. Other proposed projects include Siberian copper and oil.

IN CONTRAST to this state of affairs is the growing chill between the United States and Japan over Japan's refusal to put voluntary limits on its textile exports to the United States. The American textile industry is estimated to lose around $300 million per year to imports of Japanese woolen and synthetic textiles.

In congress, on April 13, Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means committee introduced a trade bill sharply limiting imports of textiles and shoes.

It was what the Japanese had been warned would happen, and it seems likely the protectionist list will not be limited to just those two items.

Park Bond Outlook Darker After School Tax Issue Defeat

The Novato City Council has called for a $2.9 million park bond issue on the June 2 primary election. It is to be divided into two propositions. One will be for $2,365,000 for purchase of the O'Hair property, improvements to it and the completion of Pioneer Memorial Park. The other will be for $600,000 for a community center.

By sheer coincidence, we're sure, the county clerk's office assigned the first proposition as N and the second as O. Put together, they spell "no" on the two park propositions.

Proponents do not see this as a disadvantage, but already are starting a campaign to urge the voters to vote "yes" on "no."

THE NOVATO SCHOOL tax limit increase missed by a narrow margin of votes in the election. The election came closer than the survey which the chamber of commerce made preparatory to a Congress for Community Progress.

In tabulating answers to the questionnaire, 590 answered that they felt that the schools were adequately financed against 482 who did not. This was a greater spread than in the election.

It is of interest to note that the answer to a question about school discipline was decidedly in favor of more discipline. There were 987 who felt the schools should have stricter discipline against 172 who felt that it was satisfactory.

One thing that didn't help and caused comment heard all over the city was the "hippie day" last Friday at Loma Verde School.

In the face of the riots of that element on the Berkeley campus, the school held a "hippie day" when teachers and students were to attend dressed as hippies. Some parents objected to this.

If the parents object to such things, it will not do the school district any good to project such an image. The board may try a second time to pass a tax increase in July. Things such as "hippie day" won't help the district.

WITH THE SCHOOL tax increase not receiving the necessary majority, those who are pushing for the $2.9 million park bond issue have a big job cut out for them.

Many people around Novato say they would support a smaller bond issue for park purchase only. Then there are those who say that the streets need repairing more than the city needs another park.

June 2 will show whether the people want a park at that cost. The new city council must then decide whether to try for a smaller park bond issue if the large one fails. It must also decide whether to give the streets the next chance at a bond issue.

ART BUCHWALD

Genesis Brought Up To Date For Earth Day, A.D. 1970

In the beginning God created Man, which according to all the latest birth control statistics was a big mistake.

And Man said, "Let there be light," and there was light, and Man called this light "fire," and at first it was used to warm him and let him cook his food and protect him from the wild animals. But Man discovered fire could be used to burn down a forest or burn someone else's hut or tree house or a witch at stake or soft coal or oil, which made the air turn dark grey and black. And this made Man start to cough and his eyes to run and his sinuses to hurt. And Man finally said, "God, what are you doing to me?"

And after God made the rivers and lakes and streams and oceans, Man dumped all the refuse from the earth into the waters and it killed the fish and the plants and even the oxygen, and the waters turned muddy and brown and smelled, and no one could drink from them or bathe in them, or even sail in them. And finally Man shook his fist at the heavens and said, "For God's sake, knock it off."

AND MAN CREATED the wheel, and this was good because Man no longer had to walk through the forests or up and down the mountains or to school. And then Man created the engine which turned the wheels, and Man no longer had to depend on animals to pull him on the roads and paths. And Man called the new creature "automobile," and it changed the face of the earth, for Man was forced to cut down the trees and flowers and pour concrete on the land to accommodate the automobile, and drill into the earth and the sea to fuel it, and sometimes the ocean turned black and the air turned brown, and as the automobile multiplied there was less space to park it, and it was unable to move any faster than a horse, and Man behind the wheel screamed, "Good God, am I ever going to get home?"

And Man created the plastic bag and the tin and aluminum can and the cellophane wrapper and the paper plate and the disposable bottle, and this was good because Man could then take his automobile and buy his food all in one place and he could save that which was good to eat in the refrigerator and throw away that which had no further use. And pretty soon the earth was covered with plastic bags and aluminum cans and paper plates and disposable bottles, and there was nowhere left to sit down or to walk. And Man shook his head and cried, "Look at all this God-awful litter."

AND MAN LEANRED to split the atom and then he took what he learned and he put it in a bomb to defend himself from other men, and he set off the bomb to see if it would work, and it did. And Man was very pleased with himself because he was safe from other men and this was good. But other men learned to split the atom, too, and they put it in their bombs and so Man had to make bigger bombs, and the other men had to make bigger bombs, and the explosions put radioactive material in the air which got into Man's food and water and made that which was nourishing inedible and that which would quench thirst undrinkable. And again Man became very frightened and said, "God help us all."

But by this time God had had it and He sent down word to His loyal servant, Ralph Nader: "Now, Ralph, the first thing I want you to do is build an ark and then . . ."

Symphony Sets Second Youth Concert Friday

The Marin Symphony Guild, in cooperation with Local 6 of the American Federation of Musicians, will present the second program in its Music for Minors series Friday at the Mary Silvera School in Marinwood.

There will be two 40-minute performances, one at 10 a.m. and the other at 11:10 a.m.

Fourth, fifth and sixth graders in the North Marin-Terra Linda-Novato area have been invited.

In the program titled "An Introduction to Modern Music," members of the Marin Symphony conducted by Hugo Rinaldi, director of music, San Rafael Schools, will explore and demonstrate contemporary musical sounds; atonal, bi-tonal, serial and avant garde music; orchestral moods and colors; and pentatonic and whole tone scales.

Exerpts will be performed from Ravel's "Bolero" and Mozart's "The Impresario." The overture to the latter will be one of the numbers played at the Marin Symphony Orchestra concert Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the College of Marin gymnasium.

3 Candidates Nights For Judge Hopefuls

There will be three different types of candidates nights for the 13 candidates for Marin Municipal Court judge, April 29, May 14, and May 20, sponsored by the Leagues of Women Voters of Central and Southern Marin and the Marin County Barristers Club.

The first session at 8 p.m. April 29 at the supervisors chambers, Marin Civic Center, will consist of comments by the candidates.

The schedule calls for each speaker to talk seven minutes, with Justice Byrl Salsman as moderator, but no time has been alloted for questions from the audience.

The second session at 8 p.m. May 14 at Marin Catholic High School gymnasium, Kentfield, will consist of "no formal speeches and little organized program," the sponsors announced.

The intent of the meeting entitled "Judicial Candidates on Trial" is to give the voter a chance to talk to candidates on a face-to-face basis. Each candidate will be assigned to a station, and may distribute written material to visitors.

The third session at 8 p.m. May 20 at Park School Auditorium, Mill Valley, will consist of answers from the candidates to three specified questions and written questions from the audience.

Candidates will be asked to respond to the following questions:

1. What type of special training and experience do you consider essential to qualify as a judicial candidate?

2. How would you improve the efficiency of administration of the municipal court in Marin County?

3. How would you as a municipal court judge enforce the marijuana and other drug laws?

Justice Richard M. Sims Jr. of Belvedere, an associate justice on the First Appellate District Court of Appeals, will be moderator.

Thieves Get Cash

Checks worth $54 and cash totaling $270 were stolen Wednesday from the office of Montecito Richfield service station at Third Street and Grand Avenue, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Relics Are Possibly Coronado's

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A corroded brass buckle and several bits of wrought iron nails have been found in what are believed to be the ruins of a camp built by part of Francisco Vasquez de Coronado's 1540 expedition from Mexico into the American southwest.

The relics were reported Sunday by Stan Delaplane, a columnist for the San Francisco Chronicle, who with Gerald Robechaud of Lake Havasu City, Ariz., led eight jeep loads of explorers over the weekend into the barren desert mountains south of Lake Mead in northwestern Arizona.

The existence of stone ruins in this wild sun-baked terrain has been known for 10 years, since a Lake Havasu city pilot, Buster Haile, sighted them from the air.

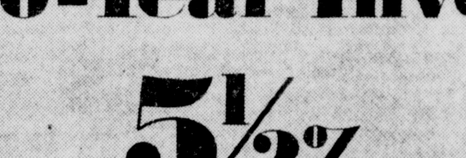

Five years later, Delaplane and Robechaud, a retired industrialist who lives at the resort town on the Colorado River, reached the spot roughly 90 miles north of Lake Havasu in four-wheel drive vehicles.

They found extensive stone ruins in a natural ampitheater where a cottonwood grove was fed by two bubbling springs.

The explorers Sunday who found metal artifacts with electronic detectors reported stone ruins of three houses inside a stone corral roughly a square mile in area and with a holding corral at one end with 10-foot walls.

Although Indian-built stone ruins often occur throughout the southwest, their pattern is different and they do not yield brass and iron — metals the Indians did not know before the white man brought them.

Supervisor Pay Hike In Assembly

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Salary increases totaling $13,816 a year for Marin's supervisors and district attorney have been proposed in bills introduced in the Legislature.

Each of Marin's five supervisors would get a pay jump of $2,000 a year, from the current $12,000 to $14,000, effective in January.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales' annual salary would jump by $3,816. Last year, his salary was $24,000, then went to $28,000 in November. Under the proposed legislation, it would become $31,816.

A salary increase for one county official traditionally triggers increases for others to maintain their financial pecking order.

In Sonoma, the supervisors' salary would be unchanged at $15,996. But Dist. Atty. Kiernan Hyland's salary would go from $24,000 to $31,816. Last year, his salary was $21,600.

The supervisors' pay bill is AB 468 by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, and the district attorneys' bill is AB 1413 by Assemblyman Robert G. Beverly, R-Redondo Beach. Both are to be heard on May 14 by the Assembly Local Government Committee, chaired by Knox.

Knox's bill was asked by the County Supervisors Association of California, and Beverly's bill by the District Attorneys Association of California.

Knox's bill initially only proposed an increase in the salary for the Contra Costa County auditor, but was amended.

His bill would eliminate the current requirement that the grand jury initiate recommendations to increase the salary of supervisors, instead setting a uniform pay schedule according to population.

Counties with 200,000 or more population, such as Marin, would pay supervisors $14,000 a year. The next jump, to $15,500, would come with a population of 300,000.

In Sonoma's case, the current salary would be grandfathered in to the bill. Without this provision, Sonoma supervisors would see a $1,996 cut in their pay.

Sonoma supervisors, unlike those in Marin, work full time by law.

Beverly's bill for district attorneys would tie district attorneys' salaries to that of a superior court judge, now $31,816 — and adjusted every September on a cost-of-living basis.

For counties with 200,000 or more population, thus both Marin and Sonoma, the salary of the district attorney would be equal to the judge's salary.

Office Chain Planned By Congress Hopeful

Russell R. Miller of San Francisco, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress, yesterday promised that if elected he would open neighborhood offices to keep in touch with his constituents' "wishes and needs."

Miller, in a San Rafael press conference, said "a congressman's real worth is proven by how he services his district. He should not become so far removed from his constituents that he no longer is in touch with their wishes and needs."

Miller is seeking the Sixth District seat held by incumbent Republican William S. Mailliard of San Francisco. Also seeking the Democratic nomination is attorney Zaide Kirtley of San Francisco.

Miller pointed out that Miss Kirtley does not live in the Sixth District, which includes western San Francisco and Marin below Hamilton Air Force Base.

Miller criticized Mailliard for using his allocation of eight staff members primarily in Washington, saying at least four should be available in local district offices so that voters will not feel "government is impervious to their wishes."

"To be effective against an impersonal and distant federal bureaucracy, the people need a congressman who will go out of his way to find out their wishes — a congressman who won't take the voters for granted," Miller said.

He insisted his challenge to the longtime incumbent was "not hopeless, although it is a formidable task." He volunteered that he was not running for publicity or to get exposure for any other public office.

Envisioning a chain of congressional field offices in each town, Miller said he would depend on a staff of volunteers, "people whose judgment the voters regard highly."

He said he would raise "more issues as the campaign goes on."

Bank Of America Suffers Los Angeles Firebomb Harm

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two firebombs were thrown through a plate glass window of a Bank of America branch today, touching off a blaze which caused $25,000 to $30,000 damage, authorities said.

Police said they did not know if the incident was linked to disturbances in Santa Barbara 100 miles north. Firebombs have been thrown into a Bank of America branch there which replaced a building burned down by anti-establishment rioters last Feb. 25.

The latest incident was in East Los Angeles where arsonists have ignited fires at a high school and an office of the board of education in recent weeks, the fire department said.

Police said witnesses reported three persons fled in a small foreign automobile moments after the gasoline-fueled bombs exploded about 2 a.m. in the branch at Wabash and Sentinel.

A third firebomb was found unignited in a cardboard carton beside the one-story stucco building, firemen said.

A bank spokesman, who made the damage estimate, said office equipment and drapes were burned. The spokesman said the bank would open at its regular time.

No injuries were reported.

Variance On Studio Unit Is Postponed

Whether to allow a setback variance for an Inverness studio apartment atop an existing garage without a permit was delayed yesterday by Zoning Administrator Werner Von Gundell.

The request came from two San Franciscans and drew about a dozen neighbors to Divic Center for the hearing who appeared evenly divided on the permit.

The pair, Rev. Robert Hayburn and his brother, Edward, seek clearance on their studio apartment at 27 Portola Avenue in Inverness Park, which is about a dozen neighbors to Civty line. The zoning ordinance requires 25 feet front setback and five feet side setback.

Von Gundell said he would confer with county counsel before making a decision.

The Zoning Administrator also:

HORSE — Poseponed a decision on a request by J.P. Blaisell Jr., a banker who lives at 380 Lowell Avenue in Tamalpais Valley, to keep one horse in a corral on his property. Richard Lucier of 378 Lowell Avenue, representing 60 neighbors, protested that the horse would cause insect, rodent and sanitary problems. Assistant Zoning Administrator Ralph D. Cairns said he wants to see the property before deciding.

TRELLIS — Approved ornamental trellises to be built near the swimming pool at the home of F.B. Latini, 226 Woodland Road in Kent Woodlands. The trellises would be about 8.5 feet, exceeding the 6-foot height limit on fences.

Tax Reform Plan Moving On Schedule

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan's massive tax reform plan was moving on schedule through the Legislature today after its backers fought off attempts to trim both tax reductions and increases from it.

The measure moved into the Assembly Ways and Means Committee after the Revenue and Taxation Committee approved it Monday.

Sponsors say they hope to move it out to the floor late this week or early next, with a vote on whether to send it to the Senate planned before May 1.

However, the legislation needs Democratic votes to clear both houses, and some Democrats questioned whether it has enough. Assemblyman Ken Cory D-Van Nuys, told the bill's author "I don't honestly see how you can get enough votes to pass this."

The author, Republican William T. Bagley of San Rafael, replied "I don't think it's that bad. I think the picture looks pretty good."

Cory refused to vote at all on the bills, while three Democrats voted no. But all nine Republicans and two Democrats provided enough votes to move the measures past their first test.

Bagley first had to turn back attempts to make major changes in where the revenues in the plan come from and where they will go. In all, the program involves almost $1 billion in tax reductions, increases and shifts — with the prime aim of reducing the tax a homeowner pays.

These amendments lost:

— Elimination of the one-cent raise in the state sales tax, which is vital to financing the tax cuts. Assemblyman Vincent Thomas, D-San Pedro, said fishermen in his district and labor leaders opposed the raise.

— Switching $388 million in property tax relief for homeowners to new aid for local schools. Democrat Bob Moretti of Van Nuys offered this on the spur of the moment after needling by a Republican that he make a specific proposal on how to give schools more money. The attempted alteration lost 9-6. Democrats in favor, Republicans opposed.

— Easing the tax increase on oil companies, offered by Republican James A. Hayes of Long Beach. Bagley's bill would limit the present special 27.5 per cent income tax break for oil companies to roughly 15 per cent maximum. Hayes proposed allowing 22.5 per cent, but lost 5-8.

Hub Planners Set Hearing On Signs

The San Anselmo Planning Commission last night called a public hearing for 8 p.m. May 18 in city hall on the community's first sign ordinance.

The measure has been in the works for more than a year. Reviewing the ordinance last night, the commission asked for further rewriting of the section under which variances would be permitted.

In other business, the commission postponed until its next meeting May 4 consideration of a use permit for a coin-operated laundry at 11 Madrone Avenue and put off for further study a policy of allowing certain home decks not to be considered as architectural features.

Keys Stolen

A thief who broke into a construction trailer owned by the Campbell Construction Co. Saturday parked at San Rafael High School stole a ring of keys, San Rafael police reported today. The keys were to various locks at the construction site, police said.

Water Color Artist Will Give Lecture

Water colorist Robert E. Wood, winner of many national and international prizes, will give a public lecture and demonstration Friday at 7:30 p.m. in Campbell Hall of Christ Church, Santa Rosa and San Carlos Avenues, Sausalito.

Desk Is Looted

Tormenting Rectal Itch Of Inflamed Hemorrhoid Tissues Promptly Relieved

Gives Prompt, Temporary Relief in Many Cases From Rectal Itching and Pain Caused by Inflammation.

New York, N.Y. There's an exclusive formula that in case after case promptly relieves such burning itch and pain of piles for hours and it also helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoid tissues caused by inflammation. And it does it without narcotics or astringents that often sting or smart.

Span Board Will Study Bus Subsidy

A request to subsidize a Southern Marin feeder bus company at $12,000 a month will be considered by a committee of Golden Gate Bridge District directors at 9:30 a.m. on Thursday at toll plaza offices.

Marin Transit Systems, the Marin City-based operator of the feeder system, also has asked the county to subsidize it with $4,000 a month.

The joint transportation and finance-auditing committee also will consider a proposal that the district subsidize commuter charter buses, and a proposal for design consulting services from Walter Landor.

Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring is to present his candidates for the district's bus manager, a presentation that probably will be considered behind closed doors so the committee can recommend which to hire.

The regular meeting of the board of directors will be at 9:30 a.m. on Friday. The agenda includes formal approval of last Thursday's decision by the "committee of the whole" to invest some $700,000 in a Sausalito ferry system.

In a related matter, the streets and transportation committee of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors will meet at 2 p.m. on Thursday in Room 228 of City Hall to consider the district's proposed downtown bus routes.

Chrysler Reports A Poor Quarter

CENTER LINE, Mich. (AP) — Chrysler Corp. today blamed lagging sales and inflationary pressures for its loss of nearly $30 million in the first quarter of 1970.

Townsend and Chrysler President John Riccardo released the firm's quarterly report on the eve of today's annual meeting of stockholders.

General Motors and Ford sales also ran well behind 1969 totals for the first quarter. Only American Motors, smallest of the auto firms, showed a gain.

Townsend said consumer demand for automotive products was generally lower in both the United States and Canada and total North American retail sales of passenger cars, excluding imports, were down 13 per cent from a year ago.

Stereo Is Gone

Five Fined For Blocking Aisles Of Board Session

OAKLAND (AP)—Five Oakland men have been fined from $50 to $250 on charges of blocking the aisles at a Board of Education meeting. Other charges have been dropped.

The men had been accused of disrupting a meeting May 20, 1969, in protest of the appointment of a new school superintendent.

After a seven-week trial, longest misdemeanor trial in Alameda County history, the men were found innocent March 27 on seven charges, including disturbing the peace.

A hung jury was ruled in 10 other counts. A new trial had been set for Monday, but the district attorney's office reduced charges and all five pleaded no contest. The 10 remaining counts were dismissed.

Kremlin Seeks Ford's Help On Big Truck Plant

MOSCOW (London Express News Service) — Ford has been asked by the Soviet government to build the world's biggest truck plant on the Kama River, about 300 miles east of Moscow.

The plant which the Russians want completed by 1974, will produce 150,000 trucks a year. It is expected to cost at least $600 million.

Henry Ford, concluding a week-long visit here, said Monday night that his company would study the Soviet proposal to see if it was possible to build the plant.

He did not know, he said, whether American government trade restrictions with the Communist bloc would permit the deal. Were trucks stategic vehicles, for instance?

Monday Ford saw Premier Alexei Kosygin, who was looking very healthy, he said.

"We talked about pollution and he said that the air in the Soviet Union was very clean," Ford said.

"I said that because the world was round the pollution we put in the air in the States would eventually reach the Soviet Union.

"He said: 'But here the world goes the other way,'" said Ford, laughing. "I thought that was a very quick comeback."

Segregation Held Distorting Factor To White Youth

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special Senate committee opening a six-month probe of the effects of segregation on American society has heard testimony that racism has contributed significantly to the revolt of white, middle-class youths.

"There is strong evidence to suggest that segregation damages the privileged, middle-class white child," Negro psychologist Kenneth Clark told the Senate Select Committee on Equal Educational Opportunity Monday.

Citing the hippie movement, the drug cult, the hostility and random destructiveness of the New Left and the increasing rebellion against parental and other authorities, the noted psychologist added:

"The rebellion is symptomatic of a profound moral conflict and distrust and rejection of authority as morally hypocritical by these young people.

Marin City Man To Face Charge

Page was arrested by sheriff's deputies at 3:45 a.m. Saturday after they reportedly discovered him and a 17-year-old Mill Valley girl in his car parked in an empty lot off Nina Court, Strawberry.

Page posted $1,000 bail and was released from jail.

A $100 movie camer was stolen Friday from a car owned by Gordon S. Cort of 614 Galland Street, Petaluma, and parked behind 24 Bellam Boulevard, San Rafael police reported yesterday. The thieves smashed the car's windshield, police said.

Manslaughter Charge Dropped

A manslaughter charge against Sylvester Lee Ross, 69, of Petaluma, has been drooped Friday in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court because he pleaded no contest to felong drunken driving.

Ross had been charged with involuntary manslaughter and drunken driving in the March 12 death of George J. Renner, 64, who was struck and killed on Bodega Avenue at Paula Lane, Petaluma. Ross originally had pleaded innocent both charges.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon on Friday bound Ross over to Sonoma County Superior Court to appear April 30.

Beer Taken

Upstairs storage areas at Carpenters Hall, 647 Lindaro Street, were broken into late Saturday or early Sunday, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Damage to locker doors was estimated at $250 and an unknown amount of beer was missing from one locker, police said.

Holstein Cows Star Producers

Two registered Holstein cows owned by Marvin L. Nunes of Point Reyes Station have been credited with producing more than 100,000 pounds of milk and butterfat in their careers, the Holstein-Friesian Association has announced.

Ocean View Duchess Madam has produced 115,095 pounds of milk and 4,259 pounds of butterfat in 2,803 days, while Dinnys Magic Peggy has delivered 111,679 pounds of milk and 4,072 pounds of butterfat in 4,150 days.

According to Nunes, the average cow produces about 50,000 pounds in her lifetime.

Break-In Fails

A ransacking burglar attempted and failed Wednesday to break into the safe at Marine Engineering, 269 Third Street, San Rafael police reported yesterday. The safe's dial had been hammered, police said, and the safe rolled outside of the building. Nothing was reported missing.

No Generation Gap In World Of Sports

A baseball mitt or boxing glove, an old football cleat or a hockey stick is a common bond between young and old.

Old duffs like you and me can take our kids to a fight or a hockey game or tennis match and cheer in the same volume, groan with the same amount of agony, speak the same lingo in the same key.

I know, the kids of today have their own language in most respects, except sports. There is no age on language barrier on an athletic field. We all walk arm in arm.

A classic example of the gapless athletic generation will unfold on a sandlot in El Verano, Sonoma County, at noon this Saturday during the opening of the Valley of the Moon Little League.

Three guest participants in the traditional opening day ceremonies will be Mark Anthony Koening, "Babe" Pinelli and Ernie M. Smith.

Somewhat Of An Age Difference

It should be noted here that Little League is for boys in the 9-12 age group.

And Koenig is 68, Pinelli 74, Smith 76.

They, my friends, are as at home on a ball field today as are the tykes they will honor with their presence at noon Saturday. They understand each other.

A lot of dads will remember Koenig, shortstop for what many experts consider to be one of the greatest teams of all time — the 1927 New York Yankees. Batting second in the lineup ahead of Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, Koenig hit .285 in 1927, led the Yankees to a four-game world series sweep over Pittsburgh with a 9-for-18 batting performance, and the following season batted a career high of .319

Now a resident of Glen Ellen, Mr. Koenig spent 12 years in the majors, six with the Yankees, the rest with Detroit, Chicago Cubs, Cincinnati and the old New York Giants. He played in five World Series, three with the Yanks, and two against them with the Cubs (1932) and Giants (1936).

His lifetime batting average was .279

Worked Larsen's Perfect Game

Pinelli, one of the all-time great umpires, is best remembered as the man who called the balls and strikes in Don Larsen's perfect World Series game in 1956. It was the Babe's final game as an ump and what a finale!

But, what few people realize is that Pinelli, born Rinaldo Angelo Paolinelli, (which is why they called him Babe,) umpired in the major leagues for 22 years WITHOUT MISSING A SINGLE GAME! A truly remarkable record for this Boyes Hot Springs resident.

Further, in his younger days, Pinelli was a great little third baseman with eight years in the majors, starting at Chicago American, thence to Detroit and the final six years as a Cincy Red with a lifetime average of .276.

Ernie M. Smith, a long-time Marin resident until the rustic serenity of Glen Ellen beckoned him in retirement several years ago, was an outstanding swimmer and water polo player in his competitive days, but we remember him best as one of the top sportscasters in the country during a radio career that spanned a quarter century.

Can Still Remember Broadcasts

Ernie had a contagious enthusiasm for sports, still has, as a matter of fact. Although I was a squirt at the time, I can still remember his broadcasts of Seals games. Among his favorite expressions were "He's safe as a Goodyear tire" or, "It's fair by the width of a Wheaties flake!" They didn't have to pause for commercials in Ernie's day.

The former Sausalito resident also realistically recreated ball games with the help of sound effects and Western Union reports and broadcast most major sports shows emanating from the San Francisco Bay Area during the 1930's and '40s, including East-West Shrine games and hundreds of other college football games.

I hope the kids appreciate their presence.

Royals' Coach Student Of Rule Book

OAKLAND (AP) — Manager John McNamara of the Oakland Athletics is starting to wonder how many different ways there are to lose baseball games.

A seldom-invoked rule, spotted by Kansas City coach Joe Schultz, led to a 4-2 11-inning victory for the Royals Monday night.

With the score tied 2-2 in the 11th inning, McNamara went to the mound to talk to pitcher Diego Segui after Ed Kirkpatrick had tripled.

Segui then threw two balls to the next batter, Amos Otis, and McNamara returned to the mound and called in relief pitcher Rollie Fingers.

But before Fingers could throw a pitch, third base coach Schultz protested to plate umpire Red Flaherty that Segui had to finish pitching to Otis.

Flaherty admitted Schultz was correct, sent Fingers back to the bullpen, and called Segui from the dugout back to the mound.

(The obscure rule is that if a manager comes to the mound twice during the time a batter is up, the pitcher must finish throwing to that batter.)

The unnerving experience undobtedly was a factor in Segui walking Otis. That set up a double steal situation with Kirkpatrick scoring when Dave Duncan's throw to second trying to get Otis went wild.

All the other Kansas City runs came on a pair of homers by Bob Oliver from nearby Sacramento, McNamara's hometown. He hit a dramatic two-run homer with two out in the ninth inning to tie the game.

"I didn't think it was far enough. The wind must have helped it," Oliver said.

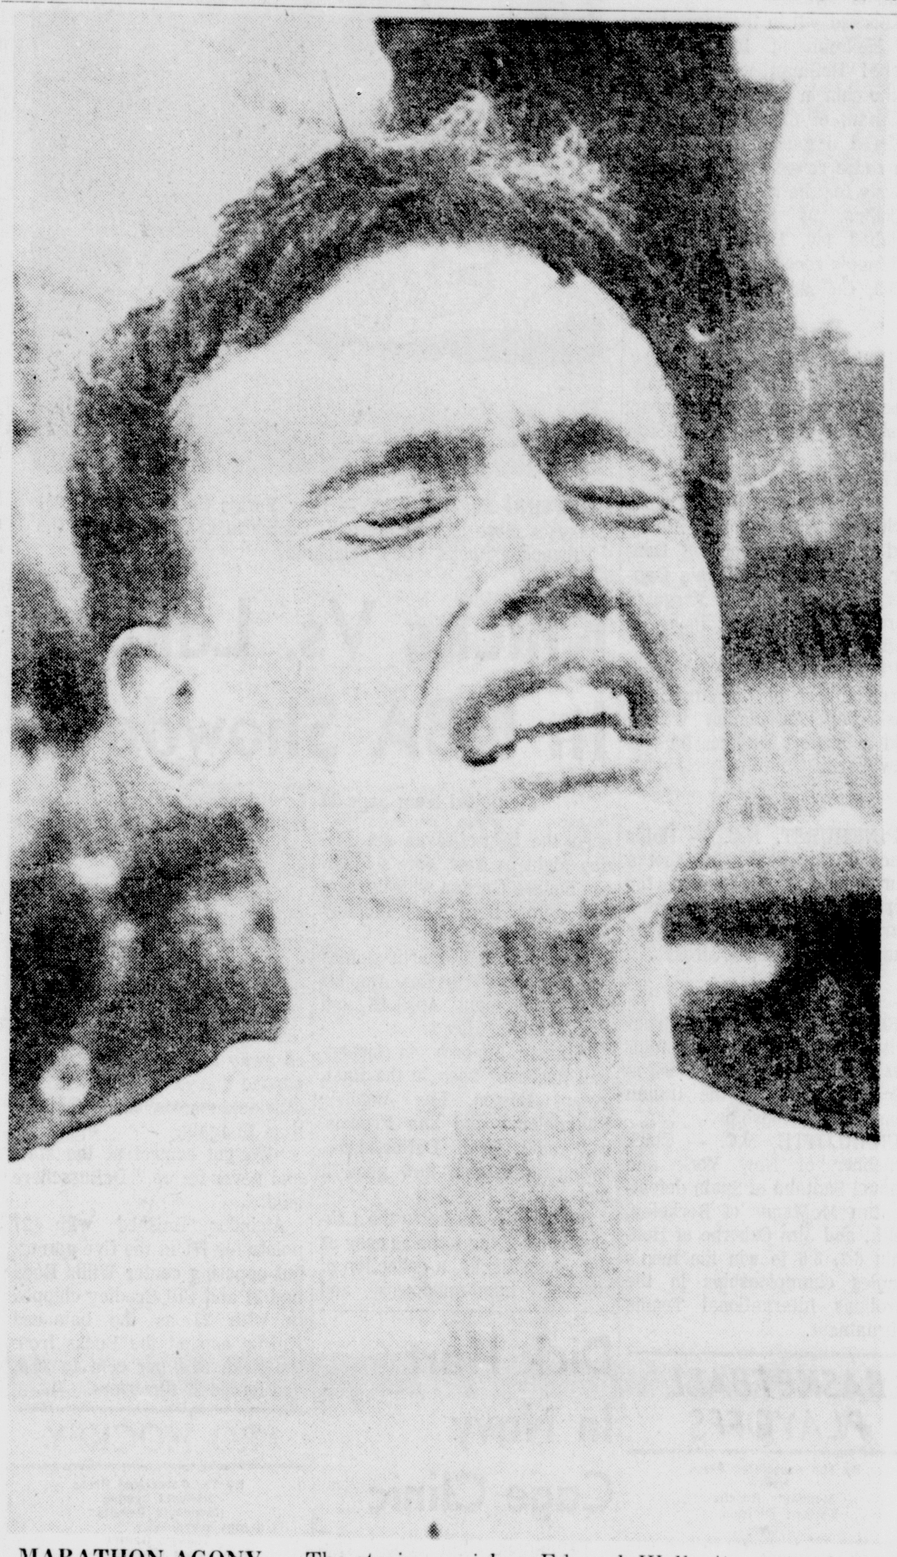

Until Oliver's first homer, pitcher John Odom of Oakland had a two-hit shutout. He also had 13 strikeouts when Oliver came to bat and needed only one more to break the club record for a single game.

That fact was flashed in big letters on the scoreboard and Oliver saw it.

"I thought I would get a good pitch to hit and I did," he said.

Oakland scored both its runs on homers, one by Dick Green in the second inning, and the other by Dave Duncan in the eighth.

British Chemist Is Victor In The Boston Marathon

BOSTON AP)—Nearly two centuries ago Paul Revere rode through the Massachusetts countryside sounding the alarm: "The British are coming." The same warning should have been given for the 74th Boston A.A. Marathon.

Ron Hill, a 31-year-old textile chemist from Cheshire, England, made Boston's Patriot's Day a personal celebration Monday as he romped to a record-smashing victory in becoming the first Briton ever to win the annual 26-mile, 385-yard classic run from Hopkinton.

DRIVING RAIN

Hill probably proved faster and more durable than Paul Revere's horse in 1775 as he charged through a driving rain whipped by a strong headwind and covered the course in 2 hours, 10 minutes, 30 seconds, making a shambles of the record of 2:13.49 set by Japan's Yoshiaki Unetani just one year ago.

Hill, the European champion given the honor of wearing No. 1 on his mesh jersey, was in command all the way as he opened a big lead on the field of 1,011 official starters. However, former Georgetown University track captain Eamon O'Reilly, running in only his third marathon, applied strong pressure in the final six miles.

O'Reilly, 25, now a graduate fellow in mathematics at Georgetown, surprised Hill and virtually every observer by closing to within 200 yards before the British distance ace managed to shake him off nearing the finish. O'Reilly finished in 2:11.12, the fastest marathon ever by an American.

"He really made me run the last few miles," Hill admitted in praising O'Reilly. "If I had been farther ahead, I might have relaxed a bit. I knew I had a big lead and didn't realize O'Reilly was so close until we hit the hills in Newton. Then someone yelled I was only 200 yards ahead and I had to turn it on. I never expected it from O'Reilly."

Hill, who claims he can run in any kind of weather, said he didn't mind the rain, but "it was too cold. The worst conditions I ever ran in."

O'Reilly, the National AAU 30-kilometer champion, had a time of 2:16.30 in a marathon at Santa Rosa, Calif., in 1968, but joked about his inexperience in the long distance grind.

ONE ENOUGH

"I'm a friend of Tom Laris, who finished second here a few years ago," he said. "I'll quote him: 'One marathon a year is plenty. I don't intend to take it up as a weekend sport."

Pat McMahon, former Irish Olympic runner now a school teacher in nearby Lowell, finished third in 2:14.53 after Finland's Penti Rummakko slipped and fell 25 yards from the finish. Rummakko had to settle for fourth in 2:14.59.

Kalle Hakkarainen of Finland was fifth in 2:19.42, followed by former Oregon star Ken Moore in 2:19.47, and Bob Moore of Toronto in 2:20.07. Andy Boyshuk of Toronto was eighth in 2:21.06, Bill Clark of Philadelphia ninth in 2:22.17, and Wayne Yetman, also of Toronto, 10th in 2:22.32.

Runners from the Marin Athletic Club did quite well. Doug Butt was 53rd with a time of 2:34.19; Ray Menzie was 92nd, 2:41.34; Pete League, 104th, 2:43.53; Bob Gormley, 135, 2:47.34; Lee Holley, 140th, 2:47.59.

Barber Knows How To Make His Money

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Miller Barber doesn't find himself in the winner's circle often but he knows how to make his arrow-straight golf game pay off.

The $25,000 first-place check spiraled Barber's winnings to more than $69,000 for the year. He was ninth on the money list for 1970 before the New Orleans event.

Barber, Charles and Johnson were tied with 10-under-par 278s at the end of the regulation 72 holes Sunday.

The victory also qualified him for this week's Tournament of Champions where every player is assured of $2,500 for just showing up.

"Sure, I was thinking about the Tournament of Champions, you've got to think about something like that," he said.

Though far from being a spectacular personality and rarely a tournament winner, Barber is a consistent money earner. He collected $105,000 in 1968 and brought home $90,000 last year.

Johnson and Charles divided second and third money with each pocketing a shade better than $11,000.

Giants On Final Leg Of Trip

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Finished with powerful Atlanta and Cincinnati for awhile, the San Francisco Giants embarked today on what they hoped would be a sofe five-game stretch.

The Giants were 3½ games behind Cincinnati in the National League Western Division baseball race as they took Monday off.

Today's scheduled game between the Giants and Phillies was postponed because of cold and threatening weather.

Rich Robertson, 0-0, was the scheduled Giants' hurler today against the Phillies' Woody Fryman, 1-0. Mike McCormick is the Giants' probable starter Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the Giants learned that Juan Marichal, 21-11 last season, will pitch for the first time this season against the Expos Friday night in Candlestick.

Marichal has been working out for five days following his release from a hospital, where he was sent because of the flu, compounded by his allergy to medication.

In other news, the Giants sold outfielder Jim Gosger to Montreal. He was cut from the team this spring after being obtained in a winter trade.

Knicks Crush Bucks' Hopes

NEW YORK (AP) — Larry Costello said it and the New York Knicks know it only too well.

"You can't build a championship team in two years," Coach Costello said logically after his two-year-old Milwaukee Bucks were bombed out of the National Basketball Association playoffs Monday night by the Knicks.

If any of the Knicks had heard him say it in the quiet of the Milwaukee dressing room after the 132-96 rout, they certainly would have agreed.

For all of their 23 years, the Knicks have been trying to win an NBA title, and now by eliminating the Bucks 4-1 in their best-of-seven Eastern Division final series, they have their first crack at it in 17 years, making the final for the first time since 1953.

The only club standing in their way now is the Los Angeles Lakers, another frustrated team which has been seeking the pot of gold in vain for all of its nine years on the West Coast.

Even more exasperating for the Lakers, they have reached this final series six times and come out second best to Boston each time.

The Knicks and Lakers, certain now to end the grasp that Boston and Philadelphia have held on this title for 13 years,

Peripheral Canal Best For Fish And Wildlife

By AL GIDDINGS

Since attending the ecology meeting sponsored by the Marin Rod and Gun Club last month, I have been trying to come up with some knowledge of some important projects now being built.

At the meeting, most of the ecology minded panelists were against the Peripheral Canal. The Department of Fish and Game is in favor of the canal with definite reasons to back up its decisions.

The California Water Plan is a statewide overall plan voted into existence 10 years ago by which northern waters will be diverted to Southern California and the San Joaquin Valley.

THE PERIPHERAL Canal is a small part of this plan highly recommended by the Fish and Game Department to best preserve the fish and wildlife in the area where the water plan is now being developed.

In reading informational releases regarding the California Water Plan, some arguments are given for both sides of controversial questions. Here are excerpts from a number of Department of Water Resources releases and others.

THE PROBLEMS befalling the California Water Plan were not anticipated when the people of California voted committing themselves to the plan 10 or so years ago. Using a network of dams, canals and aqueducts financed by $1.75 billion, the plan would transfer water from areas where there was a surplus to areas where a scarcity exists.

Now, inflation and the new look toward our environment are threatening the completion of the projects. Questions regarding the wisdom of completion are being asked, and the total cost now is expected to be $3 billion.

PLANS FOR the Dos Rios Dam were temporarily, at least, shelved last year as a concession to conservationists and to residents whose farms would have been flooded. Now the so-called Peripheral Canal that would channel fresh water through the river delta at the upper end of San Francisco Bay is under attack. Although engineers have given assurance that the canal will improve conditions in the delta, some authorities see it as a threat to the present eclogical balance of natural life in the bay region.

Director of Water Resources, William R. Gianelli, said in December the need for water from the north coast might be postponed for a few years through more extensive development of the Sacramento River System. But the 900,000 acre-feet to be supplied by Dos Rios or an alternate water source from the North Coast will be needed by 1990. In any event, the additional 900,000 acre-feet must be provided to water users to meet the state's contractual obligations under the State Water Project authorized 10 years ago.

THE PERIPHERAL Canal was a part of the delta facilities of the State Water Project authorized for construction upon the ratification of the Burus-Porter Act by the California electorate in November, 1960. The main purpose of the Peripheral Canal is to divert water from the Sacramento River and transfer it to the state and federal pumping plants located in the southern delta, without interfering with local delta development.

The canal would begin with an intake and fish screen located on the Scaramento River near Hood, followed by a low line pumping plant lcoated near Lambert Road. The canal would traverse the eastern edge of the northern delta, pass beneath the Mokelumne River in a siphon, and continue toward Stockton where it would be siphoned beneath the San Joaquin River, proceed southwesterly across the southern Delta and be siphoned beneath Old River.

The Canal would divide at this point into two branches, the easterly Valley Project and the westerly branch terminating at the Clifton Court Forebay of the California Aquaduct. Completion of the facility is scheduled for the end of 1973, the length of the canal is 43 miles and the cost would be $55,100,000.

THE DEPARTMENT OF Fish and Game has recommended that the State Water Resources Control Board endorse the concept of the Peripheral Canal and do all within its powers to achieve early construction thereof, with appropriate fisheries facilities and operation conditions as the best means of preservation and development of the fish and wildlife resources dependent upon Delta Water conditions, the Fish and Game Department says.

THE SALMON will benefit from improved conditions during peak migration periods. A flow-reversal problem will be eliminated and positive downstream flows will be maintained in most of the Delta Channels. This will help prevent the buildup of salts and pollutants and reduce dissolved oxygen sags.

Striped bass will benefit from improved conditions. The problem of egg and larvae loss into the pumps will be greatly reduced. Areas with flow and quality conditions presently unsuitable for spawning in the southern and eastern delta will be made suitable.

Catfish and other fish will also benefit. Are you mixed up? So am I!

Perhaps at this point Mr Peter Behr, candidate for state senator who was on the ecology panel and who spoke against the Peripheral Canal, would explain his reasons. Why should two conservation-minded groups have totally different views??????

GEORGE H. SHIPSEY of San Rafael and Russell J. Bottini of Novato caught four roosterfish on a recent trip off Rancho Buena Vista near La Paz, Mexico.

Stargell Shows Signs Of Waking

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

There's no place like home to break out of a slump—and no where better than the friendly right field roof in Forbes Field.

Friendly? Well, friendly for Willie Stargell, anyway.

Stargell, hung with a monstrous .037 batting average, launched a typical, out-of-sight homer over the faraway double-tiered roof that carried Pittsburgh to a 3-1 victory over Houston Monday night.

"It helps mentally to get a home run," said Stargell who had collected only a single in 27 at-bats prior to Monday night's game. "But I would have been happy to have it to just over the screen ... unless somebody is going to give me $1,000 everytime I hit one over the roof."

Cincinnati slugged three home runs to dump the skidding Atlanta Braves 6-2 in the National League's only other game Monday.

In American League action, Baltimore defeated Boston 3-2, New York mauled Washington 11-2, Kansas City downed Oakland 4-2 in 11 innings and California shaded Milwaukee 5-4 in 10.

Stargell, who also drove in the Pirates' other run with a sacrifice fly in the first inning, was brimming with confidence after busting his early-season willies.

"It has to be uphill from here," said Walloping Willie, who boosted his batting average 32 points to .069. "I looked in the paper Sunday and I saw I had hit bottom."

The outer orbit in right field is fast becoming known as "Stargell's Stoop." It has only been reached 17 times in Forbes Field's 61-year history, and Stargell has made it six times.

Collins Wins By Decision Over Heilman

OAKLAND (AP) — Middleweight Andy Heilman was decked for the first time in his 50-fight career Monday night as Nate Collins won a split decision in a savage 10-rounder in the Oakland Arena.

Collins, of San Francisco, weighed 160, Heilman 160 ½. Heilman's record now stands at 41-6-3, Collins' at 19-13-0.

Knicks Vs. Lakers In NBA Showdown

open the best-of-seven set Friday night in New York's Madison Square Garden with the second game here next Monday night.

The third and fourth games will be played in Los Angeles Wednesday night, April 29, and Friday night, May 1.

"Hardly anybody in basketball has ever been in the final, except Boston, Los Angeles, Philadelphia and San Francisco," said Dave DeBusschere, trying to explain how good it feels.

But the Knicks know the Lakers aren't going to be as easy as the young Bucks, a collection of rookies, hand-me-downs and Lew Alcindor, who had jumped from last place in their first year in 1969 to second this season behind the Knicks.

New York wasted little time following Los Angeles into the final playoff after the Lakers completed a 4-0 rout of Atlanta Sunday. With Dick Barnett hitting 16 of his 27 points in the first quarter, the Knicks bounded away to a 35-19 lead and expanded that to 69-45 by halftime. Milwaukee never climbed closer than 20 again.

"We got control at the start and never let up," DeBusschere said.

Alcindor finished with 27 points for 171 in the five games, but opposing center Willis Reed had 32 and Bill Bradley chipped in with 25 as the balanced Knicks outshot the Bucks from the field, 50.4 per cent to 39.8, and forced 27 turnovers.

Dick Hart In Navy Cage Clinic

Tamalpais High School District trustees last night granted Dick Hart, basketball coach at Redwood High School, two week leave to participate in a Navy basketball clinic in the Philippines.

Hart was granted leave from May 25-June 12 without pay after trustees agreed there was no way they could grant the leave with pay under current policy.

Hart had requested leave with pay, and Donald Kreps, Redwood High principal, said such a trip would lend recognition to the district.

Kreps said usually college coaches are invited to the Navy clinics, and he believed it was the first time a high school coach had been asked to participate.

COLLEGE NOTES

By DAVID EINSTEIN

College of Marin's 7-2 loss to Solano last Tuesday was itself of only passing interest. This has been an unfortunate season for the Tars, winners of only 2 of 11 games, and the team is just about numb to defeat by now.

That game was particularly disappointing, however, for Marin's Ken Lazzarini. The freshman second baseman went 0 for 4, thus ending his incredible season- long hitting streak at 17 games.

Even by major league standards that is a long streak. It's a rare year that more than a handful of players hit safely in 20 straight games, and the only thing that makes such a performance relatively uninteresting is Joe DeMaggio's record of hitting safely in 56 straight games, set in 1941. That, by the way, is probably the most unbreakable record in baseball.

For a college player a long hitting streak is all the more unusual because college seasons aren't overly long to begin with. DiMaggio's streak, no matter how long it seemed at the time, still only took up a third of the season.

So Lazzarini has accomplished something that, to Tar coach Vic Petreshene's knowledge, no one in Marin County on any level of play has ever done before.

TWO OF Marin's oldest track records have been broken this year by former Tamalpais ace Alan Lee. The old marks belonged to Dr. Arnold Nutting, now a physician in San Rafael, who in 1934 ran the 100-yard dash in 9.9 seconds, and the 220 in 21.8.

Lee, who is also one quarter of Marin's record setting relay team, has been clocked in the events at 9.7 and 21.6 respectively.

Don James, Dean Deffenbaugh and Luther Brown make up the rest of the relay team, which has set school marks in the 440 with a time of 42.8, and the 880 with a 1:28.7, third best time this season in Northern California.

The Tars' Brian Hicks has set a school record with a personal touch. His pole fault of 13 feet 3½ inches eclipsed the old mark of 13 feet ½ inch set in 1968—by his brother Jeff.

FRIDAY AND Saturday of this week College of Marin will be the scene of the Northern California Junior College Swimming Championships. Schools competing will include Diablo Valley and Foothill of the powerful Golden Gate Conference, as well as Marin, which is hosting the event for the first time.

Tar coach Bob Justice says the field will be as tough as it has ever been and he'll be satisfied if Marin places within the top eight. Best bets for the Tars are Bruce Averill in the individual medley and 100 back, Greg Myers in the 100 and Dave Topance in the 50.

Competition will begin on Friday at 1 p.m. and Saturday at 9 a.m.

Next weekend the state championships will be held at Orange Coast College in Costa Mesa.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Frosh Share Stage In Big Track Meet

When San Rafael and Tamalpais high schools collide Friday in Marin County Athletic League track and field meet that will decide the league champion, there will be more than the usual excitement that attends such events. For both teams, in addition to putting perfect varsity records on the line, will enter the meet with undefeated freshmen teams.

Tam coach Bruce Grant and San Rafael's Gaylord Quandt agree that the frosh competition, pitting the Bulldog's front line superiority against Tam's superb depth, will be a better show than most varsity meets.

An illustration of how powerful these teams are came last Thursday in the Tam - Novato meet when, according to Grant, the Indian frosh may have won the class B meet, which they competed in unofficially.

The San Rafael frosh are led by Mark Barnes in the 440, sprinter Jim Grigg, Dave Day in the long jump and shotput and discus man Mike Cook.

The Indians will be counting on Dennis Morini in the 440 and 880, sprinter Alvin Price and pole vaulter Chris Elrod.

ANOTHER SPORT in which somebody's winning streak will come to an end this week is tennis. Redwood, with 39 straight wins, were odds - on favorites to make it 40 against Tam when the teams met today at Redwood.

The Indians have only won nine in a row, but nevertheless share first place with the Giants in the MCAL this year.

If Tam, led by Andy Moffat, winner of 10 straight matches, is impressive, then Redwood is astonishing. Against four league opponents thus far the Giants have lost exactly no matches! No singles, no doubles, nothing. Sounds like Davis Cup material.

AT SAN RAFAEL his best time in the low hurdles was 21 seconds. Tumbleweeds in a dust storm go faster than that.

So who would have thought that four years later University of California's Bob McLennan would be named Northern California collegiate track athlete of the week?

That honor, accorded the Berkeley senior last week by Bay Area writers, was a result of McLennan's performance this season at Cal, where his time of 51.7 makes him the second fastest intermediate hurdler in the school's history.

He is probably the only hurdler in the school's history to be accepted at Harvard Law School, where he will study next year. Harvard, incidentally, doesn't care what a man's track times are if he doesn't have the grades.

Construction Up From February

Marin County construction activity during March was considerably higher than was reported for February, but the countywide total of $4,204,615 in building permits was almost 20 per cent behind March of last year.

According to figures from the Marin County Chamber of Commerce, the total for the first quarter was $8,785,622. This, too, suffered by comparison with the 1968 first quarter totol of over $12 million.

Larkspur had the highest total of all communities, with permits passing $1 million. All but a fraction of this was residential construction, due to new Skylark Apartments permits totaling $972,971 filed by Joseph Pell.

The Belvedere-Tiburon peninsula accounted for $704,283 in March permits, about half of this residential. San Rafael and its unincorporated areas totaled $564,566 — and almost half of this was commercial, with the balance divided between residential and miscellaneous permits.

In Mill Valley, incorporated and unincorporated, the $420,687 in permits was almost three-quarters residential. Novato's $448,020 was about two-thirds residential. Sausalito checked out at $334,460, with slightly more than half of this residential. Ross had $170,500. Almost all of this sum was for one residentila permit.

Corte Madera's $121,359 was mostly commercial construction, and Fairfax showed more than half commercial in its $59,359. San Anselmo's permits were comparatively low at $25,640, most of this commercial.

Kentfield and unincorporated Greenbrae with $46,300 in permits had mostly commercial activity. West Marin and other unincorporated areas developed a total of $251,300 value in permits, largely residential.

INVESTING

Speculating In Australia

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am interested in buying Australian mining stocks but find brokers disinterested. What is the best way for me to participate other than through U.S. companies with holdings in Australia?—R.M.

A. Speculation in 5-cent and 10-cent mining issues has pushed volume on the Sydney Exchange to about 40 million shares daily. Of the several thousand publicly traded mining companies, very few, if any, will approach the sensational Poseidon nickel discovery which sent shares of that firm from 60 cents to $250 a few months ago. Stock promotions of issues with little more than a location in the vicinity of a known discovery have not been uncommon.

Ten large Australian firms which are doing most of the development also hold the bulk of proved reserves. American Depository Receipts for two of these companies are actively traded in this country's unlisted market.

One is Broken Hill Proprietary Company, Australia's largest industrial firm. Profits from steel production, which is the company's primary business, will be importantly supplemented by oil and gas production in the year to end May 30, 1970. Production will come from a joint discovery in partnership with Standard Oil of New Jersey.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

Charles Burris Is New Owner Of San Rafael Dodge Dealership

There is a new owner of the Dodge dealership in San Rafael.

Former owner James D. Kress apparently is applying for a Napa Valley dealership and has sold out to Charles Burris, who previously was general manager of Swift Dodge in Sacramento and has now taken up residence in Novato. He has been in the automobile business since 1959.

The name Marin Dodge, Inc. will remain the same and no changes in personnel are contemplated.

TAXABLE RETAIL SALES in Marin County last year showed a modest gain of 8.5 per cent in spite of some complaints that business fell off sharply.

Biggest percentage gain was in the farm and garden supplies category, which went up 42.6 per cent to a total of more than $3 million. There were more jewelry sales, too, with the volume going up from $1.3 million in 1968 to $1.8 million in 1969 — an increase of 35.6 per cent.

A 24.5 per cent gain was shown in plumbing and electrical supplies. Trailer, boats and allied sales went up 20.7 per cent. Other leaders were liquor with a 20.5-per cent increase and automobile supplies and parts up 20.3 per cent.

New car sales increased 8.3 per cent, but used car sales sagged badly, dropping off almost 50 per cent. Men's wear was the leading gainer (17.6 per cent) in the apparel stores group. And among specialty stores, art goods and novelties had the highest gains (16.6 per cent).

Besides used cars there were only two other losers — household appliances, down 7.7 per cent, and musical instruments, down 7.1 per cent.

NEW STORE MANAGER at the Novato Mayfair Market is Ardie Zimmer, who has been manager of Mayfair's Belmont store since last September. He joined the food chain in 1962 as a grocery clerk in San Jose and was made grocery manager in 1966. He is now living in Tiburon.

WILLIAM GRANT HELLAR III of San Rafael has been named Australian representative of the Bank of America and is leaving the county to take up his new responsibilities, effective May 1. For the past five years he has been on tour as an administrator in the bank's Asia division. For two years before that he was assistant director for international marketing for Fibreboard Corp.

JOSEPH L. BRAUN of Novato has been promoted to general lending officer at Bank of America's Corte Madera branch, succeeding Mrs. E. M. Moreno, who recently advanced to the Geyserville branch. Braun joined the bank in 1963 at San Francisco.

GARY T. HULES of Sausalito has been appointed sales account executive to Bay Area retail outlets for Kamar, Inc. of Gardena, a manufacturer of stuffed toys and animals.

INSURANCE: William J. Coberly III of Petaluma has been appointed consultant manager at the San Rafael district office of Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. He has been an agent there for two years. New at the same office as a consultant is Philip M. Hennessey, who has recently moved to San Rafael from Massachusetts. . .

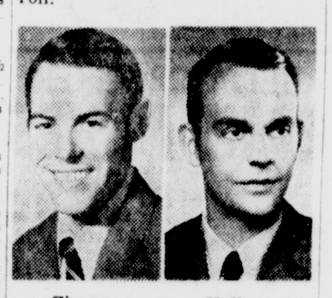

Two representatives of the Moon Valley agency of Prudential Insurance at Northgate Industrial Park — agency manager Frederick G. Veltsen and Neal M. Isaacson — attended the company's recent regional conference at Coronado. Nine representatives from the Redwood Empire agency in San Rafael also were there — manager Archer C. Rounds, Eugene F. Gianoli, George S. Gutierrez, William W. Mason, Marvin E. Pearl, Edward A. Renengerm, Bernard H. Rose, James A. Towner and Jurgen F. Vahren-Kamp.

Japan Retains First Place In Shipbuilding

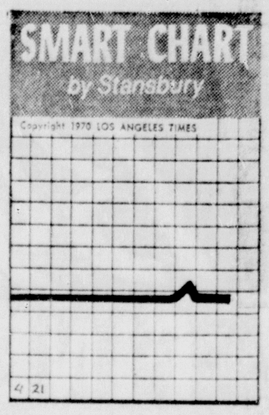

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan retained its place as the world's biggest shipbuilder for the 14th consecutive year in 1969, according to figures released by the Transportation Ministry today.

A total of 8,344,000 gross tons of ships were built during the year, two per cent up from 1968.

The ministry said, however, that Japan's share of world shipbuilding fell 2.5 per cent to 48 per cent, largely because of advances in European designs of large vessels and Japanese shipbuilders' selectiveness in accepting orders.

Wall Street In Retreat Late In Day

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at 2 p.m., with one hour of trading to go, was off 1.91 at 773.96. It was up 3.10 shortly after the open but dropped to .40 at 776.27 at noon.

Analysts said the early rally was due to technical factors in the market. They said there was insufficient buying interest to keep the rally going.

Declines outnumbered advances by 93 among issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange. Shortly after the opening advanced had led declines by a 2-to-1 margin. Trading was moderately active.

Parke, Davis, down 3⅜ to 23⅝, led the Big Board's most active list.
